

Janette Mark

Janette Mark is Director, Trade and Investment Policy at the Department of Canadian Heritage where she is responsible for issues related to trade and investment policy and the Convention on Cultural Diversity. Ms. Mark has been in this position at the Department of Canadian Heritage for the last six years and previously worked at the Department of Finance where she was involved in a variety of multilateral and bilateral trade issues. Before joining the federal public service, she worked as a trade policy analyst at the North South Institute, a non-governmental research institute that focuses on Canada's relations with developing countries. Ms. Mark holds a MA from the School of Public Administration at Carleton University and a BA (Honours) from the University of Guelph.