FLYS.

The Printers' Baseball Club would like to play a picked nine from all other trades in the city, the game to take place on afternoon of Labor Day.

A member of the Alert club has received a letter from Roy Fisher, stating that he had been sold by the Detroit management to Jackson, Mich. Fisher says if he knew of this he would have refused to leave London. He liked London and its people, and would have remained with the Alerts for the balance of the season rather than play with Jackson.

AQUATIC.

LONDON REGATTA POSTPONED.

Owing to the Guelph-London baseball match next Saturday the London Rowing and Canoe Club regatta has been postponed from that date until the following Saturday—Sept. 5. The new schedule of the Canadian Baseball League upset the Rowing Club's calculations, and they had not looked for a rival attraction at Tecumseh Park when they chose next Saturday. The club are determined that this year's regatta shall be the best in their history. The presence of Hamilton's crack oarsmen is a guarantee of this. The match between the Leanders and London's four-oared crew will be the chef d'oeuvre of the day, but in addition there will be races between two-oared crews picked from the Leanders and the Londons, and a single scull race between a visitor and a local man. There will be ten events in all, and if assiduous training goes for anything, every race should be hotly contested. The finish of the course will be opposite Mike Ward's, and the steamer will make special trips.

CRICKET.

LONDON VS. CHICAGO.

The Wanderers' Cricket Club, of Chicago, will try conclusions with the crack London Asylum eleven on the latter's grounds tomorrow, commencing at 10:30 a.m. The Wanderers toured Canada last year and proved themselves foemen worthy of Canadian willow. The Asylum club has picked its best men for the match. They are: Messrs. F. W. Terry, M. A. Walker, J. K. H. Pope, H. Pope, Dr. Hobbs, W. A. M. Goode, G. England, F. Daly, T. Reid, T. Flynn and J. B. Burnand. The Asylum Band will add to the pleasure of the event, and a large attendance from the city is assured.

THE CHICAGO WANDERERS.

Detroit Aug. 25.—A team of cricketers from the Wanderers' Cricket and Athletic Club, of Chicago, played here yesterday, and then started a tour of Canada, which is an annual outing among the members of the club. Games are to be played at Chatham, London, Hamilton, and two in Toronto, one against the Toronto Club, and the final game of the tournament on Saturday against the Rosedale Club of that city.

YACHTING.

CANADA LED.

Toledo, O., Aug. 25.—The attempt to sail the first international race between the Canada and the Vencedor, for the inter-lake yachting championship on Lake Erie, off Toledo, yesterday, resulted in a failure, on account of the lack of wind, as the regatta committee declared the race off at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, after the yachts had drifted about four hours. When the race was called off, the Canada, which had a lead of over a mile, had only covered about six miles, or about a fourth of the race.

THE TURF.

OPENING DAY AT WINDSOR.

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 25.—The third meeting of the Windsor Racing Association opened yesterday under the most auspicious circumstances. The weather was fine, the crowd large, the track in the best of condition, and the racing was good. The day's events resulted:

First race, selling, 3-4 mile—Remedy (103), won; Virgie Dixon (100), 2; Longbrook (105), 3. Time, 1:14 3-4.

Second race, 2-year-olds, selling, 9-16 mile—Wathen (103), won; Katie W. (103), 2; Tidiness (103), 3. Time, :55 1-2.

Third race, purse, mile—Booze (111), won; Sykeston (119) 2; Helen H. (101), 3. Time, 1:42

Fourth race, 2-year-olds, purse, 5-8 mile—Moncreith (111), won; Rideau (103), 2; John Carr (111) 3. Time, 1:02 1-2.

Fifth race, selling, 7-8 mile—Sauteur (102), 1; Alamo (102), 2; Dockstader (102), 3. Time, 1:29 3-4.

THE WHEEL.

SPOKES.

There was a split in one of the local racing teams while at Sarnia. Contrary to orders, four members of the team paced the riders of a rival firm, and the team manager left for home with the only obedient member of his flock.

BOTH DROWNED!

An Heroic Woman's Endeavor to Rescue Her Daughter.

Campbellford, Aug. 25.—On Sunday, Mrs. Hubble, wife of a farmer living near Deer River, in Chandos township, and her two daughters, went to the river to bathe. One of the daughters was "teetering" on a board which overhung the river, and slipped in. The mother plunged to the rescue, and immediately the other daughter swam to her mother's assistance. The mother and daughter became exhausted, and the mother, fearing her weight would drown the other swimmer, pushed her away, and, bidding her good-bye, sank to her death. The girl whom the mother was trying to save was also drowned. The bodies were recovered in twenty feet of water.

SMOTHERED IN GRAIN.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Charles Baker, was drawn by suction into a grain bin, covered by 1,000 bushels of grain, and smothered to death. Baker had been warned to be careful. He leaves a wife and three children.

SUICIDE IN DETROIT.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 25.—Wm. Winans, a well-known drygoods dealer of this city, committed suicide yesterday afternoon. He hired a rowboat, rowed out on the river, and jumped into the water. Winans was in financial trouble. He was about 40 years old, and leaves a widow and one son.

DROWNED AT NIAGARA.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Daniel Malloy, a young lad, of Niagara Falls, Ont., met death in the treacherous whirlpool rapids yesterday afternoon. He was in bathing some distance above, where he was caught in the current and swept to his death before the eyes of his companions.

Queer Bookkeeping.

This odd story is told of old Nick Sampson the keeper of a lumberman's store in Northern Wisconsin. He was a bluff, hearty fellow, educated in the ways of the woods, but unable to write his own name. He kept a book, however, in which was entered a strange set of accounts in which some pictorial skill was displayed. One day the clerk of one of the logging camps called to settle accounts. The storekeeper pulled down his old book and began: "On November 5 you had four gallons of molasses; on the 6th, ten pounds of coffee and a cheese—" "Hold on," said the clerk, "we've never had any cheese from you or from any other person." "You must have had it," was the positive reply; "it's down on my book." There was a hot dispute, which almost resulted in blows, when the clerk said: "I got a grindstone of you about that time, but no cheese." That's it, that's it," shouted the old man, slapping his knee, "it wasn't a cheese." Then he pointed to a rough circle he had drawn to represent a cheese. "I forgot to put the hole in the middle," he admitted humbly.

Laurier and Tupper

The Leaders Meet Each Other in Debate.

Sir Charles Recants His Position on the School Question.

Says He Attached Too Much Importance to It.

Scathing Exposure of His Two-facedness by the Premier.

Tariff Reform Will Come—Speedy Settlement of the School Question Predicted—The Address Brilliantly Moved and Seconded by Young Members.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 25.—Yesterday was the first great field day in the House of Commons. The debate upon the speech from the throne was opened but was not completed. The first speakers were, as usual, two new members on the Government side, and then speeches were made by Sir Charles Tupper and the Prime Minister. These were of more than ordinary interest by reason of the unusual circumstances surrounding the occasion. Sir Charles is in the saddle as leader of the Opposition, and leading his serried forces with good temper thus far. Yesterday he was moderate of speech, and not more bitter than the license allowed to the defeated side. Much of his time was devoted to establishing his contention that the people of the country had declared against the new Government on all the most important issues between the parties. Dealing with the school question, he frankly admitted that he had been disappointed in Quebec. As for tariff revision, he urged the Government to announce at this present session its policy, and not to keep the business interests and manufacturing industries in a disastrous state of uncertainty.

Mr. Laurier was in splendid fighting form and made a capital three-quarter hour reply to the two-hour attack of Sir Charles Tupper. He dismissed Sir Charles' calculation as to majority and minority by saying that the result was plain to be seen. He held the same language on the school question that he has spoken at other times. He hopes to see the question settled before next session to the satisfaction of all reasonable men—the extreme men who would be willing to cut their pound of flesh out of the dead body of their country he did not hope to satisfy. It was not justice that they wanted, but revenge. He promised that the tariff would be dealt with with prudence and care after full investigation had been made into all the interests concerned. During Mr. Laurier's speech the statement was drawn from Sir Charles Tupper that he had never authorized Mr. Taylor or anybody else to say that remedial legislation was no longer a part of the Conservative platform. To this Mr. Laurier's retort was apropos, that the next day would be polling day in North Bruce, and it was a pity Sir Charles had not made that denial eight days ago. Mr. Foster moved the adjournment of the debate at 10:30 o'clock. It is not known how long it will be prolonged. The Opposition policy in the matter may be influenced by the result of the elections.

MOVING THE ADDRESS.

When Mr. McInnes arose to move the address there was an outburst of applause from the Government side of the House. Before entering upon the discussion of the matters alluded to in the speech from the throne, he acknowledged the compliment paid to British Columbia by the Government in selecting a representative of that Province to take part in the proceedings of this Parliament. This was the first occasion on which this honor had been done his Province. He regarded this as a circumstance showing that at last there was a Government in power which recognized the importance of British Columbia and was prepared to pursue a policy of generous treatment towards it—treatment that had not been accorded the province in the past. The speaker said the late Government's trade policy had produced stagnation in the west, and any prosperity there was due to the energy of the settlers. He spoke glowingly of the mining wealth of the province and pleaded for its proper development. He advocated the establishing of a mint in the province. Speaking of immigration, he said the new Government had promised to lighten the tariff burdens of the country, and it was necessary to make the conditions of life easy and agreeable. The late Government's policy had created monopolies which oppressed the people. On the school question, he believed that settlement would be in sympathy with the Liberal principle of provincial rights, in harmony with progressive thought and consonant with the right of self-government. The Conservative party was prepared to disrupt the whole Dominion in order to gratify its inordinate thirst for power. After its failure to inflame the prejudices of Quebec it had turned upon that province and maligned it.

MR. LEMIEUX'S SPEECH.

Mr. Lemieux was warmly greeted by his fellow-Liberals when he got upon his feet to second the address. He spoke in French. He condemned the vacillating school policy of the Conservatives, and prophesied the satisfactory settlement of the question in a few months. He eulogized the alliance between Mr. Laurier and Sir Oliver Mowat, "the noble veteran of Ontario, and the champion of scholastic liberty." Quebec, he said, was legitimately delighted at the election results, but he denied any desire on her part to dominate. He pleaded eloquently for mutual toleration.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER.

Sir Charles Tupper arose amid Opposition applause. He started out with a plea for protection and said that the result of the elections would have been different but for the school complication. The rallying cry of the Liberal party in Ontario was "Hands off Manitoba." But coming to Quebec there was a curious thing. While Mr. Laurier had obtained his support—not a majority—in the Province of Ontario on the distinct pledge and declaration that he would never interfere with Manitoba by any act of this Parliament, in Quebec Mr. Laurier not only placed himself on the same platform as the Government, but in gambling parlance went them one better, and said that he would not only use constitutional means to give relief to the minority of Manitoba and restore their privilege by constitutional means, but he would do it in its entirety. Without his change of front in the face of the enemy, on the tariff question and those pledges in Quebec the honorable gentleman (Mr. Laurier) would still be sitting on the Opposition side of the House.

It being 6 o'clock, the Speaker left the chair.

After recess Sir Charles Tupper continued his address, and quoted newspaper extracts, reports of speeches and press comments to bear out his contention that Mr. Laurier's victory was not due to the vote of the people on the issues submitted to the country, and that the Premier's triumph was a triumph of race. Sir Charles went on to say that over 19,000 of the electors had polled their votes for the Conservative party over and above those cast for the Liberal party.

Continuing, Sir Charles said: "In the light of what has occurred, I am in a position to frankly admit that I greatly overrated the importance of this question of remedial legislation. I entertained the opinion, and I entertained it sincerely, that the Roman Catholics of Canada attached the most vital importance to the question of religious education for their children; I had the conviction, and I entertained it sincerely, that it would be a cause of deep resentment on the part of the great body of Roman Catholics if the Parliament of Canada refused to carry out the law and the constition as expounded by the highest tribunal in the empire. I find that there has not been that deep importance attached to this question by a very large number of that denomination that I had previously supposed to be attached to it. I made that admission frankly to the House, and I cannot but feel that it is not unlikely that it will be much more difficult in the future to induce gentlemen to sacrifice their own judgment—(Liberal hear, hears)—to some extent, and the feelings of their constituents to some extent, to maintain a policy that, when subjected to the test of actual experience, is not found to have the importance attached to it that it was believed it should have."

Sir Charles criticized the Government for having resorted to the use of Governor-General's warrants to meet the cost of the public services. He also condemned Mr. Laurier for his views on international relations, as published in a Chicago paper. All the evidences of trade showed that Canada was emerging from the period of depression. This tariff uncertainty threatened to destroy confidence and retard the investment of capital in Canadian interests. He implored the Government to let the interests know what their fate would be. Mr. Laurier had declared that he would take off the duties on coal and iron. These interests wanted to know, and for want of knowing could not make their arrangements nine months ahead. So with the great manufacturing industries; they did not know what to expect or fear, and they had a right to call upon the Government to be relieved from the suspense. He concluded with an expression of the hope that the leader of the Government had done with all his rhodomontade about free trade, and that his conversion to the late Government's policy would be an enduring one. (Applause.)

THE PREMIER.

Mr. Laurier rose, amid the loud applause of his friends. He said he had no fault to find with the speech to which they had just listened. Nor was it his intention to offer many comments with regard to it. It was, on the whole, moderate in its spirit, and if the source from which it came were considered, they must consider it very moderate indeed. If there was some bitterness in its latter part it need not be criticized. They could understand the feelings of a gentleman, who, giving up a high office in the service of his country for the honorable ambition of reuniting his party, like Caesar, came and saw, but unlike Caesar, did not conquer. (Laughter.) Mr. Laurier ridiculed Sir Charles' contention that the Conservatives polled 19,000 more votes than their opponents. He said: "I refuse to go very minutely into the calculation of the honorable gentleman, but all I have to say is that if the victorious party polled a minority of the votes in the country, what has become of the gerrymander acts of the honorable gentleman opposite? They certainly were never intended for that purpose, and if that be their result I am sure we shall have the support of the honorable gentlemen when we repeal these acts, as repeal them we shall. (Ministerial applause.) But, sir, if the honorable gentleman (Sir Charles Tupper) does not know yet what are the causes which have brought in this change of Government, I may tell him. There are three cause. The hon. gentleman and his party were defeated because their fiscal policy, which, by a strange misnomer, has been termed the National Policy, had not fulfilled the expectations of the people, still the hon. gentleman adhered to it. (Applause.) The hon. gentleman and his party have been defeated because the administration of affairs under his Government had been extravagant and corrupt. (Applause.) The honorable gentleman and his party have been defeated because, upon a grave and important question, a question which for its solution required great tenderness and care of treatment, instead

A CRISP CRUST

Is the making of a pie. The making of a crisp crust depends largely upon the shortening. Use COTTOLENE, the new vegetable shortening, instead of lard, and sogginess will be an unknown element in your pastry. Cottolene should always be economically used—two-thirds as much Cottolene as you would ordinarily use of lard or butter, being ample to produce the most desirable results. The saving in a year represents a considerable item. There are many imitations of COTTOLENE; you should therefore be careful to get the genuine.
