WE DELIVER THE GOODS.

How do you like it when you go to a store that advertises up-to-date Clothes, latest this, that and the other, and you find "they haven't got 'em?"

Men frequently tell us they've made the rounds of four or five stores and have had just this experience.

When they get around to us they find what they are looking for and quickly say: "THAT'S WHAT I WANT"

Our Clothes are the best in the World. That's saying a good deal, isn't it. But the facts warrant the assertion. The World Best Makers make them.

If examined critically, Our Clothes are found to exhibit All The Niceties Known to Tailoring Art

Let any Man "with eyes in his head" look carefully at one of our Suits or Overcoats and then go to other stores and see theirs.

Miss Moffatt, of Chatham, is visiting friends here.

Joe Cassidy leaves to-morrow for Calgary, after an extended visit with his parents here.

MORE BRIBE RECEIVERS

Collins had been paid for his services. More Bribe Receivers.

John D. McAlpine told of getting $5 and $10 from T. McKay.

Mr. McKay was called. He had been a returning officer, but asserted that he did not remember getting money or envelopes from anyone.

John Crockett told of getting $5.00 from Collins.

William Cooper told of receiving $5.50 from Collins.

Wm. R. McKay, who was unsatisfactory when first called, again appeared, and said he had a slight recollection of holding an envelope for McAlpine. It was left in his store while he was out.

"I received no money from Reid or anybody else. I was chairman of the division, and I remember asking him only to send a man down to help canvass the case."

An exchange of shots between Mr. Wilkie and Mr. DuVernat followed. The former charging that no conspiracy had been proved, nor any money traced to O'Gorman or Reid. Mr. DuVernat retorted that this had been done in a number of cases.

A Brantford Episode.

At the resumption of the enquiry in the afternoon, Morris Westbrook of Brantford told of having been in a committee room in Brantford during the Heyd-Henry election, and seeing O'Gorman there. The witness was in a polling booth there when a man about 5-11 feet high, with greyish mustache and hair, came in and voted in the name of Cephas Weston, a man with whom Westbrook was acquainted. Witness followed the man to another polling booth, and asked if he intended to vote again. The man replied in the affirmative.

"Was that the man who afterwards turned out to be John O'Meara?" "I can't say."

Westbrook said that he had the man arrested. The latter was freed on his personal bail of $100, and cleared out.

He Piloted Sifton.

Oscar Wootton told of having piloted Sifton up against several electors, but as he remained some distance away when the parties conversed he did not know the exact nature of the transactions. One Dewar had asked him what there was "in it" which he had taken as a tip. Witness also intimated to several voters that a visit to Lewis hotel might prove profitable.

A Young "Lib." President.

Henry Ranahan, president of the Young Liberal Club, said the only money he had handled in the election was the payment of small sums to outside scrutineers out of his own pocket.

"I am instructed that you handled a very large sum of money. Do you swear that you didn't?"

The witness replied in a halting fashion that he "didn't remember," and was sent back to think it over.

When his name was called later in the afternoon, Mr. Armour, for the crown, stated that Ranahan had been taken ill and he had consented to allow his return to London for the present.

Mr. Cooper's Adventure.

Most important evidence was supplied by George E. Cooper, from whom, after a good deal of prodding by the crown, it was drawn forth that he had received the sum of $15 as a bribe to his sore feelings over being displaced in his position of deputy-returning officer. He thought it was Sifton who had spoken to him about compensation, but was undecided as to whether the latter had paid him the money.

Didn't Print the Ballots.

Albert Talbot, publisher of The Echo, London, stated that his firm had not printed the ballots used in the bye-election, nor in the general election proceeding.

"I am instructed that you held some envelopes in the election?" "No, I did not."

He had made a subscription of $25 or $40 to the campaign fund, giving it to Mr. Reid. He had paid William Grant ten dollars and Morris another ten for work done in former elections. He had also paid $5 to a scrutineer, but beyond this hadn't debbled financially in the election. Mr. Talbot was allowed to go, on the understanding that entries in his books relating to ballots furnished for Dominion and provincial elections for the past five years would be examined by an expert.

Robert P. Lacey, polling clerk, denied having tried to induce Axtell, a Tory voter, to go to the Liberal committee rooms.

William Jeffrey was unaware at the time of the election that corruption was afoot. He had done some canvassing along approved lines, and that was all.

The name of William Serviss having been twice called, without response, and there being no further witnesses available, court adjourned.

SOCIETY

McLEOD—GREENING.

A society event of considerable importance took place last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Greening, this city, when their eldest daughter, Miss Mary Alicia Lynn Greening became the bride of Mr. Norman Lorne McLeod, manager of the Bienenheim branch of the Standard Bank, and a son of Mr. William McLeod, of Georgetown. The wedding ceremony, which was conducted by Rev. Dr. J. R. Battersby, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, took place in the drawing room of the beautiful Greening residence on Wellington street west.

At seven o'clock, the bride entered the drawing room to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, rendered by Miss Ada Ross. She was supported by her father, by whom she was given away. Miss Agnes McLeod sang very acceptably the solo "Because" in the interim while the register was being signed. Miss Alice Greening, of New York, acted as maid of honor, and the three bridesmaids were Miss Bonnie Greening, Miss Gommill, and Miss Agnes McLeod, while the groomsmen were Mr. J. B. McLeod, of Toronto, Miss Curry, of Windsor, and Miss Kathleen Campbell, of Woodstock, were ribbon girls.

The ceremony took place before a bank of palms and ferns, and the drawing room was tastefully decorated with palms and smilax. The ushers for the occasion were Mr. Walter Elliott, of the local branch of the Standard Bank, and Mr. Eaton Williams, manager of the Charles street branch of the Standard in Toronto.

The bride wore a costume of ivory Duchess satin, en-Princess, with Bertha of Irish point lace and a veil of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Alice Greening as maid of honor wore silk ecru over white taffeta, trimmed with white Valenciennes lace, and carried white roses. The three bridesmaids were attired alike in dress of brown broadcloth, trimmed with pink roses, and wearing hats similar in color. Mrs. C. C. Greening, mother of the bride, wore black silk grenadine over taffeta, trimmed with gold lace, while Mrs. McLeod wore black silk.

The groom's present to the bride was a solitaire diamond ring; to the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, pearl pins; to the best man gold cuff links; and to the ushers gold stick pins. The bride's going away dress was of brown broadcloth, trimmed with silk braid, with brown hat and gloves to match.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a tasty wedding dinner was partaken of in the dining room, which was decorated with white tulle and satin ribbon on the occasion.

Out of town guests were present from Windsor, Toronto, Dundas, Woodstock, Detroit and Georgetown. Mr. and Mrs. McLeod left via the 9:38 Wabash on a tour east and west, after which they will make their home in Bienenheim.

CARSCALLEN—JEFFS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Dresden, Oct. 24.—A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, October 24th, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Jeffs, Lonsdale Farm, when their daughter, Miss Minetta, was united in marriage to Mr. Roy E. Carscallen, only son of J. B. Carscallen, the popular hardware merchant.

A few minutes after three to the strains of Lombegrin's bridal chorus, played by Mrs. Eva Aikin, the groom took his place and the bride followed on the arm of her father, preceded by Little Grace Carscallen, strawing roses in her path.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. C. Langford, under an arch of green and white erected in the bay window, which was banked with palms and ferns. At the close of the ceremony a huge bell at the top opened and a shower of rose leaves fell on the bridal couple.

The bride looked very beautiful in a gown of Russian net trimmed with Valenciennes lace, over white silk. She wore a tulle veil, fastened with orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white roses.

Little Grace Carscallen wore a dainty gown of white silk and carried a huge basket of roses and chrysanthemums. Miss Eva Aikin wore a handsome gown of white ecru over taffeta.

After the ceremony the guests sat down to a charming wedding supper. The bride's table was in green and white. From a hoop of smilax hung above the table, long strands of the green entwined with white chrysanthemums were fastened to the four ends of the table. The color scheme for the other tables was yellow and green.

The bridal party drove to Thamesville and left for Napanee the same evening. On Thursday evening a reception will be given for them at the residence of the groom's uncle, T. G. Carscallen, M. P. P., in Napanee. The bride's going away gown was of brown chiffon broadcloth with hat to match. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome mink muff, and a locket set with diamonds to the flower girl.

About 50 relatives were present and a number of very intimate friends. The Misses Addie and Dolly Brown, Miss Clemence VanAllen, Mrs. Eva McVean, Miss Eva Aikin and Mrs. Maud Waiterworth assisted, wearing white gowns and bouquet of cream roses.

THE STAGE

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

(Supplied to The Planet by Press Agents.)

At the Brisco Opera House—
 Lyceum Course—Oct. 26.
 Babes in Toyland—Oct. 29.
 Tom Thumb's Wedding—Oct. 30.
 Alys Bateman Co., Nov. 5.
 Charley's Aunt—Nov. 8.
 Hello, Bill—Nov. 10.

Hamlin and Mitchell's "Babes in Toyland," the mammoth spectacular extravaganza, well and favorably known to our theatregoers, will be presented at the Brisco Opera House on Monday evening next.

While "Babes in Toyland" is founded on the familiar legend of the old "Babes in the Woods," that legend is varied and many of the Mother Goose characters which are introduced do things and have adventures that Mother Goose never suspected. However, the arrangement made by Glen MacDonough is one of great cleverness and is ingeniously set to music by Victor Herbert, the celebrated musician. The result of this collaboration was staged by Julian Mitchell in a most meritorious and entertaining manner and has proved one of the most marvellous successes of the stage. Victor Herbert's music is characteristic in the extreme, and it is doubtful whether any other composer could have just touched the right spot as did Victor Herbert over the arrangement made for "Toyland March." It is suggestive of the old time masters. The cast engaged is an exceptionally strong one and embraces the names of artists well known to our theatregoers, including Budd Ross, who has made the success of his stage career as Alan. Scenically, the production will in every way be of the same grandeur as previous seasons.

NEW OIL WELLS

The latest news from the Tilbury oil fields is to the effect that three new wells have been shot. They are situated in the southern portion of the field, along the Middle road, on the William James, Sam. Pook and David Phillips farms respectively.

All the new wells are reported to be making a good showing. The Phillips well is just across the road from the Maple City Oil and Gas Co.'s well on the Burgess farm.
