2-Regarding the "picque at the Mc-Keough school," which Mr. Machabb of the staff can never hope to marry, thinks characterizes The Planet, it is, perhaps, furtunate that no one is responsible for the gentleman's "thinks." But lest he might allow them to develop abnormally we must assure him that McKeough school and all the other schools-for we don't like Mr. Macnabb's idea of being sectional and reviving old animosities-have no more loyal and ardent supporter than this great home journal. We were really under the impression that we had given some practical evidence of this support on more than one occasion.

There is but one thing more. THE PLANET HAS A KINDLY SUGGES-TION TO OFFER MR. MACNABB.

Mr. Macnabb holds the Covernment position of License Inspector in

He may not be aware of it, but the way in which he has NOT performed his duties in this connection for some years past has practically BECOME THE LAUGHING STOCK OF THE TOWN, and-a much more serious matter-has been the cause of many a disgraceful episode and scene.

Now, since Mr. Macnabb has undertaken to make The Planet responsible for a budget of his "thinks," he will scarcely take it amiss if this great home journal reciprocates with a with the tear that is born of a cermost kindly and pertinent suggestion.

SUPPOSE that Mr. Macnabb were "The Passing of the Bank Clerk." to devote some of the spare time, which he apparently monopolizes in the manufacture of slanders on The Planet, to THE PROMPT, VIGOROUS AND IMPARTIAL PERFORMANCE trust, that Miss Deacon refused to ately is stained brown, you may feel OF HIS OWN OFFICIAL DUTIES - make a Morganatic marriage with sure there is some other adulterant wouldn't it bring far more profit and pleasure to the public at large? Wouldn't it be better for us all, Mr. Maonabb ?

BRITAIN'S IRON WALLS.

The final important feature of the coronation celebration was the great naval review off Spithead, points out the Hamilton Herald. Although but a comparatively small part of the Brtich navy participated in the event, no other country would be able to bring Logether on short notice, such a force of fighting fortresses as King Edward reviewed. From sheer necessity Britain is the first naval power in the world. If she lost her naval supremacy it would not be long before she would lose her rank as one of the first class powers. Her great and scattered empire, her enormous sea-borne commerco, make it necessary for her to maintain navy, for protective purposes, far greater than that of any other country; and it is not too much to say that the very existence of the British empire, and in a great degree of British commerce, depends upon the British navy. This fact has been clearly recognized by British statesmen for two centuries at least-so clearly, that even the peace-at-any-price Quaker, John Bright, frankly admitted the wisdom of maintaining the navy in a high state of efficiency. Since the Napoleonic wars the science of land warfare has made considerable progress, but small in comparison with the progress of naval varfare. Indeed, the science of naval warfare has been recolutionized during the last half century. The great change came suddenly, jast after the Crimean war. During that war comparatively few of the British warships were propelled by steam, and armored vessels were almost un known. It was the experience gained in that campaign that gave the old system of wooden ships its deathblow. "The terrible effect of shells against wooden structures,' says Rear Admiral Wilmot in his history of the navy, "was realized in one quarter at least, and from that time it was "A recent issue of The Planet said evident that fleets in future would There was no gradual evolution, but a leap from the hundred-and-twentyrepresentative this gun wooden line-of-battle ship to the morning. "The property was sold from frigate carrying one-quarter the for $2,000, but not to repair Mc-number of guns, but burdened with over a thousand tons of armor four

Since then progress has been made chiefly along the lines of improved defence, especially in the adoption of Harveyized steel for armor plates and the use of much heavier armor, made necessary by the increase in the power of artiflery.

The revolution that has taken place ship side by side with one of the menof-war that Nelsom brought into action when he annihilated the French 1-The Planet never said "the Queen and Spanish navies at Trafalgar. > such will be a death-blow to the social supremacy of the Bank Clerk What fond mother in our midst will ever dream of encouraging the attentions of a man who can offer Birdie nothing better than tickets for the opera, a seat in his canoe, or, a box of all-day suckers. Why, the Imperial forces did better than this, because, when they were the top-sawyers in social circles, here, certain love-sick subalterns did, oc casionally, call in the services of the church to put the seal on some particular flirtation. The outlook for the Bank of Montreal Clerk is a cheerless one, because he, or at least four-fifths of him will be relegated to the ranks of "the ineligibles." He will, in the near future, be the "Younger Brother" of commercial life and will have to sit down on a back seat and play second violin to the hardware clerks and the other lucky dogs whose employers decline to interfere with their matrimonial aspirations. Soon, the green links will miss his golf cap and knickers, in a very short time he will be conspicuous by his absence from the tennis-courts, in short, the places that once knew him will know him no more, and one sad day we shall read; tain regret, the epic of the near future that will mainly deal with

STRENUQUS LIFE IS HAYTI.

Corr. Washington Post. The most sickening cruelties are practiced in Hayti every day. Every one in power carries a club, which is used freely on the slightest provocation. A policeman will beat a citizen into insensibility on the street, and no one dares to interfere for fear of receiving the same treatment. Officers club soldiers until they fall to the ground half dead-and if they die of their wounds no one seems to care. Exhibitions of brutality are so numerous that they pass unnoticed. When men receive such treatment it goes without saying that cruelty to animals is practiced to an extent not dreamed of in other countries.

If men were as anxious to do right as they are to get their rights, the world would soon be righted.

What does it profit a woman if she gain the whole world of knowledge and lose her own health? Young women students, and school teachers, eager, ambitious, and full of energy, very often neglect their health in the struggle to gain education. They eat insufficient food, and at irregular hours, they allow irregularity of the womanly functions to be established, and the result is that they become chronic invalids with all their education practically worthless. There is a plain road back to health for such as these, marked-by the feet of thousands. It is the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for diseases of the stomach and digestive and nutritive organs, and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for diseases of the delicate organs of womanhood. A cure so certainly follows the use of these remedies that out of hundreds of thousands who have tried the treatment, ninety-eight in every hundred have been perfectly and permanently oured. Constipation, with its calamitous consequences, which is a common-ailment of students, can be entirely cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleas-

Advice to Mothers

If your little boy or girl comes home with a sore throat, the first thing to do is to rub the throat and chest with Polson's Nerviline. Don't be afraid to use Nerviline freely-a whole bottle full wouldn't burn or blister the tenderest skin. Rub in until all taken up by the pores, and just before the child goes to sleep give him a glass of hot water into which 30 drops of Ner-viline has previously been stilled. This is a sure, pleasant and speedy care. Large bottles 25 cents.
