BEULAH CAMP, July 1 .- The Reformed Baptist Alliance held a session at 8 a. m. today for the transaction of business. The matter of the breaking into of the cottages during the year was before the meeting for discussion. A committee was appointed to ascertain by conference with those who suffered by depredations what amount of damage was done, with a view to prosecuting the guilty parties.

A very large number of people visited the grounds today by steamers Star and David Weston. The services in the tabernacle were all of devotional character and were well attended. Rev. H. F. Reynolds was the principal speaker.

SAD DROWNING.

NEW YORK, July 6.-The wife of Captain Tiemann N. Horn of the 95th Company, Seacoast Artillery, his daughter Frances, aged 7, and Miss Ailce McMahon of Nyack, were drowned in Sandy Hook har today. Captain Horn is stationed at Fort Hancock, on Sandy Heok.

Captain Horn had made up a sailing party to go out on the bay in his small catriged yacht Midget. Those aboard were, in addition to the captain, Mrs. Horn with their two children; Miss Horn, a sister; Dr. Waterhouse, his wife, and Miss Alice McMahon, a sister of Mrs. Waterhouse.

A strong puff of wind caused the little vessel to capsize. Captain Horn and Tr. Waterhouse made every effort to save the women and children, but a strong ebb tide quickly swept them beyond reach and before and other help could be had, Mrs. Horn, Frances and Miss McMahon were drowned. The others clung to the mast of the yacht for about 15 minutes until a sailboat rescued Mrs. Waterhouse. At the same time a launch rescued Captain Horn, his baby boy, Miss Horn and Dr. Waterhouse.

ROME, July 6.—All the members of the American College at Rome were present this evening at the fetes held at the Vatican in celebration of the Pope's jubilee in honor of the 24th anniversary of his coronation. The entire papal court and thousands of members of all the Catholic societies represented in Rome assembled at 6 o'clock this evening in the great Belvidere court of the Vatican and paid homage. The Pope ocupied an especially constructed and richly adorned gallery. He was greeted with enthusiastic acclamations and the band played the Pontificial march as he entered. A chorus was sung by a choir of several hundred pupils from the clerical schools in Rome. The Watican officials, a number of ladies and the members of the diplomatic corps witnessed the scene from the windows overlooking the court.

The fete was brought to a close by the Pope pronouncing a pontifical blessing, after which he was again acclaimed. A great flock of pigeons sent to Rome from all the chief towns of Italy was then released and flew off to their homes, each bearing an announcement that the ceremonies had taken place.

Forty-Six Million Dollars' Worth of Exports Handled by Other Ports Through Lack of Dominion Facilities.

ames Oborne, General Superintendent of the Atlantic Division of the C. P. R., on the Needs of St. John as a Winter Port.

(Montreal Witness, 4th.) The various governments of the doinion have not been slack to provide transportation facilities as development has proceeded, but there has been a singular indifference to the problem of the export trade—an in-difference which may be illustrated by the fact that there are forty-six million dollars' worth of exports which are handled at foreign ports a business which the dominion should do and which it could do, if the dominon government were as fully alive to the needs of the situation as it should be, in the estimation of business men. Sir William Van Horne has often said that the government had provided a great hopper into which the products of the country were dumped, but it had done little or nothing to ensure that these products should leave the

James Oborne, general superintendent of the C. P. R. at St. John, N. B., has large views on this subject of the export trade of the dominion, which is greatly crippled for lack of those facilities which the government, he contends, should provide. For instance, as Mr. Oborne, who is in town, pointed out today, take the case o St. John. The people and the C. P. R had demonstrated that this was the winter port of Canada. To set forth this fact the city had spent over a million dollars. The company had also spent a great deal of money in the way of development. Having taken the initial steps, he thought it remained for the government to step in and carry forward the work, not for the needs of today, but for the needs of many years to come. Development was proceeding at a rapid pace in Canada. Any plan of development based on national lines should contemplate the future, as any plan which the C. P. R. touched always did. That is to say, the C. P. R. al-ways obtained a finished plan, although it might not realize the fin-ished plan at pnce. So it was with St. John. There had been a certain amount of development done at pri-vate expense, but the possibilities were too great for private enterprise t tween Portland and St. John had to be considered when one thought of private outlay in the connection. Owing to the longer distance of St. John, and the difficulties under which transportation companies labored, it was manifestly a case for the help of sedentary life. It improves the appe-tite, insures good digestion, regulates the dominion government. The Hon. Mr. Tarte was clearly of this opinion, the bowels, and helps the stomach to spend liberally in making St. John the great winter port of Canada, if the people of the whole country would only support him. Mr. Oborne had a plan of extension in his mind, which included double story freight shedsthe imports below and the exports above, which would make it easy would be lying closer by. That was in fancy, for the present but the government was seized of the mportance of the question, which had me an acute one, in view of the fact that, at present, owing to our slackness we were really building up foreign interests. He did not think the Americans were in the habit of building up Canada, unless, indeed, they came to reside in it, and he did not see why Canada should be particularly anxious to build up the United States as she was undoubtedly doing, through the non-use of the opportunities which were within her reach. That forty miliollars' worth of products which found their way to foreign ports could be handled by our own people at our own ports, if only proper facilities were provided. The question was urgent. He trusted that something would be done. eved the Hon. Mr. Tarte had the right idea of the question, which presses for solution. The great thing was to arouse public opinion on the subject. If private enterprise put its hand to the business there would have to be such shipping charges as would frighten trade away, and, of course competition would be out of the question when you had free ports opposed to you. No; the government should come forward with a well-defined plan of assistance and extension, to meet the growing needs of the export trade, a
