Our Shriners in Los Angeles. The Standard received a night letter last night from Los Angeles, California, announcing the safe arrival at that place of the delegation of Lator Temple Shriners, who will represent St. John at the great convention of shriners. The delegates, according to their report, are enjoying an assortment of weather conditions. On Friday the thermometer danced around the 80 mark; on Saturday the shriners were afforded an opportunity to sample the variety of snow that section boasts. The weather man, however, being kindly disposed towards them, changed his mind again last night and has promised them warm weather for their convention.

At The Every Day Club. There was a large attendance at the meeting held in the Every Day Club last evening and the speaker was Rev. Robert Smart, who took for his subject "Real Religion." The speaker said that real religion was found outside of the church as well as within. Whenever a man goes down to people who are in need and gives them something of his own life there you find real religion. He urged the people to give their thoughts to their own personal salvation and more to the uplifting of others. Religion, he said, was not merely in the worship of hymns and the repeating of creeds, however good they might be, but a life lived in real helpful service. Rev. Mr. Smart was listened to attentively by the large congregation present.

W. BURTON STEWART SAYS ESTABLISHMENT OF STEEL PLANT HERE IS PROBABLE

Managing Director of Norton Griffiths Company Speaks of Important Industry which May be Expected to Come to St. John—Question of Site was His Chief One.

That the Norton Griffiths Company have practically completed arrangements for starting work at Courtenay Bay within a very few days now, was the message brought by W. Burton Stewart, who arrived in the city on Saturday. "Quite a number of the members of our staff are expected here in a few days," he added. "We have secured temporary offices and will build a number of houses for the accommodation of the staff and for our workmen. How many men do you expect to have employed here this summer?" Mr. Stewart was asked. "I'm afraid I can't tell you that. Beyond rushing the construction of the breaker, we won't do much this summer, except in the way of making arrangements to facilitate the work we will undertake next year." "Anything new as regards the location of the breaker?" "No. I hear the government has decided to keep to the plan prepared by its engineers, though I understand there is some feeling among the business men here that the question of locating the breaker should be given more consideration."

HOSPITAL DOCTORS WERE QUICK TO ACT

Smallpox Scare Caused "Closed Door" at General Public Hospital Yesterday — Dr. Malcolm Acted Wisely.

Visitors to the general public hospital yesterday afternoon, were surprised to find on the front door of that institution a card notifying them that there was no admission. As this was unusual for Sunday afternoon, when patients in the hospital are permitted to receive their friends, the disappointed ones grumbled something about red tape, and went on their way without learning the reason for the notice. They did not know that at that time there were times in the hospital, and that Dr. Malcolm and staff acted wisely in denying admission to all callers. Yesterday a patient from St. Andrews was taken to the hospital with a suspicious looking eruption on his skin. The eruption was not noticed until one of the doctors examined him and at once there was a fear that he might be suffering from smallpox as the eruption bore some similarity to smallpox marks. The man was at once sent to the isolation hospital and everyone who had been brought in contact with him was vaccinated and every article used in caring for him deemed advisable to exclude visitors until any possible danger of contagion was passed. Dr. D. C. Malcolm when asked about the case last evening, verified the story and said that he did not think there was any smallpox, but that it is a view which will, no doubt, be heartily endorsed by the public at large. The name of the patient suspected of the disease was Thomas Foster.

CITY COUNCIL HOLDS LAST MEETING TODAY

Some of the Aldermen May Wax Eloquent in Farewell but there is Little Important Business.

The last meeting of the common council will be held today, and tomorrow the new commissioners will be sworn in and take charge of the city, and show the citizens how they ought to be governed. There is considerable routine business to be dealt with by the expiring council, but little of a nature likely to tempt the aldermen to longwinded speeches, as they have no further occasion to talk with a view to impressing the public. It is expected that the business before the meeting is disposed of there will be some eloquent orations, as Alderman McDermott, who has sat at the council for over a quarter of a century, hopes to have time to pronounce his valedictory, and others will probably have something to say. Quite a number of recommendations by the Safety Board to sell city lands will come up for consideration. The Water and Sewerage Board is recommending a number of important extensions to the growth of the city; and the Ferry committee is asking that the salary of the mates on the ferries be increased $10 a month. Some important matters which have been hanging fire will, it is expected, be left over for the new commission to settle. Among these is the question of whether the Atlantic Sugar Refinery Company shall be given an extension of time in which to carry out their promises of erecting a sugar refinery at the Ballast wharf, or whether the agreement shall be rescinded and the property given to Messrs. McAvilly, who are looking for a site to enlarge their plant. The committee appointed to confer with Mr. Guernsey in regard to the conditions of the sale of the Green Head property have been unable to arrange a meeting with him, and this matter will probably be left to the commission to deal with. As yet there has been no caucus of the new rulers of the city to decide upon the distribution of the departments, but it is believed that the forecast already made is correct. It is not expected that inauguration of the new government will be marked with much ceremony.

FELL BETWEEN FERRY BOAT AND THE FLOATS

Young West End Man Had Narrow Escape from Drowning in the Harbor on Saturday Night.

When the ferry steamer Governor Carleton arrived in the West Side dock Saturday night, about 8.50 o'clock there was great excitement and a young man named Campbell, residing in the West End, had a very narrow escape from death. There were many passengers on the steamer and when the boat struck the floats she rebounded a couple of feet. Only one side of the steamer had been made fast to the floats, and this left a large opening between the floats and the boats on the side which was not noticed. The gates were opened to allow the passengers ashore and, not seeing the space between the boat and the floats, young Campbell fell into the opening. He grasped the edge of the floats and as there was great danger of his being crushed to death if the boat had forged ahead against the floats, there were cries for him to drop into the water, which he did. The cooler heads in the crowd, including one of the deck hands, lowered a plank to the man in the water which he caught hold of and in a short time he was pulled up to safety. It was noticeable yesterday that before the passengers were allowed to leave the steamer, she was securely fastened on both sides and was close up to the floats.

KEEPING KITCHEN COOL IN SUMMER

Another of the Advantages to be Secured by the Use of Dollar Gas for Cooking.

Of timely interest is the subject of the "Cool Summer Kitchen," with its Saving of Labor and Expense, which will be discussed and illustrated by Miss Daisy K. Gayton at the free demonstration of the advantages of One Dollar Gas, to be given tomorrow afternoon, from 2 until 5 o'clock, in the showrooms of the St. John Railway Co. Another matter of special importance to housewives is dealt with in the One Dollar Gas advertisement which appears on page two of this paper.

Mercantile Bargain at Trinity.

At the services in Trinity church yesterday the preacher was Rev. Allen Shastford of Montreal, who is visiting in the city. Rev. Mr. Shastford delivered eloquent and scholarly sermons, which were appreciated by large congregations. At the morning service he dwelt on the two great needs of man, namely, to have religious powers from on high, and to exercise these in the service of mankind. In the evening his subject was "Faith and Machinery." In the treatment of which the preacher pointed out that the need of the world is not organization of machinery, or of money, but that men of religious power and enthusiasm are required.
