PUNNY BATTLE. Angry Microbes Cause an Explosion in a Bottle.

Soon after the opening of the Medical Exhibition on Monday at the Horticultural Hall, Westminster, a large glass bottle which had been betraying symp- toms of uneasiness exploded and scatter- ed its contents, a creamy foam, over the rest of the stall of Messrs. A. H. Cox & Co.

Originally the bottle contained milk—just milk and a few million typhoid bacilli which lived and grew happily to- gether in this culture-medium. Then, for demonstration purposes, a horde of 10,000,000 hungry monsters (known as the bacilli of Massol) were introduced into the cultured civilization of the un- happy typhoid tribes, and remorseless war was raging in a moment.

A storm in a teacup was nothing to the battle in the bottle. The milk grew turbid with the bodies of the slain, and still the Massol militia murdered and devoured their victims. When a Massol bandit had filled himself to bursting point—he burst, and each of his 800,000 or 1,000,000 fragments became a hungry young Massol bacillus which fought and ate in turn. Finally the milk foamed up with the rapidly multiplying generations of Massolites and the bottle exploded.

The demonstration arose out of Pro- fessor Metchnikoff's claim that the bacilli of lactic acid (the Massol bacillus) destroys the bacilli which cause internal putrefaction of food. The Massol bacillus, he holds, by rendering the internal organs antiseptic, lengthens a man's life to an extraordinary extent, and he quotes the exceptional number of centenarians in Bulgaria, where the inhabi- tants live largely on soured milk, which contains these bacilli.

Massol bacilli are now presented in a novel form—that of chocolate cream, each containing 10,000,000 bacilli, and it was one of these chocolate creams which caused such havoc among the innocent typhoid microbes in the bottle.

"Lest We Forget." Those who were in Peking during the Boxer rising, and who visit the foreign settlement to-day, see many changes. The Legation walls show no signs of warfare save one corner of the British compound, near the gate opposite the Forbidden City. Here the bullet holes remain, and the broken bricks lie just as they were when the allied forces re- lieved the garrison. To preserve the memory of those trying days and nights, Sir Claude Macdonald, then in command of the British post, had the words, "Lest We Forget," painted at the spot where the attacks were fiercest. This is the only real mark to-day in Peking of the great trouble of 1900. The words are far-reaching, and they bring back to mind the scenes of treachery and strife which were enacted near by, and the many anxious hours spent by those who had friends and relations within the walls of the British Legation during the siege.—From the November Wide World Magazine.

Importance of the Cache. Men whose business takes them into the wilds have to be very careful about their supplies. It is of vital necessity that they should be able to obtain provisions when required, and that these should not be too far away. The Canadian Government surveyors, who were running the fourteenth base line, located a "cache" on the McLeod River, a tributary of the Athabasca. The supplies were taken in during the winter, when the swamps were frozen, and placed on a platform solidly built of logs, about ten feet from the ground, so as to be out of the reach of bears and other animals. The deprivations of hungry animals who have destroyed "caches" which their unfortunate makers thought secure have resulted in more than one terrible tragedy by starvation in these trackless wilds.—November Wide World Maga- zine.

WILL BE NO OPPOSITION To Mayor Lawrason, of Dundas, For Second Term.

Dundas, Oct. 30.—There is absolutely no stir in municipal matters in regard to coming elections in Dundas. The hint thrown out in the Star a week or two ago that G. C. Wilson might oppose Mayor Lawrason next January seems to be entirely foundationless, Mr. Wilson saying himself that nothing could induce him to go into such a contest. The probability is that Mayor Lawras
