

AT THE EXHIBITION

page. "Did you ever hear of Upton Sinclair?—Guess they'll hold you."

An Artistic Exhibit.

From an artistic viewpoint the J. Morrison Brass Works exhibit stands out prominently in the foreground in machinery hall.

And what's more, there is not an article on display, however artistically designed, that is wanting in usefulness.

As a matter of fact, all of the exhibits are a necessity. Every dwelling needs a wash bowl, for instance, and why not have an ornamental one. The cost remains the same.

They Look Good to All.

Christie, Brown and Company's exhibit of biscuits and wafers continues to attract attention in the manufacturers' building. "Make me hungry to look at the tasty array," said a visitor. Perhaps this was not the only flattering comment heard about the day.

The exhibit is in a commanding position in the building, and it all goes to signify that Christie, Brown & Co. have a similar position in the household world.

Fun at the Cat Show.

While the chief judging of cats took place on Wednesday it remained for the jumping and "leading" events to take place yesterday. Seemingly there are few of the felines exhibited that have been trained by their owners in these respects, since there were but two cats entered for tests of agility, and a like number for the other test, which is one of general deportment.

But the demonstrations were interesting, and furnished amusement for onlookers. "Dot," the Manx beauty which belongs to Miss Agnes E. Purinton of Toronto Junction, and the field all to herself in the class of short-haired jumpers. To induce a cat to jump is very much like the task of making a canary sing when it has no vocal aspirations. "Dot" was apparently just as indifferent as her exhibitors were anxious to have her perform, and many were the attempts made to get her to describe the desired parabola thru the looped arms of the demonstrator. Patience, aided by some choice tit-bits placed just out of reach, won at last, and Judge Burdall made the award.

Miss Marjorie Bell's long-haired brown "David Copperfield," which has been admired very much as a show cat, was the lone entry in its class, and also went off with the prize. Unusually, but was adjudged inferior to "Golden Rod," Miss Bell's other entry, lacking just a little of the latter's polish in the test of feline etiquette. This ended the show's feature event for the day.

A constant attendant at the show, and one most interested in the exhibit of the fancy of catmen, is Miss J. R. Cathcart of Oradell, N.J., who is herself an exhibitor, and a successful one. Miss Carrick, who has a fortune of about $15,000,000, is easily the wealthiest cat fancier in the world, having "catteeries" at New York, London, Eng., and Paris, as well as at Oradell, where she has a collection of about thirty felines of the finest breed.

Touched the Man's Tent.

There was a robbery in S. T. Wright's tent, on Dufferin-street, near the exhibition grounds, late last night. The thief, including damage done, amounted to about $20. Wright's tent, which is a double tent, was used for the purpose of selling the man's tent, and was used for the purpose of selling the man's tent.

Quiet for Police.

The police had a quiet day at the fair. There were no more complaints received of pockets having been picked, although a number of minor articles were reported missing. The thieves were mostly ladies, and lost handbags were the chief articles reported. One "drunk" was taken into custody and let go with a caution to the evils of the drink habit.

Ambulance Called Out.

The ambulance was called out about 10 o'clock, a lady being taken suddenly ill while in the grand stand. She was afterwards able to go home.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

The London Tribune says General Kitchener will be appointed to the Irish command.

A severe earthquake shock occurred last night in Chili. Sixteen shocks followed. Heavy foods in Buzal, following a poor harvest, are causing a grave famine.

R. W. Burgess made another unsuccessful attempt to swim the English Channel last night.

OFFICERS RETIRE.

The resignations of John Gardner, financial secretary, John W. Griffin, secretary, and Robert Hunsford, trustee, were accepted by the district local council last night.

The constitution having recently undergone a process of amendment and revision, was submitted to the council and approved.

Surprised at our Diamonds

One of the greatest surprises to United States tourists who visit Toronto is the extent of Diamond Hall's gem-stock—one of the three largest in America.

An even pleasanter surprise is the fact that diamonds may be bought here at lower prices than anywhere else on this Continent.

Diamonds enter Canada "duty free."

POOR OLD BLIND INDIAN COMES TO THE HOSPITAL

Several Accidents in Toronto Yesterday—Record Day of Admissions to General.

A tottering and totally blind old Indian named Esquitt, was admitted to the General Hospital shortly before midnight. He came from Georgian Island in Lake Simcoe, and was accompanied by Chief Big Canoe, who had guided the old warrior upon his journey from the reserve to the hospital.

Esquitt is 87 years old and a contract has covered his eyes. His extreme age may prevent him regaining his sight, but an operation will be performed. He would have been left to die blind had not the case come before the notice of the campers and other summer residents of Jackson's Point, who took up subscriptions to defray the expenses and saw that the old fellow got away for Toronto. Georgian Island is across the lake some eight miles from Beaverton.

May Lose His Hand.

While alighting from his car late last night an old man from Woodstock, fell and the side of his right hand was grazed by the wheels. The hand was badly lacerated and may have to be amputated, but Mr. Kerton, who was accompanied by his wife, took him to the hospital on the advice of Dr. King. His destination was Terauay-street and when he heard the conductor say Terauay-street he thought that was it.

Housekeeper Broke Leg.

Jessie Hill, housekeeper for Mrs. Carruthers, 545 Jarvis-street, fell down some stairs last night and being a very heavy woman broke her leg between the middle and Dr. R. T. Noble was called and the unfortunate was removed to the hospital.

Visitor Sent to Hospital.

Brook-street wharf was not a suitable place for Archibald McNeil, an exhibition visitor from Parry Sound.

McNeil was a most antagonistic form of machine and he took it to the dock with him. A brisk breeze was blowing yesterday afternoon and it didn't do McNeil's lungs any good. He was taken to the hospital and removed to the Western Hospital in the ambulance.

Kept Identity Quiet.

A middle-aged man got out of a moving car opposite the Arcade at 11 p.m. He lit upon his head, instead of his feet. In his drug store he was temporarily repaired by Dr. Adams. He declined to say who he was. He had no money, but called a hackman and requested him to drive up Yonge-street.

Record for General Hospital.

The largest number of cases ever admitted to the General Hospital in one day was recorded yesterday, when the new arrivals totaled 25. The previous record was 24 some years ago. There are not many very serious cases among those who come in yesterday, and many of them were from outside Toronto. The influx does not tax the capacity of the hospital accommodation, an fortunate circumstance, as the number has diminished considerably lately.

Some Schools Not Ready for Opening on Tuesday

Members of Management Committee Inclined to Blame Some of Their Colleagues.

When the public schools re-open Tuesday morning next, the improved accommodation expected at several of them will not be available.

This was declared at yesterday's meeting of the management committee, members of which made some warm criticism of the property committee, charging that they had not carried out the work as they should.
