Private Stocks Stored Elsewhere in the United States Will Be Seized.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Persons who have stored quantities of liquor for personal use only in storage warehouses, safe deposit vaults and other convenient places outside of their homes, were hard hit when the bureau of internal revenue issued an order to the effect that such liquor must be moved to the private residence of the owner not later than Jan. 17.

There is one alternative left open to persons who are unable to move the liquor from storage to their homes by Friday next, and that carries but little consolation. Until Jan. 27 permits may be obtained to sell the liquor which remains in storage after Jan. 17 for non-beverage purposes.

The problem of the man with a small apartment and a large stock of liquor in a storage warehouse, presents a situation which has both its humorous and pathetic side, according to the viewpoint taken. At any rate, the regulations issued by Commissioner Hoover are final, and the government intends to declare warehouses in which the liquor is found, public nuisances, and to seize the liquor if the regulations are violated.

The term "liquor" in this instance covers beers and wines as well as the beverages containing a higher percentage of alcohol. The regulations do not apply, of course, to government bonded warehouses, over which the government has supervision. Seizures are to begin Feb. 1.

Here is the summary of the regulations as issued by the bureau of internal revenue:

"Persons having in storage warehouses, safe deposit vaults, and other places, legally acquired intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, must remove such liquors to their private dwellings on or before Jan. 17, 1920, under a ruling issued by the bureau of internal revenue."

"Legally acquired liquor," is liquor bought prior to July 1, 1919.

"If liquors are found in storage warehouses or other places except private dwellings and government bonded warehouses after Feb. 1, 1920, and report of their possession has not been made to the bureau of internal revenue, such liquor will be subject to seizure and the places where they were stored may be declared a public and common nuisance."

"Proprietors of storage places where liquor is held subject to the orders of owners are required to make report of such liquor on or before Jan. 17, 1920. Failure of the owner to report it, nevertheless, will subject such liquor to seizure."

MOVIE MEN HIDE IN LOAD OF HAY TO FILM WILSON; FOILED.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Attempts of motion picture camera men to obtain photographs of President Wilson by using the method which resulted in pictures of the ex-Kaiser in his garden at Amerongen reaching the world were frustrated by White House secret service officers.

The camera men concealed themselves in a wagon load of hay, which was driven slowly by the White House while the president was on the lawn on his wheel chair. Before they could get their cameras into action, however, the secret service men stopped the wagon and investigated.

After the photographers had convinced the officers that they had not had time to make pictures they were allowed to go.

QUIT SMOKING, SAYS BISHOP

Declares Men of Canada Should Do So to Prevent Women Taking Up Habit.

Toronto, Jan. 15.—Bishop Reeve told an audience of 500 returned soldiers in the parish hall of St. Anne's church last night that the men of Canada might well give up smoking as an example to the women of the country.

"I have nothing to say against smoking," he said, "but what is going to become of this country when the women are beginning to smoke, as they are doing now, and when they dress as they are now doing at dances. You will have to give up smoking if you don't want your girls smoking, also your wives. The men will have to give up smoking in self-denial to set an example to the women."

The majority of the men present were smoking at the time the bishop was addressing them. They listened to him in respectful silence.

The Sugar Workers' Union met last evening with John Morrissey presiding and the meeting was adjourned to Sunday afternoon. Matters of interest were discussed.

ST. JOHN'S GREATEST MERCANTILE EVENT

Today Marks Beginning of Oak Hall's 31st Anniversary Sale—Great Throngs Prepared For.

The day has finally arrived for the beginning of Oak Hall's Annual Mid-winter Sale, marking their thirty first anniversary, an event now recognized as St. John's Greatest Mercantile Event.

No stone has been left unturned by Oak Hall to make this anniversary sale a greater success than any of its predecessors, and Oak Hall is confident of this result because of its adopted motto of Large Volume of Business at a Very Minimum of Profit, whereby they are enabled to sell at unusually low prices because of the enormous turnover.

In spite of the scarcity of good merchandise Oak Hall is continuing their policy of marking everything in their store at substantially reduced prices, along with many new lines that have been bought especially for this great event.

When people realize that next season's merchandise is costing, in many instances, more than the same goods are now marked, they will not hesitate to take full advantage of the unusual money-saving opportunities now offered.

THE GYPSY. I've auctioned off the furniture And bought a gypsy van With flowered curtains at the sides, A pot and frying pan. Two quilts to keep me warm at night When winds are blowing cold. A crimson kerchief for my head, And dangling hoops of gold. I'm off to take the open road That leads so far and free, To spots where I can camp at will Beneath the greenwood tree, And cook my evening meal in peace, And pitch my little tent, And have no landlord come around To raise the monthly rent. HUNDREDS FLOCKING TO CITY. The great run of traffic from Carleton and Fairville lately has been thought due to the low prices mentioned in the King Square Sales Company's advertising. The leather mittens, men's working shirts, caps, rubbers all sell at wholesale. A dandy line of felt slippers, too late for Christmas trade, is being sold lower than present wholesale prices. Other values worthy of your attention in men's, women's and children's suits, overcoats and clothing. Opposite the market.

People Who Write, But Can't Read. A witness in a case at Ashby-de-la-Zouch was found to be suffering from the strange affection called "dyslexia." Though able to write and spell perfectly, he could not read. This applied not only to printed matter, but even to what he had written himself.

There are several similar diseases, all of which are very peculiar. In "aphasia" the patient is unable to explain his thoughts by means of speech. It is a most painful business, for the sufferer tries desperately to talk but never gets hold of one correct word. For instance, if he means to say: "How do you do?" he may say, as in an actual instance, "I throw me out of window."

Sometimes he can form sentences, sometimes the words he utters are a mere meaningless jumble. The worst of it is that he knows perfectly well what he wants to say. It is not as if he were off his head. The "lesion," or weakness, affects only one particular portion of the brain.

A third form is "agraphia," or the inability to write. The sufferer is very often a person who has done a deal of writing and the blow falls quite suddenly. He can read as well as ever, but when he puts pen to paper he cannot form a single letter, let alone a word or sentence.—Pearson's Weekly.

Mrs. Flathush—"So your husband went to church with you?" Mrs. Benborough—"Yes, he did." "What was the minister's sermon about?" "Charity toward all." "And did your husband derive any benefit from the discourse?" "Well, I'll say he did, for when the preacher asked him what he thought of the sermon my husband refrained from replying."—Yonkers Statesman.

LONDON'S NEW TUBE DEVICE. As a Train Nears a Station, Name Appears on Car Ceilings.

To relieve congestion and aid passengers by making it possible for them to see what station they are approaching a new plan for announcing or indicating stations on the street and underground railway lines in London has been worked out. The London Metropolitan Railroad has arranged to put into operation on its lines an electrical device by means of which stations are indicated in each passenger car.
