

FRANCE'S FIGHTING TURCOS FROM MOROCCO ARRIVING ON THE BATTLE LINE.

ARRIVAL OF TROOPS FROM MOROCCO AT AMIENS
The Turcos from Morocco are demonstrating their ability to uphold the honor of the French flag. This photograph shows their arrival at the battle front. The queer little carts, drawn by mules, are surely something extraordinary in the way of transportation during war time.

SCOUTING AEROPLANES ARE A GREAT AID TO GERMAN ARMY

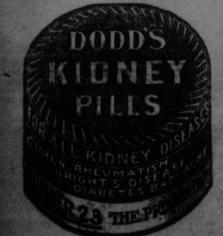

AEROPLANE SCOUTS DELIVERING MESSAGES TO GERMAN STAFF

In the above illustration is shown German soldiers taking messages from an aeroplane, which shows that one of the most striking changes which has arisen in tactical methods in the present struggle has been the combination between the aerial and artillery arms in the German army. The assistance which the aeroplane has given to the gunners in enabling them to find the exact range of the hostile trenches has been remarkable. By day the German aeroplanes have clearly hovered over the hostile lines and have indicated to the batteries the most vulnerable positions of the hostile trenches. At night time the German aeroplanes have been fitted up with a small portable searchlight, by means of which the enemy's trenches have been clearly visible, whilst at the same time small bursting charges have also been dropped into the trenches. These flare up and burn for several minutes, and so help the German batteries to range at night with more or less accuracy. The officer pilots of the German Flying Corps greatly prefer the Taube monoplane to the Albatross and other biplanes, which they chiefly use for work with the artillery arm, as they are so much more stable and mobile. The German aviators consider themselves out of danger of hostile fire at a range of 2,000 feet, but as so many of them have been brought down in the recent fighting it is very doubtful if they are immune from fire at anything like that height.

CASE GOES AGAINST THE THIEL DETECTIVES.

Special to The Standard.
Montreal, Oct. 19.—The law suit instituted by E. R. Carrington, head of the Thiel Detective Agency, against Austin Mosher of the Montreal Star in connection with the publication and sending out of despatches concerning the noted case of David Russell versus the Thiel Detectives, ended today when Justice Archibald, Weir and Beaudin gave their decision unanimously in favor of Mosher. The case had been decided in Mosher's favor in the lower court but an appeal was made with the result as stated above.

LIFE BELTS FOR THE BRITISH SAILORS

London, Oct. 19, 8.50 p. m.—That the Admiralty is fully alive to the necessity of providing a means for the crews of warships that strike mines, or are torpedoed by submarines, to escape drowning, since other warships are prohibited going to their assistance, is shown by the announcement today that the Admiralty is arranging for a general supply of swimming collars, to be distributed to the officers and men of the fleet. The men are instructed that the collar shall be carried on their person when they are awake, and kept inflated and near each individual when he is asleep.

RACE MONEY.

Sydney, Australia, Oct. 19.—Figures compiled by the Sydney Mail show that the money won in stakes during the recent turf season amounted to $3,589,250. Ten thousand races were held, the winning horses numbering 4,482.

SUSPEND PAYMENT.

London, Oct. 19.—The moratorium for bills expired on Saturday. This morning five companies suspended payment, and had receivers appointed, including Canadian Pacific Lumber Company and the Brazil and Central Paraguay Railway Company.

Good Sleep Good Health

Exhausted Nerves Were Fully Restored by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

When the nerve force expended in the day's work and in the act of living is not replenished by restful sleep at night, you have cause to be alarmed, as physical bankruptcy stares you in the face. This letter directs you to the most satisfactory cure for sleeplessness.
Mr. Dennis Mackin, Marston, Sask., writes:—"I have just finished using the sixth box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I must say that when I commenced using it my nerves were so bad that I would lie in bed nearly all night without sleep, and anyone who has this trouble knows the misery of sleepless nights. The Nerve Food helped me from the start, and has built up my nervous system wonderfully. I now enjoy good, sound sleep, and instead of feeling tired in the morning I am strong and healthy, and well fitted for my daily work."
Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six for $2.50; all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

GREATER GUNS.

The Hague, Oct. 19.—To the rumors that the Krupp works at Essen are building 16-centimeter guns, has now been added another—the claim that the same plant is turning out sixty-centimeter pieces. While it is hard to believe this, it must be borne in mind that a siege piece of 42-centimeters, the existence of which was doubted before the war, has become a convincing reality.

ITALY TAKES STEPS TO ENSURE HER FOOD

Rome, Italy, Oct. 19, 2.45 p. m.—In view of the situation resulting from the war, King Victor Emmanuel has signed a decree reducing the import duties on cereals during the period from October 20 to March 31, 1915. The reductions which are based on the quintal (the equivalent of 220.4 pounds avoirdupois), will be as follows: Wheat from $1.50 to $1.60; corn $2.25 to $3.10; rye, $3.90 to $4.40; oats, $3.80 to $4.40; flour, $2.25 to $1.95, and corn flour from $1.65 to $1.20.
Italy imports annually six million tons of wheat, the greater portion coming from Russia and Roumania. About forty-three thousand tons of wheat is received yearly from the United States.

STREET REPAIRS.

Commissioner Potts has arranged for repairs to City Road and streets in the vicinity of Haymarket Square. During the summer there had been general complaint about the condition of these roads but on account of the small appropriation for street work little could be done. Since the council granted $30,000 for the public works department to provide work during the winter, Commissioner Potts decided to repair these streets at once. It is his intention to have the holes in the roadways filled with broken stone and asphalt so that the material will not be easily displaced by the passing of heavy vehicles. The work will be started this morning.

FRENCH NAVAL VICTORY.

London, Oct. 19, 11.25 p. m.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Rome says advices received in the Italian capital from Ostia, Montenegro, state that the Austrian fleet in the harbor of Cattaro, Dalmatia, attempted to escape Sunday and break through the French fleet blockading the port. The despatch adds that the Austrians were promptly driven back into the harbor.

SUMMONED TO COLORS.

New York, Oct. 19.—France has summoned to the colors Henry Goiran French consul here, and Paul Moraschini, an attaché of the consulate. They expect to sail next Saturday on La Touraine for Havre.
It was stated at the French consulate today that six thousand French reservists had sailed from New Orleans, Quebec, New York and other ports up to last Saturday night.

CRABAPPLE JELLY

Crabapples make a most delicious jelly which has only to be tasted once to be proclaimed thoroughly delectable. The wild apples should be gathered while firm and fresh, but not quite ripe enough to fall from the trees. Each one should be wiped with a damp cloth to cleanse them. They should then be weighed and put in a big preserving pan with one pint of water to every pound and a half of fruit. Let them boil till quite tender, then strain through a colander, using a flat wooden spoon to pulp them through. When the liquid is extracted measure it and to each pint allow three-quarters of a pound of sugar. Cook juice and sugar together, boiling for 20 minutes. Remove the scum and pour the jelly into small pots. It is very nice eaten by itself as jam, but can be used for parishing, as it is of a pretty red color. It is also excellent with roast mutton or game, and makes a capital substitute for red currant jelly.
Crabapples in syrup is a very pretty dessert dish, and although the apples take some time to prepare, they are worth doing, especially as they keep some time when bottled.
The syrup must be made with two parts sugar to one of water, the ingredients being brought to the boil and allowed to cook gently till a fairly strong thread can be made by dipping the fingers in the syrup and pulling a little. When the syrup is ready, drop in the crabapples and bring gently to the boil; remove the pan from the fire, skim off the scum, lift out the rind, put into an earthenware pan and cover with the syrup. Let the fruit soak or 24 hours. Now drain off the syrup, add a little more sugar and water and repeat the process. Do this at intervals of 24 hours till the syrup turns to a pink jelly and the crabapples are saturated to the core with sugar. They must be handled very carefully so as not to break the skins. The crabapples can be used at once or bottled and used as required.

IMPERIAL-Five Hits

- Hit No. 1 JOHNSTON & CRANE, the Merry Broadwayites, who danced and sang right into the hearts of St. John. An exceedingly smart big-city act with society dancing.
- Hit No. 2 OUR SOLDIER BOYS at Valcartier. Grand review by the Duke of Connaught. Then they break camp and start for the long lines of steamers at Old Quebec.
- Hit No. 3 ALICE JOYCE in splendid two-part drama entitled "The Brand." The fire scenes and exciting escapes in this will make you sit up straight.
- Hit No. 4 MARY PICKFORD gets into an awful scrape with an escaped convict who makes her dash off in her automobile. The chase then ensues is a hair-raiser.
- Hit No. 5 W. L. COCKBURN, the Scot, still has them going. He is singing "The Boys of The Old Brigade" and is telling funny Highland yarns. A good clean act.

BRITISH TARS TO GET AT

"British ships came rushing began the engagement an enough", says London P Dutch coast.

London, Oct. 19.—The Post has published a despatch from Harwich dated Sunday, Oct. 18, on the return to port of the British warships which vanquished four German torpedo boats in the North Sea last Saturday. The despatch follows:
"Bearing their battle honors proudly the cruiser Undaunted this afternoon led into Harwich from the North Sea, the destroyers which participated in the engagement last Saturday, the result of which was the sinking of four German destroyers. The spectacle ashore and afloat was a moving one. Sailors, soldiers and civilians swarmed on to the pier and points of vantage, cheering the victory as did the crews of the Fearless, which was in the Heligoland fight and other vessels.

"Interviews with the crew of the Undaunted show that this vessel, together with four British torpedo boat destroyers, left Harwich early Saturday morning, and sighted the German man-of-war the enemy was forced to the odds bravely. With her big guns the Undaunted opened fire at a range of five miles. Then the smaller vessels closed in and became busy.
"Then began a running fight. While

Germany Did England would

If Kaiser Had Had an Idea that Says Traveller, the Neutral Have Been Violated.

If Germany had known that the invasion of Belgium would involve her in a war with England, that country's neutrality would not have been violated, according to the manager in Germany of a great steel company, who returned to this country from Hamburg recently. When it became apparent that England was going to fight, he says, officers of the general staff told him that the government contemplated retiring the troops then before Liege. They were only prevented, he said, through fear of its effect on the national spirit.
For a year, this official said, he has known that war was bound speedily to come. Taxes and sacrifices, he said, bore so heavily on the people that there were no funds for civic purposes, and needed improvements in all districts and municipalities were neglected that war munitions might be purchased.
Through his close association with high government officials he was made aware of the fact that Germany felt that war must come immediately. In two years, he said, Russia and France would have been as perfectly equipped as Germany, and the latter country would have been overwhelmed.

"I have spent seven years in that country," the official said, "and each year it has seemed to me, I have learned to like the Germans less, although I started out as one of the staunchest friends of the country. The spirit of militarism and autocracy, however, has made the average German an almost impossible person, and this war, for sake of humanity, must end militarism forever."
"The spirit there is wonderful.
