An Honest Soap

A Treat of Opera and Folk Song.

HEARD AT THE NICKEL LAST NIGHT.

Patrons of the Nickel Theatre were last night treated to a splendid programme of Opera and Scotch folk songs. Miss Marion Armstrong, the Scotch Soprano gave a particularly effective rendition of "Land of the Leal" and "Charlie is My Darling". Miss Armstrong is proving a pleasing revelation to the music-lovers of this city, and is daily adding to the success which she achieved at the opening performance on Monday night. Miss Louise Loring, the mezzo-soprano delivered two popular selections from Grand Opera and Musical Comedy, namely, "Pace Pace Mio Dio" and "My Hero" from Chocolate Soldier. Miss Loring is one of those to whom nature has bestowed the gift of pure song, her renditions being delightfully sung with an exquisitely rich and full tone.

The duets "Home to Our Mountains" and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" were rendered beautifully, the blending being all that could possibly be desired.

The picture program last night consisted of two attractions, Wanda Hawley in "The Snob" and beautiful May Allison in "Big Game", an interesting story of life in the North Woods. The next big photoplay to be shown at this theatre is Louis Gasnier's tremendous production, "Rich Men's Wives".

No Encouragement for Unemployed in Edmonton.

EDMONTON.—Resulting directly from the excellent crop in Alberta this year, and the consequent improvement in general conditions, it has been decided by the Edmonton city council that no civic help will be given to unemployed during the coming winter. The harvest and the installation of the natural gas service have furnished such an amount of employment for all available laborers this season that it is felt there should be no necessity of administering relief, except, presumably, in a small number of chronic cases.

TIE CUP CHAMPIONSHIP TO-NIGHT.

The big game takes place to-night at 5.45, which though awkward is necessitated by the fact that it is dark now before 7 o'clock. Both the Guards and Cadets are presenting their strongest aggregations. Mr. Ern Churchill has consented to referee the game.

PAPYRUS ON THE WATER.

The famous English racer left Southampton on the 23rd by the Aquitania and should arrive in New York this morning. Strange to relate English sportsmen are betting up to 4 to 1 that she will not beat the American horses, though their reason for so doing is not stated.

CADETS DEFEAT WESLEY.

The juniors furnished a splendid game last night when the Wesley and Cadets met each other. The former won the toss and taking advantage of the wind and sun, pressed their opponents hard, but without avail, though several splendid tries were made.

On crossing over the Cadets assumed hostilities, but were manfully repulsed until, without warning, their centre-half, Dooley, tried a drop shot and was successful, scoring the winning goal. Owing to Mr. Delahanty's resignation the services of Mr. Fred Brien were requisitioned as referee, and he did well. It has been decided to play a full round for the play-off and the next game will be on Monday between Holy Cross and Wesley.

FIRPO TAKES VOTE TO DEVOTE LIFE TO WIN CHAMPIONSHIP.

"I Will Try Again and Again Until I Succeed." Defeated Argentine Tells Friends.

(By The Associated Press.) In the early hours of yesterday morning, when the wild shouting of the multitudes in the festive arena had died into a droning sound that came from street corner crowds, Luis Firpo, the Argentine, who had just lost his first bout, was seen in a corner, watching Firpo with wondering, hero-worshipping eyes. Then he shook his hand and went away.

A black-haired, young man sat at a piano, and soon his fingers were falling on the keys that brought entrancing Argentine dance music. Firpo danced for perhaps half an hour. Then he quietly said good night and went home and to bed. All day long he stayed in his apartment receiving friends and admirers.

The South American plans to remain in New York until his business affairs are attended to, and then he and several friends will motor to Eastern Canada. After a rest in the Dominion, Firpo will again return to Buenos Ayres and there lay preparations for the next fight for the title.

Making the Roads Safe.

Morning Post: What is required is a Road Police, empowered by Statute to arrest any driver breaking a rule of the road, whether an accident occurs in consequence or not. They would have the support of every motorist who desires to maintain the courtesies and amenities of the road. At the same time both motorists and the road authorities would do well to remember that all persons own an equal right to the highway; that horses, far from being obsolete, are still, and are likely to remain, both a necessity and a pleasure; and that foot passengers are not to be regarded merely as obstacles.

Americans are Drinking Much Beer in London.

LONDON.—An unusual type of American tourist has hit London in the past few days; it is the type with a thirst for that plebeian beverage, beer. Some of these late comers say that it is on medical advice that they are imbibing English beer, while others who patronize ordinary "pubs" as well as famous old eating-houses where extra strong brews can be obtained, say that they are tired of the spirituous hooch at home and have a craving for beer of any denomination.

acclaim the mighty son of the South American Republic, who had been so courageous against the champion.

Inside the restaurant, now crowded to capacity, an old man, Santiago Miolo, who came all the way from Buenos Ayres to see the fight, raised his hand to command silence.

"To Luis, the Lion-Hearted."

At his side sat Firpo, unmarked, smiling, thrilled by this demonstration, for a warrior who had just given his best, but lost. The old man placed his left hand on the South American's head. In his right hand he raised a glass:

"To Luis, the Lion-Hearted, and the glory of the Argentine; to the next Champion of the World!"

The eyes of the strong man filled with tears as the toast was drunk. Then he stood and gave his word that he would carry on until victory over the champion was won.

"It need be," he said, "I will try again to defeat this man, this great champion, who only a few hours since taught me so many things about the fighting game as it is played in the United States."

"With me was in the knowledge of the game. He defeated me fairly and I have for him only the greatest admiration. I fought my best and I lost. My best will be better next time."

Came then into the restaurant a dozen policemen. "We're all Irish," they said to the man on the door, "and the world knows the greatest fighters are Irishmen. They told us that Luis Firpo was Spanish, but we know better. We saw the fight. Any man who fought like he did has Irish in him."

"A Good Man for the Force."

These words, translated for Firpo, brought a broad grin over his countenance and he rose to shake hands with the bluecoats. And then, as the dozen filed out, one was heard to remark:

"Goah, Jerry, but wouldn't he make a good man for the force? There would not be any gangs in town after a month."

Food was brought for Firpo, but it became cold as he got up again and again to receive the congratulations of the crowds who came in. There was a Spanish dancing girl from one of the shows. She brought to him a bouquet of roses. There was a night newshy, and he brought papers. For five minutes this youth stood in a corner, watching Firpo with wondering, hero-worshipping eyes. Then he shook his hand and went away.

A black-haired, young man sat at a piano, and soon his fingers were falling on the keys that brought entrancing Argentine dance music. Firpo danced for perhaps half an hour. The South American plans to remain in New York until his business affairs are attended to, and then he and several friends will motor to Eastern Canada. After a rest in the Dominion, Firpo will again return to Buenos Ayres and there lay preparations for the next fight for the title.

Prohibition an Illusion.

La Presse: Before another year is out, so we are informed, a plebiscite will be taken among our neighbors in Ontario with reference to the vexed question of spirituous liquors. The provinces are beginning to stir themselves in this regard and our legislation relative to the liquor question has become an object of special attention throughout the Continent. However, it is due to the Province of Quebec, which has shown the way in the path of true temperance, without falling in the rut of prohibition... which prohibits nothing!

Toy for Rent.

On the anniversary of the battle of Waterloo every year, June 18th, the Duke of Wellington has to present to the King a miniature flag like those Napoleon's soldiers carried. A tricolor with a brass eagle perched on the top. This little flag is the rent for the estate presented to the Iron Duke by a grateful nation.

The Commandant extends great thanks to Sir Marmaduke Winter, who did everything he could to assist him in the great campaign, and Dr. Roberts and the Medical Staff. Dr. Roberts is especially thanked for the ordering of the sterilizing and operating outfit to meet the needs of the Hospital. Those who have seen the operating and sterilizing outfit are highly pleased with it.

The Commandant wishes to express on behalf of Colonel and Mrs. Croud, leaders of the Dominion of Newfoundland, and the Headquarters Staff, their highest appreciation for what has been done in helping and subscribing towards the effort.

The Commandant considers that he is under a deep debt of gratitude to the Press for their great assistance in giving space in their columns to the various undertakings. He also wishes to express his appreciation to the thousands of dollars more needed to meet the furnishings. Although Commandant Hurd will leave here to-morrow, he will be returning the first or second week in November to try and get the balance that is necessary.
