CHARLOTTE, Aug. 12.-(Special.)-With a ten-knot breeze blowing from the southward and westward and just enough sea with it to make ideal yachting weasea with it to make ideal yachting weather, the Seneca to-day crossed the finish line five minutes ahead of the challenger, Adele, and thus added the second win to her credit in the Canada Cupraces, which began on Saturday. The race started this morning at 11.30 and the course was a 3-mile run east by north, with return beat against the wind. The usual jockeying took place before the start, but Hanan succeeded in keeping Jarvis out of the windward position. Both boats got away well in time, the official record being Adele 11.30.10, Seneca 11.30.25. The wind has been constantly freshening record being Adele 11.30.10, Seneca 11.50.25. The wind has been constantly freshening and both boats heeled well out as they got its full force in running off, but Seneca stood up to it much better than Adele. As soon as the racers had been straightened for the buoy, the spinnaker and balloon jibs were set and Seneca rapidly closed up the gap Adele had made on the start, passing her rival within five minutes. Adele soon evened things up, however, and ten minutes later the boats were running even. The challenger acquitted herself so well that the Canadians hopefully looked forward to a win for their boat.

At 11.58 Seneca again forged slightly ahead, but Adele closed on her once more and for the next haif hour the race was a very close one, with the odds apparently in favor of the Canadian boat. Then the defender once more got the lead of her rival, but at 12.45 the wind went northwest and gave Adele the weather position. With this dyentoge in her favor With this dvantage in her favor the latter boat gained a respectable lead, but as they hauled on the wind with working jibs set to make the buoy Seneca began to overhaul the leader. Adele, rounded the buoy in the lead.

Leaving the buoy to starboard, both boats stood off on the port tack. Just here, however, Adele carried away her jib halyards and lost considerable time in hanging them. This gave the defender a great advantage. Typical Seneca Conditions. The wind which had been blowing a resh breeze up to this time, now began o die away and was about five miles an our. This made typical Seneca conditions and that boat speedily began to show by opening up a big gap between herself and her rival. Then at 2.30 the wind veered west and freshened consider-ably, enabling Adele to do much better work and she forged ahead well.

ce around the mark Jarvis took a t hitch on the starboard tack, and Seneca gybed around and laid off on the tack came back this port holding the tack came back this port holding the weather berth. Adele's lead didn't last long once Seneca got her on wind-ward work. Seneca stole right thru Adele's lee and aided by the dropping of Adele's jib, gained a leaf in the first two minutes. When the jib halyard gave way Skipper Jarvis had to luff Adele up, and before the damage was repaired After that it was a procession. Seneca stepped steadily away, outpointing and outfooting Adele, while the wind held about 7 or 8 miles an hour.

Seneca a Mile Ahead.

(By Associated Press.)
ROCHESTER, Aug. 12.—Skipper Hanan and his crew of the deferder, Seneca, drove another rivet into the fastenings that hold the Canada's Cup at the Rochester Yacht Club house, by sending Seneca over the finish line about a mile ahead of Adele this afternoon. It was the second of the series and both have gone to the Yankee defender; on Saturday, in a light breeze, that finally died down to a complete calm, and to-day in winds that varied from 8 to 12 miles an

Jarvis again got the windward position and the timers caught the challenger going past the line at 11.30. Five seconds later Hanan and the Seneca flashed over and they were off for a nine mile frolic before the wind. Almost straight out into the lake they went, Adele seemed so realize she was sailing towards home and was daring Seneca to catch her before she could get The dare was accepted and they rushed away so fast that the sailing craft

An interesting point cropped up in the Montreal-Capital game Saturday. Angus was hurt and Murphy went off. At the end of the 15 minutes, Angus was unable blehead, sailed part of the time with one reef in their mainsails, while the stiffer German yachts did not take in a reef during any part of the race. Owing to the heavy sea the American boats were continually taking water on board, which kept their crews busy bailing and pumping. It was estimated that the wind at times blew 30 miles an hour. by a win over the Skeeters by the score of 6 to 2, but it was not the victory the fans were talking about after the game it was the loss of the people's idol, John Thoney, from the game for perhaps the season. Thoney, in the eightn, had reached the initial corner on his infield hit, which, by the way, was the Leafs' fourteenth. Pfanmiller and Mcrritt had a busy time trying to catch the elusive John off first, and after about a dozen attempts, failed, but Thoney was not so lucky, for in silding head first to the bag he dislocated his shoulder, and his right one at that. Thoney, who had rolled off the bag in agony, was called out. However, willing hands got hold of his injured member, and, with the assistance of several doctors, his shoulder was set, but the chances are he will be out of the game for a long period.

Thoney's loss will be a bad blow to the Pets at this stage of the game, but it is just the kind of luck that has been following the Leafs around all summer.
