LEGISLATION CAN'T AID

Ald. Church Says Issue Must Be Fought Before Judge Winchester.

that there is no prospect of giving legislative relief for another year to the Yonge-street property owners, and Lusiness men of Yonge-street, who craim that their assessments are too high, is the opinion of Ald. Church, who is a leading authority in the city council on matters of provincial legiscouncil on matters of provincial legis-

And. Church says that when the present assessment act was passed four years ago, the government announced that it would stand for four years. He tried in 1906 to have amendments to the act inserted to exempt cities of 100,000 or over from being commelled to assess property according compelled to assess property according to its apparent selling value, as in smaller cities, and towns, but was turned down. Had it been otherwise the Yonge-street merchants need not was be because the dealers adding newable lamenting, he declares, adding that all that can be done this year is to go on with the appeals to Judge Winchester, and seek relief from the legislature later. The act now being reof four years ago.

The alderman contends that the speculative sales such as have been booming Yonge-street, should be taxed as they are in the United States, where culative purchasers have to make affidavits as to how the tenant and owner benefit, and their relationship before the sale is registered. As in the case of succession duties, the city and state get a slice of the sale price.

in reference to Ald. Hilton's proposal to have the police prevent employes on breakwater at the island; from working on Sunday, Alderman Church says the contractors are within their legal rights, owing, however, to the strong recling in Toronto against Sunday work, he suggests that the minister of public works should be asked to stop the practice so far as Toronto is

Despite an increased assessment totalling about 30 per cent., only 92 appeals by seventh ward ratepayers have reached the court of revision, pparently, the owners are philosophical, because of the lower tax rate,

The three pictures purchased by the city from the collection shown at this year's exhibition were turned over to Bell Telephone 146 143 the board of control by the mayor as vice-president. The paintings, "Nelson Boarding the San Josef," "Battle of Queenston Heights," and "Figure Study at the Window," will be hung in the city hall.

The city solicitor will report on the advisability of the city's asking the raftway commission to give a ruling as to whether the street railway has the right to collect an extra fare from a passenger who accidentally or thru ignorance transfers to a wrong car. A letter from R. W. King suggested this

The board of control refused H. R. Herne's application for a site for a "sailors' home," on the city's Bay-street wharf, on the principle that the city should not give away any of its water-front property. *

MORE INTEREST IN INVESTMENT ISSUES.

Tuesday Evening, Oct. 12. With New York closed, there was less activity at the Toronto Exchange to-day. The undertone to speculative stocks was none too buoyant, and some selling of Dominion Steel met an unsatisfactory market, the price declining over a point from yesterday. The listed Cobalts were stronger on a fair demand from investors. With less attraction to the speculative side of the exchange, more attention is being given to the actual investment issues. These were somewhat more active to-day, and bid prices indicated an underlying buying power which must be satisfactory to holders. HERBERT H. BALL.

Railway had been purchased for the Sovereign Bank by F. C. Jemmett, who some weeks ago.

The Sovereign Bank were bond holders in this proposition to the extent of $2,400,000, the total issue against the railway being $4,900,000. By the present purchase, the bank will become owners of the road at a cost of the first investment of $2,400,000, and the present purchase price of $600,000, a total of $2,000,000.

It could not be learned yesterday what the object of the bank in con-nection with the property was, but it is generally thought that the railway will be financed thru to a measure of completion, and then disposed of as going concern. Whether the bank will get its investment out of the enterprise remains to be seen. The railroad taps a rich min-eral district in which the Guggenheims of New York are strongly interested. The road was originally planned to run from Seward on the Alaska coast 460 miles north of Tanana River, 52 miles were in operation in 1907 and 60 aciditional miles award and construction.
