

clusion that the debates have been conducted too often with an acrimony and a want of dignity that should be avoided, and it is certainly to be hoped that the next session may witness a marked improvement in this respect. There is a powerfully written article, on the same subject, under the heading of "Parliamentary Gaffes," in the Globe of Saturday, which cannot be too seriously commended to the notice of those concerned. In addition to what is there said regarding Mr. Boulbee, it may be remarked that that hon. member is perpetually lecturing the House as to what should be its gentlemanly deportment, whilst he himself has been a very frequent contributor to some of the most unworthy personalities that have characterized the session. We sincerely think that the country is yet prepared to accept Mr. Boulbee as, what he would evidently wish us to believe he is, our Provincial Lord Chesterfield, the very quintessence of Parliamentary dignity and politeness, the Ontario chevalier legislator par excellence, "sans peur et sans reproche."

Guelph Evening Mercury
TUESDAY EV'G. APRIL 1, 1873.

Reformers, Rally!
We would again direct the attention of our readers to the advertisement in another column, announcing a meeting of the North Riding of Wellington Reform Association, to be held in Collinson's Hall, Harrison, on Friday next, 4th of April, at one o'clock, p. m., for the purpose of considering the measures necessary to be adopted to resist the protest against the election of the member for North Wellington. We hope to see every member of the Association present. Under existing circumstances it is the duty of all good men and true—of all lovers of good and economical government—of all who detest bribery and corruption at elections—of all who desire fair play at our parliamentary contests—and of all who desire to express their condemnation of the unmanly position taken by George A. Drew, the defeated candidate, and his followers—to be present, and unite heart and hand in assisting to sustain the gallant Colonel in a position fairly and honourably won. We have no fear of the result of the protest, but would urge the friends of Colonel Higginbotham to be on the alert, as the enemy with whom they have to cope is an unscrupulous politician, who glories in his own shame, and who seeks to drag his old opponent down to his own degraded level. What care is he for the interests of the people of the North? The turmoil and excitement of another election—the ill-feeling engendered between neighbors and friends—the stirring up of the cesspools of the iniquities practised by a number of his roving followers, who procured a plentiful supply of bad eggs and hurled them at the head of the local member for the North Riding—his narrow and fatness to his degenerate nature, and appears to be as necessary to his very existence as air and food is to the human family. Reformers of North Wellington, be true to the man who fought your battle bravely, and who unfurled the Reform banner and carried it aloft in a constituency specially prepared for the burly lawyer. It is wearing the very flesh of Drew's bones to be obliged to hide his diminished head when he thought the chief seat in the synogogue was within his easy grasp, and he is now prepared to employ any means, no matter how unfair, so long as he thinks there is a shadow of a chance of accomplishing his evil designs. If George A. was the only sufferer in the premises we would have paid very little attention to the matter, but, knowing as we do that a levy will be made on his supporters for the needful to carry the protest through, we really think it a pity to see the one who stood up for him through "thick and thin"—"thin" especially—led to the slaughter, like so many sheep, to gratify an ambition characteristic of defeated Government candidates all over the Province. Let Reformers be united at the meeting on Friday next, view the situation calmly and philosophically, and rise in their might, giving a long pull, a strong pull, and a pull altogether, and victory shall be theirs. There is no difficulty so great but what can be surmounted by united action—unity is strength.

Rallying His Forces.
The demoralizing vote on Dual Representation had such an effect upon the followers of Sir John that the wily leader considered it necessary to rally his forces on Saturday last. His followers were summoned to meet him in the rooms of the Department of Justice, where Sir John said to have talked to them a while, passed a few jokes in his best style, and, having put them in good humour, entered upon the business which was uppermost in his mind. He is understood to have expressed his fears as to the reliability of his following, and to have explained that with his present support he could not proceed with his measures. The question of better terms for New Brunswick had to be settled before he could rely upon support from that quarter. It therefore became necessary that he should ascertain from his Ontario friends to what extent they would concede to New Brunswick, and it further became necessary, to allow time for the completion of the better terms arrangements, that an extended adjournment should be obtained from the House. It is said, too, that a proposal was submitted to the caucus to add fourteen million dollars to the debt of the Dominion, eleven million dollars of which should go to old Canada, and three million dollars to the other Provinces, to be divided amongst them in proportion to the population. That some such scheme has been under consideration to test the feelings of the Ontario Conservatives upon the subject of better terms, and that in the event of an understanding not being come to before the Easter vacation, a long adjournment will be asked, is not without foundation.
