

Farm and Garden.

Let small chicks have pretty full liberty. Exercise is natural to them; besides they will stand a better chance to rid themselves from lice that have come to them from the mother hen.

The Farmer's Review says:—Prices for shortness, we are pleased to observe, are ranging higher than for this season, and we predict a very successful year and higher prices for 1883 than for several years previous.

An enthusiastic admirer of Polled cattle says they are gentler and no trouble unless a dog shows up. Then the dog must go. They eat, grow fat, and are not dainty; that they enter the stables quietly and in good order, and that the bulls get all or nearly all Polled calves.

To cure rot in sheep the following salve is recommended: Gradually dissolve four ounces best honey, to which add one-half ounce Arsenian b-l-e, then stir in two ounces of burnt alum reduced to powder, and add as much fish or train oil as will convert the mass into a salve.

A hog of the proper sort should not only be extremely wide through the shoulders and fore parts, but that great width should be carried all through the carcass, so that when fat they are just as wide through the haunches as the shoulders. A broad, well-covered loin is also an essential point.

The best time for shipping hogs any great distance is in April or quite early in May, before the combs are too heavy with brood; though with proper care in preparing and ordinary usage in handling them, they may be shipped at any time with comparative safety, except in quite cold weather.

A good hog does not squeal, nor is he restless. He takes his feed quietly, goes to sleep when the meal is over, and converts it into fat. Thus the habits of the animal, its temper, and its disposition have great influence in the matter of profit and loss. These propensities are characteristic of certain breeds, and in improving the hog should not be overlooked in the selection.

A correspondent of the Beekeeper's Magazine, whose apiary is at Olean, N. Y., gives the following advice to those who use shallow frame hives: "Arrange the hives always to face the east or south. I first build a bench large enough to hold four hives, by driving stakes in the ground and siding up all around, and cover the top so that the hives will incline to the front enough to carry the water off in that direction, and about eight inches from the ground."

PEANUTS.—The peanut is often called ground nut, because its pods, which grow something like the common pea, are ripened in the ground. The vine is a climbing one, bearing yellow flowers. After these fall off the stems grow longer, bend downwards, and the pod on the end forces itself into the ground. Large forks are used to pull up the vines, and with them the nuts, which are picked off and packed in barrels for market. The oil is used for making soap. Peanuts are raised in the Southern United States, in South America, and on the west coast of Africa.

Clerical Anecdotes.

There was a story told of Mr. Radcliffe, a fox-hunting parson of Devonshire. The Bishop of Exeter (Dr. Philpotts) came one day to visit him without notice. Parson Radcliffe, in scarlet, was just about to mount his horse and gallop off to the meet, when he heard that the bishop was in the village. He had barely time to send away his hunter, run upstairs, and jump, red coat and boots, into bed, when the bishop's carriage drew up to his door. "Tell his lordship I'm ill, will ye?" was his injunction to his housekeeper, as he flew to bed.

"Is Mr. Radcliffe in?" asked Dr. Philpotts.

"He's ill in bed," said the housekeeper.

"Dear me! I am so sorry. Pray ask if he may come up and sit with him," said the bishop.

The housekeeper ran up stairs in sore dismay, and entered the parson's room. The parson stealthily put his head out of the bedclothes, but was reassured when he saw the room was invaded by his housekeeper, and not by the bishop.

"Please, your honor," his lordship wants to come up stairs and sit with you a little."

"With me!" gasped the parson. "No; go down and tell his lordship I'm took cruel bad with scarlet fever; it is an aggravated case, and very catching."

Enough, doubtless, to settle the bishop.

Perhaps no public speaker ever excelled Mr. Spurgeon in profuseness of anecdotal illustration in "discourses." His sermons and addresses teem with anecdotes, which are usually very much to the point. To his students last year he told a good story, to show the need of preachers being attractive. "When I was in Arran quite recently," said he, "I heard of a minister who preached in a certain church, and at the close of the service was strongly urged by the ruling elder to promise a future supply of similar discourses, the collection after his sermon having been unusually large."

"Dear me," said the minister, with becoming pride, "what might your ordinary collection amount to?"

"Last Sunday it was twopence-half penny."

"What is it to-day then?" asked the minister, expecting to hear a large sum named.

"Eighthpence-half penny," was the reply.

"Was it me?" moaned the minister within himself, "for I gave the sixpence myself!"

Here is an example of a possible misconception of language. "I fear," said country curate to his flock, "when I explained to you in my last charity sermon that philanthropy was the love of our species, you must have misunderstood me to say 'species,' which may account for the smallness of the collection. You will prove, I hope, by your present contribution that you are no longer laboring under the same mistake."

Headache, Biliousness, Dyspepsia and Constipation promptly relieved and cured by the use of Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters. As a family medicine they are far superior to pills in large bottles 50 cents.

ROBINSON'S ROBBERY.

Interesting Sequel to a Matrimonial Advertisement.

HAMILTON, April 6.—In connection with the case of James Hamilton, of Buffalo, who was arrested here last evening, there is a rather interesting story: Some years ago a Toronto widow, of three score, who kept (and it is said still keeps) a boarding house in that city, had a "matrimonial" advertisement inserted in one of the dailies. The advertisement gave a brief but highly-painted outline of the characteristics and habits of the widow. Among the applications for the lady's hand was James Robinson, who set forth in effect in his first letter that he cared little for riches, but wished to take a partner who would make things comfortable for him in his declining years. This was the man for the widow. She answered Robinson's letter by return of mail, and a lively correspondence ensued.

The determined widow and the ardent bachelor met by arrangement made by letter. Neither was disappointed in the other's appearance, and the greatest confidence was engendered on both sides. It was decided that the marriage should take place in Buffalo, Robinson's home. To prove to the widow that he was really in wealth, Robinson presented his fiancée with a check for $100,000. The wedding was duly solemnized and Mr. and Mrs. Robinson took up their residence in Buffalo temporarily, at the house of the Rev. Dr. Stratton, who tied the knot.

Four days after the marriage, when Mrs. Robinson began to make some startling discoveries concerning her husband, Robinson left the reverend doctor's house and his bride, taking with him $75, a gold-headed cane, and an overcoat belonging to his host. He was then discovered that the check which the bridegroom gave his bride was bogus, and Mr. Stratton applied to the Buffalo police to hunt up Robinson, who fled to Hamilton, where he was arrested on a charge of larceny. He gave his age as 76. His occupation seems to be a mystery even to himself, but it was learned that he was at one time a railway conductor.

Mrs. Robinson, who, after her husband had deserted her in Buffalo, went back to Toronto, on becoming aware of Robinson's presence in Hamilton, came up with her daughter, but both went back to Toronto without seeing the prisoner. It is not known yet whether he will go back to Buffalo or not.

At the Police Court to-day Robertson was sent to jail for six months for larceny. Dr. Stratton, in giving his testimony said: "Your Honor, I never met a man with a more perfect address than the prisoner. He had the manner and conversation of a gentleman. I never heard any one say the 'I will in the marriage ceremony with such emphasis and the prayer, he used to offer in my home, I have seldom heard such prayers. And then his singing; he could beat me all hollow at singing Moody and Sankey's hymns, especially 'Nearer my God to Thee.' Oh, he's a bad one. Why, your honor, said Mr. Stratton, 'we treated him like a prince. My wife, who is sickly, came all the way from Philadelphia to take care of him after his wife went away. We bought him medicine, for he was quite sick, and surrounded him with every luxury.'

CONTROLLING THE HORSE.

The reins may guide the horse, the bit may inspire him by its careful manipulation, and the whip may urge him forward to greater ambition; but the human voice is more potent than all these agencies. Its assuring tones will more quickly dispel his fright; its sharp, clear, electric commands will more thoroughly arouse his ambition, and its gentle, kindly praises will more completely encourage the intelligent road horse, than the united forces of the bit and reins and the lash. No animal in domestic use more readily responds to the power of kindness than the road horse. —Live Stock Journal.

Users of Pills can buy the best in the world.

Probably the largest kits in the world was recently made near Rochester. The frame was of lumber two inches wide by half an inch in thickness, and was covered with manilla paper. The surface contained nearly 200 square feet. The string by which the kits had flown was of three-eight inch rope, and 5,000 feet in length. It shot into the air like a balloon, and after floating a mile high for two hours was only brought down by means of a pulley and team.

"An Incurable."

Mr. E. T. Rose of St. Martin's, P. Q., was said by his physician to be in the last stage of consumption, and was given up as incurable. He had not a friend who could give him hopes of many days of life. When in this condition he began to take Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam, and an immediate change ensued. His cough grew looser, the phlegm gradually ceased, his appetite returned, and in a short time he was well.

The body of young Buchanan, junior clerk at the Molsons Bank, Brockville, was found at 5.30 April 2, in the water at the end of Canada Pacific pier. Young Buchanan has been missing ever since Saturday. He is reported to have been much in debt, and this may have prompted him to commit suicide, the evidence being pretty clear that he drowned himself on Saturday afternoon.

TIRED OF SUFFERING
An Ex-Police Officer's Story.

The Agency is Over. "It did not fail him."

Mr. M. Hymen, proprietor of the Pioneer Store, No. 102 J street, is now one of the happiest men in Sacramento, whereas a short time since the fields for him were in vain to look any in their garb of winter-green, and the sunshine of California was as a glimpse of the mid-night sun at Spitzbergen. He had the rheumatism. What man tortured with rheumatism can delight in the beauties of nature or care a fig whether the sun shines or not? Mr. Hymen did not know what to do about it. He had taken the prescriptions of physicians, but the dull, drowsy and the horror and dread agony were still there. The heavens to him were as though covered with the pall of unending night. Others might smile, but Mr. Hymen found no cause to allow a ray of mirth to creep into his face. This sort of thing had gone on with him at intervals for years, and there seemed no help for him. But the post tells us that the darkest cloud has a silver lining. The darkest hour is always just before the dawn. There was help for him—relief present and permanent for his racked body. At last some one told him of the Great German Remedy, St. Jacobs Oil. "What! I was a mere limoniment, after exhausting the skill of doctors? Why, it is made out of talk of it!"

"Well, just try the Great Remedy," said the voice of his friend. He tried it. "What is this?" "Relief!" He tried it again. "More relief!" "Is this the wand of the magician? Yes, it is relief—sweet relief, after wretched nights of agony and days long drawn out with 'suffering'?"

At last he had discovered the solution of his trouble. He was cured. Since this happy recovery the gentleman cannot say enough in praise of the Great German Remedy. He advises all to use St. Jacobs Oil for rheumatism. He says there is nothing under the dome of the universe comparable to it as a pain annihilator. His recommendations in the past few weeks have been the means of the wonderful specific, and many of the time when he urged them to use it. His was a wonderful cure.

Mr. W. B. Ferrall, the well-known policeman of this city, has also felt the powerful friendship, which St. Jacobs Oil extends in the hour of physical suffering. Mr. Ferrall was severely afflicted with rheumatism. He got tired of suffering, and determined to call in the aid of the grand old specific. It did not fail him. The disease was deep seated and declined to yield without a struggle, but the application of two bottles of the Oil made it fly away and cease from troubling. He is now well and hearty. He recommends the afflicted to rely on St. Jacobs Oil as the most ready and efficient cure for pain in the world. Captain O. O. Laraway, who runs that most thriving and well stocked grocery, corner of Sixth and N streets, is a great sufferer from neuralgia. While the reporter was in there the other day, waiting his turn for supplies, the Captain told him that the Great German Remedy was a powerful liniment. It had relieved him of neuralgia, and given him many hours of ease. His clerk also owned to having had the backbone taken out of some ugly rheumatic pains which had possessed his legs, much to his annoyance, for some time.

The foregoing should convince even the most skeptical that the article in question is indeed a great remedy and conqueror of pain. "We endorse it," is heard on all sides.

Hall's Vegetable Sclerian Hair Renewer is a certain remedy for removing dandruff, making the scalp white and clean, and restoring gray hair to its youthful color. It imparts a fine gloss and freshness to the hair, and is highly recommended by physicians, clergymen and scientists as a preparation accomplishing wonderful results.

A cold that may be cured by a teaspoonful of Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam to-day, may grow into consumption before two years and defy the highest medical skill. Why not cure it then, in the beginning by the teaspoonful of Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam. But even after the cold becomes chronic there is no better remedy than this. Mrs. A. O. Jackson, of Douglas, Ont., who was a sufferer from a chronic cold for over twenty years, which was accompanied by spitting of blood and general weakness, was completely cured by it in a wonderfully short time.

AYER'S Hair Vigor

restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray hair to a natural, rich brown color, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use light or red hair may be darkened, thin hair thickened, and baldness often, though not always, cured. It checks falling out of the hair, and stimulates a weak and sickly growth to vigor. It prevents and cures scurf and dandruff, and heals nearly every disease peculiar to the scalp. As a Ladies' Hair Dressing, the Vigor is unequalled; it contains neither oil nor dye, renders the hair soft, glossy, and silken in appearance, and imparts a delicate, agreeable, and lasting perfume.

Mr. C. P. Brainerd writes from Kirby, O., July 3, 1882: "Last fall my hair commenced falling out, and in a short time I became nearly bald. I used a lot of hair oil, but it did not help. I then used a bottle of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, which restored my hair, and makes it glossy and red. The Vigor is a sure cure for dandruff. Not only does it restore the hair, but the preparation cures a great variety of scalp diseases."

MR. J. W. FOWLER, proprietor of the McArthur (Ohio) Express, says: "AYER'S HAIR VIGOR is a most excellent preparation for the hair. I speak of it from my own experience. Its use promotes the growth of new hair, and makes it glossy and red. The Vigor is a sure cure for dandruff. Not only does it restore the hair, but the preparation cures a great variety of scalp diseases."

MR. AUGUS FAIRBANKS, brother of the celebrated "Gipsy Family" of Scottish Vocalists, writes from Boston, Mass., Feb. 6, 1883: "Ever since my hair began to fall out, I have used AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, and so have been able to maintain an appearance of youthfulness—a matter of considerable consequence to me, as a singer, actor, and in fact every one who has to do with the hair of the head."

MR. J. A. PRINCE, writing from St. John St., Charleston, W. Va., April 14, 1883, says: "Two years ago about two-thirds of my hair came off, and I was left with a very fast growing bald spot. On using AYER'S HAIR VIGOR the falling stopped and a new growth commenced, and in about a month my hair was completely restored with short hair. It has continued to grow, and is now as good as new. I regularly used but one bottle of the Vigor, but now use it occasionally as a dressing."

We have hundreds of similar testimonials to the efficacy of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR. It needs but a trial to convince the most skeptical of its value.
