

CURRENT THEOLOGY ●

But I am human, blear-eyed, foolish, old,
Born in the mess of things they call a town,
And leaving it no better. I am told
That when my prayerless body must lie down
The angels will not care my soul to see.
I like my blackguard dog, but God does not like me.