ST. ELEANOR'S.

The Rev. Dr. READ reports, that during the past year, he has kept up a close pastoral supervision of his parishioners, and administered the consolations of religion to the sick and the dying, directing them to that blessed Saviour through whom alone their sins can be pardoned and their souls prepared for the society of the perfected in heaven. The Bible Class has been well attended, and there appears an earnest desire among the young people to understand the Holy Scriptures. The congregations, five in number, attend well and regularly. Three full services are held on the Sabbath, which, with the supervision of the Schools, and travelling, impose much mental and bodily fatigue. Dr. Read has delivered 183 sermons and addresses during the year, which he prays may be as bread cast upon the waters—seed sown for that glorious harvest which angel reapers shall gather at the coming of the Lord.

NEW LONDON.

The Rev. WM. MEEK reports, that the interior fittings of the new church have been completed, at an expense of £30, only part of which has yet been paid. The church has still to be ceiled and plastered, and a porch, or probably a tower to be erected.

The services have been regularly conducted during the year, at both churches, and at five other stations. At Irish Town, the congregations have usually averaged 200, and at the Third Pond they have been more than the School room could comfortably accommodate. At other stations, they have been tolerably large, but fluctuating with the seasons and occupations of the people.
