Can a Middle-Aged Woman Attract the Man Who Admires Flappers by Imitating Them?

Dear Miss Dix-I am an old maid, with gray hair, blue eyes and a good complexion, and although I am near ing the forty mark, I am still very easy on the eyes.

Here is my question: There is a man in our office 40 years old, who seems to admire bobbed hair and and congregational meeting of St. seems to admire bobbed hair and John's church was held in the paris: hall. The rector, Rev. A. E. W. Invisable for me to bob my hair, give gram, presided.

ANXIOUS RILLA.

Of course, you would make the middle-aged man a far better wife than any young girl would. happier with you than he would always be wanting to jump around and go to places.

But don't be foolish enough to enter yourself in the flapper class, Rilla, and try to compete with girls young enough to be your daughters. You can't do it. and you only make yourself cheap and ridiculous when you attempt it. Don't risk comp son with their youth. Stay in nity and distinction that goes Bobbed hair is none too pretty when it is on young heads. Bobbed gray hair makes the wearer nothing but a figure of fun. Gray hair makes a youngish face look even younger. The beauties of the old French court knew what they were about when they wore powdered wigs, but dyed hair brings out every line and crow's foot on a woman's countenance.

Once I was in a beauty parlor on the color she would have her trying to dissuade her from doing it. 'Oh, yes," he said to her, "I can dy your hair any young color you want it, but I can't give you the young face to go with it. Believe me nature knows what it is about when it turns our hair gray, for gray hair softens a face and camouflages the wrinkles as we grow old." So that's

June 15 is the actual beginning of the vacation season. Folks who have ocen day dreaming about one kind of summer holiday or another are no yetting ready to buy all the things necessary to make their vacation risions come true. A tour through London shops shows that London mcrenants are ready to help make these dreams come true.

Frocks as Cool as a Northern Breeze.

Lazy, wonderful day dreams of sparkling lakes, rolling golf courses will soon be happy realities, in other words, holidays. They take a heap of planning, but, oh, what fun they are and what woman doesn't get a thrill out of viewing smart holiday

Kathleen Harper has the most attractive display for all occa-sions. Mrs. Harper says: "The woman who is smartly dressed is the one who is comfortably and uitably dressed for the occasion unless for evening wear.

Two-piece tub silks are the popular sport attire, with French cotton crepes also shown. These dainty and practical frocks need very little attention. It is so very easy to buy or not to buy from Mrs. Harper—she makes you feel she wants you to look your best and will not tell

Miss McEwan also makes a special offer on books from her lending library for vacation trips.

A Cool Place to Dine. We guess the reason so many nen are in love with Mrs. O'Meara's Blue Dragon Tea Room is just another proof that "the way to a man's heart is through his stomach." The Blue Dragon Tea Room serves the most de-lightful food you ever tasted. When you have company drop in unexpectedly and you are not prepared, why not take them there? Special service to parties and afternoon teas.

Oh, Girls, Look! Knickers!

You must go to Dowler's and see their new golf trousers and riding breeches. They have just put in a stock of the nattlest you ever saw. You know Dowler's is a men's store, but Mr. Mac-Donald says there was such a demand for these togs he simply had to stock them. Khaki wool tweed with laced knees, large checked tweed in sand with salmon stripes, and gray with green stripes in lovely light summer weight material.

Another line which is sure to please is the white linen with a wool knee cuff, which fits so snugly and looks very neat. Also a khaki drill which would be splendid for hiking. You will be surprised when you see the price tags on these togs. They are very
