Paris Bandits Set Fire to Papers When They Found Game Was Up

ONE COMMITTED SUICIDE

This is Opinion of Police Doctor After an Autopsy—Garnier an Anarchist Because He Hated Work—Vallet Had Police Picture Gallery

(Canadian Press) Paris, May 25.—That the Garriers, the leader of the automobile bandits, died by his own hand, is the opinion of Doctor Paul of the prefecture of the police, who performed an autopsy. The death wound, according to the medical expert, was caused by a bullet fired point blank at very close range, which entered the right temple and passed completely through the head.

Two note books, belonging to Garnier and Vallet were found. Garnier appeared to be in the habit of making entries in his journal daily. Among other things he explains that he became an anarchist because he hated work, which he writes, "one of the forms of capitalist exploitation."

DO WELL IN THEIR CANVASS OF BUSINESS MEN OF THE CITY

The canvass of the city to raise funds for the expenses of the Back to New Brunswick week commenced this morning at a meeting with very fair success. The subscription committee met at the board of trade rooms, at nine o'clock before starting out on their rounds and met again at Bond's restaurant at five o'clock for lunch.

SEVERAL RECEIVED BURNS IN THE KING SQUARE HOTEL FIRE

One Man Down Rope Fire Escape to Street—Loss and Insurance

It is thought that the damage done by the fire in the Brunswick Hotel in King Square early this morning will amount to more than $1,000. The roof and the rooms on the upper part of the house have been gutted. The room where the fire started was completely destroyed. It was occupied by a man named Hepden, who was sitting by the window smoking a pipe when the fire started. It is thought that a spark from the pipe may have ignited the curtains. In trying to extinguish the fire he had his face and head badly burned. He intended to go to Newcastle last night but had decided to wait until this morning. All his goods in the room were burned.

Miss Smith, William Thorne and Robert Munford, all boarders in the house, were also burned about the head in escaping from the burning building. They had rooms on the top floor and when they were awakened the fire had gained considerable headway. In escaping down the stairs they were burned. One man escaped by sliding down a rope fire escape, and so doing fell through an awning. He escaped unhurt. Richard Hoy, the young son of Mrs. J. R. Hoy, the proprietress of the house, is lying in hospital with an attack of pneumonia and was in one of the rooms near where the fire started. He was removed to a nearby home for safety. Mrs. Hoy had no insurance on her furniture.

ENGLAND LOOKS TO DOMINIIONS FOR AID

Motherland to Maintain Sea Supremacy Against All Comers at Decisive Points and Over Seas Dominions to Guard and Patrol Rest of Empire

(Canadian Press)

London, May 16.—The first lord of the admiralty, Lord Winston Churchill, speaking at a banquet of the Shipwrights' Company, last night, referred to the naval development in recent years as a growth in home waters which, combined with the enormous development of foreign navies, had resulted in a sensible restriction of the mobility of the British navy. He appealed to the overseas dominions to remedy this defect.

Mr. Churchill believed that the main naval development in the coming decade would be found in the growth of the colonial navies, so that, while the British navy maintained the sea supremacy against all comers, at decisive points, the dominion states should guard and patrol all the rest of the empire.

"The policy of naval construction which lately has been brought to its final act, has given a real measure of security to the heart of the empire," said Mr. Churchill. "The fact that the British navy has concentrated at decisive points, the dominion states create a ship wall, a new and a new opportunity for the self-governing dominions. We should always be in a position to overcome the strongest combination of powers that we are likely to meet in the future."

Another guard of honor was drawn up in front of the cathedral at five o'clock, and the royal yacht Dannebrog, conveyed by a warship, will convey the body to Copenhagen.

His Majesty's last afternoon was spent in a characteristically informal visit with his three children to Hagenbeck's famous Zoo. He was as interested as the others, and condoned with Hagenbeck on signs which the latter showed of a recent illness. The king declared that he was feeling exceptionally well, and thought himself good for many years yet. But, he added, "At our age, we must be thankful for every additional day mercifully granted us."

GIVEN COAT OF TAR AND FEATHERS

Manager of Emma Goldman, Anarchist, is Also Branded—She is Escorted Out of Town

San Diego, Cal., May 16.—Emma Goldman, anarchist leader, and Ben B. Reitman, her manager, were safe in Los Angeles yesterday. Reitman was taken from his apartment in a local hotel on Tuesday night by armed vigilantes. It was reported yesterday that Goldman, who had been placed in a rooming house, was escorted to the city. There he was given, it is said, a coat of tar and feathers, and the letters I. W. W. (Industrial Workers of World), burned on his back, with a lighted cigar. He was left with his railroad ticket and money, but virtually no clothes.
