around: It's hard work to sit down at home and think of things for meals but if you come in here, you will see lots of suggestions.

You won't be urged to buy either, come in and look around.

If you decide to buy, our de ivery man will quickly take them home for you. We pride ourselves on our quick delivery system.

H. Malcolmson

Wrapping Paper Tea Paper Bread Paper Wax Paper Rag Paper Parchment Paper Manilla Paper in Flat Manilla Paper in Rolls

Paper Bags, all sizes Twine, each grade For Sale at Wholesale

Quotations given on any quantity

Sulman's Beehive

GARNER HOUSE BLOCK

ARCHITECT

Jas. W Carswell

ARCHITECT AND SUPERINTENDENT Plans, specifications and estimates for all kinds building furnished on short notice. Box 101, Gharham, Ont. Office Phone 9. Residenc Phone 228

> That Nutty Sweetness

our Bread by accident we make it isn't in that way on purpose

Corrie's

Spare Ribs Tenderloins

> Hocks. Frankforts and Pork Sausage

FRESH DAILY AT

J. P. Taylor

New Hardware

SALDOON STREET, FOOT OF

Skates that will slide on ice,

Cross-Cut Saws that cut so nice And Axes sold at slaughter price.

All kinds of Hardware, Etc.

D. H. Winter Howard Pippin, at Campbell, Hunt County. Again he found that his hopes were in vain. But while he was

KENT COUNTY LAD

Finds His Mother After Search. ing for 23 Years.

He at one Time Worked for Farm Near Tilbury and Pain Court -Story of the Search.

St. Louis Republic. Separated from his mother while he a little child and placed in a was yet a little child and placed in a convent in London, Ontario, Claude Pippin made a vow that he would earch for her and his father until he found them. took twenty-three years of toil and waiting and disappointed hopes to carry out the childish oath, but it was done, and on Sunday, in this city, the boy, now grown to manhood, clasp-ed his mother in his arms and kissed story of his wanderings in The story of his wanderings in search of his parents, the clews he followed in vain, the happy accident which finally restored him to the woman who loved him with all a mother's passion for her first born, form a romance not surpassed in fiction. The fact that young Pippin's discovery may result in his receiving a large may result in his receiving a large inheritance from his paternal grandfather adds an interesting feature to

The story begins with the separaof the child's parents, Peter and tion of the child's parents, reter and Allie Pippin. They had been married at Keekuk, In. by a magistrate, but were afterwards remarried at Alton, III., in order to satisfy the bridem's father. Two children were born to them, Two children were born to them, Claude and Clara, the latter now being the wife of R. D. Jones, of No. 2319 Olive street, whose home is in Kirkwood. After about six years of marfield. Ill., and shortly afterwards the boy was taken from his mother by one. From that day she never inedd even the slightest clue to ate of her son until about a week Her husband had disappeared, and she supposed the boy was with him. In reality, the boy was placed in charge of the sisters of ST. JOSEPH'S CONVENT. at London, Ontario, by a man who represented himself to be the child's father. The man never called at the father. The man never called at the convent but once afterward, and the boy does not have a very clear recollection of him. Claude remained in the convent from October, 1877, until 1881, when he went to live with a farmer named Alexander Cook, near Tulbury Centre

KENT COUNTY. He remained there three Ontario. He remained there three years, and then went to live with another farmer, Regise Trudell. Later he was employed by P. T. Daniel, of Pain Court. While there he made the vow that has influenced every action of his life since.

One day the question came to him, "Who am I?" He was puzzled. Other boys had fathers and mothers and other relatives, but for him no one seemed to have any particular regard. He remembered what the sisters at He remembered what the sisters at the convent had told him, but that offered little consolation. One Sunday night, feeling more than usual the weight of his utter loneliness, he went out out into the fields by himself. There, with only the eternal stars for witnesses, he knelt down and with uncovered head and face uplifted vowed that he would find his parents ed that he would find his parents igh the search might take all the waiting and longing for me. I know she loves me and for the sake of that love I am going to her," he said to

Filled with the thought of his ne purpose, the lad left the home of the Canadian fakmer and went to Detroit, Mich. He obtained work on a boat under the command of Captain Hull, under the command of Captain Hull, who now lives in retirement at Ogdensburg. N. Y. In the spring he went on a lake steamer, and worked until the following February. Then he went to Port Huron, Mich., and obtained employment at the plant of the electric lighting company. After he had saved up a little money, he went to New York, heping to find some people of his name who might be able to tell him something of his family. He never missed an opportunity to make inquiries which might result in finding something to throw result in finding something to throw light on hissorigin.

At New York he met with little encouragement. He visited Boston, Philadelpnia and many of the smaller towns in the vicinity with material result. At last his money gave out and he had to give up the search for time. Obtaining employment with the Utica Electric Light Company, of Utica, N. Y., he learned the trade of electrician, and worked his way up to a responsible position. But he did not forget his purpose nor the vow made under the stars in the loneliness of a Canadian farm. He saved his. money, and after four years of continnous work at his trade, he resigned and again took up the search for his parents. He came West this time, and made the rounds of the towns whose name ended in 'field," for he dimly remem-bered that such name was associated with his childhood. SEARCH STILL CONTINUED

Finding no clue, he returned to the convent at London, and asked the sisters to show him the records connect-ed with his stay there. He learned noed with his stay there. He learned nothing new, but made sure that the name he bore was the one given him by the man who placed him in the convents. Then the came back West, and at Springfield, Mo., found a man named John Pippin, whose father, George Pippin, lived at Almartha, Ozark county. He vissted the older man and told him of his desire to find his and told him of his desire to find his parents. George Pippin knew Hansford and Henry Pippin at Macon, Mo., and the young man Pippin knew Hansford and Henry Pippin at Macon, Mo., and the young man went there. They could help him no further than to give him the name of Howard Pippin, whose address they did not know. They thought he had gone to Texas.

His money all gone again, the young man decided to return to work for a white. He spent several days in St. Louis, not dreaming that his mother was here. Later, he went to Chicago and obtained work at his trade. When he had a sufficient sum of money savhe had a sufficient sum of money sav-ed up he went to Texas and found Whitewright, Tex., he received a ter addressed to Jackson Pippin. one knew anyone of the name. he at once sought the writer, Alfred Sliger, who lived at Cookerville County, Tenn. Sliger said he was pretty sure Jackson Pippin must be in Texas, near Whitewright, and back to Texas the young man went. This time he found his man, but with the discovery came another disappointment. Jackson Pippin was no relative of his. Thoroughly discouraged, the young man went to Memphis to obtain work, coming by way of St. Louis last December and, remaining here several days. A little later he went to Little Rock, Ark., and found a good position two weeks ago. In the meantime he had kept up a constant correspond-ence with all the Pippins he had met and had given each of them his photo-graph. It was through the picture he gave to George Pippin, whom he af-fectionately calls "uncle," and who now lives in Joplin, Mo., that he at last found his mother.

last found his mother.

After the separation from her husband, Mrs. Pippin returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oman, at Montrose, Ia., accompanied by her daughter, Clara. In time she obtained a divorce and married a man named Bennett, by whom she had several children. He died several years ago in this city, and later she years ago in this city, and later she married J. H. Lyles, a carpenter, at Hillsboro, Ill., and they are living at No. 1228 North Twelfth street in this

A niece of Mrs. Lyles , whose name Mrs. Clara B. Ott, lives at Joplin, near the home of "Uncle George" Pippin. Two weeks ago, while she was visiting at the Pippin home, she saw the pic-ture of the lost boy, and was struck with the very strong resemblance showed to her cousin Clara, now Mrs. Jones, of Kirkwood. She made inst quiries about him, and wrote an account of the facts to her mother in lowa. The latter at once forwarded the letter to her sister, Mrs. Lyles.

MOTHER FOUND AT LAST. The mother hurriedly wrote to her miece at Joplin, asking for more par-ticulars. Then, eager to find the truth, she wrote a letter addressed to Claude, and asked that it be forwarded to him at once wherever

This letter reached him last Thurs day. It mentioned several little marks by which he could make sure that he was the son Mrs. Lyles had ost, among others a mole on the back of his neck. Everything tallied perfectly. Claude telegraphed at once that he believed himself to be the son of Mrs. Lyles, but to make certain be wrote a long letter, telling of the two or three incidents of his childhood, which he could dimly remember, and nclosing his photograph. Mrs. Lyles received the letter Friday, and replied to it at once, adding some details to the incident revealed by the young in the mind of either, and on the very first train out of Little Rock, the long st boy, a boy no longer, started for

The train could not go fast ough," he said 'yesterday, in telling of the story. "And when I arrived in the city, it seemed an age before I stood at last on the step of the home where I knew my mother lived. The door opened and she stood before me. She looked at me for a moment, doubtfully, and then held out her arms, saying; 'My boy! My boy!'.

"Just what happened next I cannot remember. Atl I knew or cared to know was that my mother's arms was ended. After we had been togestarted for Kirkwood to meet my sister, whom I had not seen since she was a very small child. The moment met her I recognized her eyes, the one feature that had not changed all the years. Since that I have been setting acquainted with my other relatives, and I find that I have as many now as anybody.",

The grandmother of the young man, Ars: Josephine Pippin, is still living at St. Pie, Quebec, her husband having died several years agog Where Peter Pippin is no one seems to know. He was last heard from at Viola, Wis., nine years ago. He had married and had one child, a daughter. Unless he returns Claude will fall heir to all the property of his grandfather, which is said to be considerable

ALMOST SOLD OUT.

To-night the Patriotic concert will be held in the opera house. There has teen an immense sale of tickets. C. H. Gunn, of the management of the Cent ral Drug Store, states that the sale of reserved seats is a record breaker. Up to last evening $590 90 worth of reserve had been purchased, including 153 at $1, 158 at 75c., and 184, at 50c. This does not include the top gallery. Ivor E. Brock, of the firm of Thomas Stone & Son, has been at work decorating all day. 'Seating for chorus is draped in white and gold, the top gallery in red and gold, the balcony in blue and gold and the boxes in red, white and blue. The management desire to call the attention of nervous patrons to the minature cannon which discharges with a report, but there is the slightest Ladies will consequently kind danger ly refrain from fainting. The fires have been going all day and the house will be admirably heated.

Canada Business College

CHATHAM ONT. you are not familiar with the advantages offered by Camada's greatest school of Shr thand and Business training write for it if interested We have no term divisions. Purils can there-fore, begin at any tin 6.—The present is an excel-lent time to enter The following are a few of the pupils who have recently secured positions:

secured positions: Ansley formerly of Wingham, as Com-teacher, West Side Business oliege,

Chicago,
Maggie Kerr, as stenegrapher with the

D. McLACHLAN & CO., Chetham, Out.

ではないないないないないないないないないないないない THE GORDON STORE

THE BIG BUSY STORE FOR BIG VALUES

WE QUOTE YOU A FEW MORE SPECIALS (AT THE TURN OF THE SEASON) WHICH WILL WELL REPAY YOU IN PURCHASING

Men's Shirts and Drawers, all-wool. 50c goods for ..... 35c each

Gray and White Flannelette Blankets, at 90c and $1.00 per pair

Gorgeous Colored Lounge Covering Rugs, $1, $1.25, $2.00 each

Flannelette Night Robes, for men and women, 50, 60c, to $1 each

We carry in stock every desirable line in Printed Cotton Goods, from a warranted Indigo Print at 5c to the finest weaves produced by the loom

Subscribe for the Standard Fashion

William Gordon

WE WE

The Macaulay Club Hold the Eighteenth in Their History.

An Interesting Toost List-What the speakers had to Say.

The 18th annual banquet of the Macaulay Club was held last evening in the spacious dining hall of the Hoin the spacious dining half of the Hotel Garner, and proved the most successful in its history. The room had been tastily arranged, a large Union Jack adorning the wall.

The President of the Club, A. E. Lewett led the way to the beautiful.

Jewett, led the way to the banquetting hall and took his place at the head of the table. On his right hand head of the table. On his right hand were Col. Monteith, Dr. Holmes, N. H. Stevens, and on his left M. Wilson, Q. C., the Rev. Robert Sims and Dr. W. R. Hall. J. S. Turner, vice-president of the clab, occupied the chair at the other end of the table, surgounded by the executive. The other at the other end of the table, surrounded by the executive. The other guests present were, H. H. Malcolmson, W. R. Landon, W. H. Harper, W. G. Richards, Geo. Massey, G. R. Atkinson, J. M. Pike, G. P. Scholfield, Ald. Sulman, Fred Stevens, John McCoig, Fred Goodland, S. T. Martin, J. S. Black, C. E. Beeston, J. G. Kerr, S. B. Arnold, Edwin Bell, Thos. Scullard, C. J. O'Neill, J. S. Lane, Wilson Taylor, M. Reeston contrasted the asdness in Black, C. E. Beeston, J. G. Kerr, S. B. Arnold, Edwin Bell, Thos. Scullard, C. J. O'Neill, J. S. Lane, Wilson Taylor, Fred Stone Wm. Mowbray, Norman W. Ford, Chas. Dingman, Dr. Musson, Dr. Garnet Holmes, C. F. W. Atherson, H. J. Chambar, E. M. L. L. Kerren, E. J. Chambar, E. J. L. Chambar, L. J. Chambar, kinson, Dr. Garnet Holmes, C. F. W. At-kinson, H. J. Stevens, Fred Hall, W. McCorvie, J. W. Aitkin, D. A. Hutch-ison, O. L. Lewis, Robert, P. ison, O. L. Lewis, Robert Brackin and J. W. Young

. W. Young. After a blessing by Rev. Robert Sims, ample; justice was done to the capital repast, provided.

THE TOAST LIST. A. E. Jewett, the chairman of the evening, then introduced the toast list with a brief but pleasant speech in which he made a request for brev-The Queen was responded to by the whole assemblage joining in a hearty outburst of the National Anthem.

Colonel Monteith, the U. S. Consul, replied to the toast to the President the United States. He said that of the United States. He said that the day was a great day in the history of the United States, as on Feb. 22nd George Washington had been born. The four great rulers of the age were Washington, Lincoln, Queen Victoria and McKinley. The quartette made a galaxy of true worth and noble character.

Canada was then introduced, and with it were coupled the names of M. Wilson, Q. C., and C. J. O'Neill.

The Maple Leaf was sung by C. F. W. Atkinson immediately following this toast. Mr. Wilson delivered a most patriotic address on this subject. It is too good to abridge and will be given in full to-morrow.

A PATRIOTIC SPEECH.

C. J. O'Neill made one of his happy addresses. He said that God made Canada beautiful and her sons and daughters have done much to bring out the innate beauty of the country. Many present had watched he constant progress of Canada, had seen how these beauties had expanded and how they had grown. But Canada was only a part of the Great Empire and every Canadian had as much right to be called a British subject as any resident in the heart of the British Islands. Such language as this a few years ago would have won for the speaker the epithet of jingoist. The proof of Canepithet of jingoist. The proof of Canadians being citizens was exemplified in the act of the young Canadians who had laid down their lives for the Empire in defending the honor of old England. The speaker trusted that their sacrifice would be a jiedge for ever of that insoluble union which result former connect themselves with the would forever connect Canada with the Empire of which the fair Dominion is an integral part.

The toast to the Empire was coupled with the names of Dr. Holmes, S. B. Arnold and Edwin Bell.

Dr. Holmes said it afforded him Dr. Holmes said it afforded him great pleasure to acknowledge the advantage he has derived as a member of the club. Other empires had been born, risen, flourished, disappeared and passed into history, but the empire which Victoria ruled had proved to be of a finer stability. The years of her reign had only served to increase its power. The British sub-ject loved his empire, not because it omprised one-fifth of the earth's surface, not because of its thousands of million inhabitants, not because of its wealth, not because its navies ruled the sea, not because its armies had won glories in war, but the British just loved the Empire because freedom and a fair regard for the rights of others had always characterized the British nation. Mr. Arnold made a delightful speech in which he said the citizens of the empire felt that their country contained all the elements of strength which went to make a stable and tong-lived nation. Freedom of thought was characteristic of it, and this was a remedy for adl that tended to the destruction of a great na-

Mr. Bell is one of the most brilliant speakers in the Macaulay Club and his remarks last evening well sustained his reputation. The position of the Empire, said Mr. There was no empire that afforded a paratell to our own. Other empires

Canada just now with the rejoicing of Britain's enemies of the continent. The British Navy was a terrible weapon of destruction, the creation of the hands of her sons. The army guarded the out-let to the Mediterranean while the British navy searched out her enemies. The British Lion stood at Gibralter and said to the other nations, "you shall not go in our come cut unless we, the Empire, choose.'

Mr. Pike in response to the same toast said he was proud of his country, its army and navy, and he was one who stood ready when called on to give him-self for the Empire. It was a pleasure for him to have his name coupled with this toast that he might add his little mitted admiration for the town hullents. mite of admiration for the two bulworks of the Empire, the Army and the Navy, and the speaker did add his mite in a masterly manner. In concluding Mr. Pike added a tribute to the achievement of the United States which brought Col. Montieth to his feet to ropose a toast to the success of the Empire.

Aid. Sulman was called on for a recitation and rendered in his entertaining style, "The Enchanted Shirt."

A TOAST TO THE CLUB. The toast to the club was coupled with the names of Thos. Scullard, Fred Stone and J. G. Kerr. Mr. Scullard dealt with the art of speaking. The Macaulay Clab, it must be understood, was not a speuting but an educational institution.

Mr. Stone took as the basis of his re marke the effect of the Macaulay Club in moulding public opinion, the work it covered, the benefits accruing from membership in the club and the ex tended educational advantages which it afforded. The finished product of the club was a self-reliant man. Mr. Kerr, speaking to the same toast, said the club was nothing if not patriotic and the fires of patriotism were not allowed to burn dim on its alters. Taere was now an out ourst of loyalty and patriotism from the Anglo-Saxons all over the world. The word Empire would from now take a new meaning.

would from now take a new meaning.
It's principles were broad and were based on the people's will.

The field of literature was second only to the field of battle, and both in their own way had made the history of the world.

At this juncture the toast list was handed to Vice-President J. S. Turner, who made a neat speech in introducing the remaining speakers.

The subject of letters found worthy

The subject of letters found worthy exponents in the persons of J. S. Lane, W. Mowbray and J. S. Black., Mr. Black gave an interesting address. He said that the worst feature of the English language was the letters of the alphabet and they were certainly damnable. Of these two were duplicated for q equaled kw, and x was expressed by es. Thus there were only twenty-three distinct letters, and these 23 were used to represent 45 distinct sounds. Mr. Black closed his multiply the empire's blessings and | remarks by drawing attention to the great necessity for some improvement n the English language in this re-

> J. G. Kerr sang Tommy Atkins in d. Capital manner.
> Clever addresses were given George > Massey, Dr. Musson, H. Stevens and > Fred. Stevens, on the subject of Cana> dian sports.

>
> The toast to the press was responded to by J. W. Young and R. L.

Brackin The ladies found able and enthusiastic champions in J. W. Ait Hall and Wilfrid McCorvie. Dr. Musson then proposed a silent toast to the memory of the dead Canadian boys, and it was drunk with the silence and solemnity that befitted it.

The tost to the host was warmly introduced, and responded to by Mr

The excellent music during the evening was furnished by Frank Phelps, piano; Walter West, guitar; and Claude K. Eberts, mandelin.

VERY FEW PEOPLE

Are Free From Some Form of Indigestion.

Very few people are free from some form of indigestion, but scarcely two will have the same symptoms Some suffer most directly after eating bloating from gas in stomach and Mr. Beeston contrasted the sadness in bowels, others have heart burn or sour risings, still others have palpitation of heart, headaches, sleeplessness, pains in chest and under shoulder blades, some have extreme pervouspess as in nervous dyspepsia.

But whatever the symptoms may be, the cause in all cases of indigestion is the same, that is, the stomach for some reason fails to properly and promptly digest what is eaten.

digest what is eaten.

This is the whole story of stomach troubles in a nut shell. The stomach must have rest and assistance and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets gives it both by supplying those natural digestives which every weak stomach lacks, owing to the failure of the peptic glands in the stomach to secrete sufficient acid. in the stomach to secrete sufficient acid and pepsin to thoroughly digest and assimilate the food eaten.

One grain of the active principle in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest
3,000 grains of meats, eggs or other wholesome food, and this claim has been proven by actual experiment which anyone can perform for himself in the anyone can perform for himself in the following manner:—Cut hard boiled egg into very small pieces, as it would be if masticated, place the egg and two or three of the tablets in a bottle or jar containing warm water heated to 98 degrees (the temperature of the body) and keep it at this temperature for three and one half nours, at the end of which time the egg will be as completely digested as it would have been in the healthy stomach of a hungry boy.

The point of this experiment is that The point of this experiment is that what Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will do to the egg in the bottle it will do to the egg and meat in the stomach and nothing else will rest and invigorate the stomach so safely and effectually. Even a little child can take Stuart's Tablets with a fatter and herealty is the state of Tablets with safety and benefit if its digestion is weak and the thousands of cures accomplished by their regular daily use are easily explained when it is understood that they are composed of vegetable essences, aseptic pepsin, diastase and Golden Seal, which mangle with the food and digest it thoroughly, giving the overworked stomach a chance

Dieting never cures dyspepsis, neither do pills and cathartic medicines, which simply irritate and inflame the intes-simply irritate and inflame the intestines.

When enough food is eaten and promptly digested there will be no constipation, nor in fact will there be disease of any kind because good digestion means good healtn in every organ.

The merit and success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are world wide and they are sold at the moderate price of 50 cts. for full sized package in every drug store in the United States and Canada, as well as in Europe.

For the information of those interested a little book will be mailed free by addressing F. A. Stuart Ca., Marshall, Mich., giving briefly the symptoms of the various forms of stomach weakness, cause and cure.