Planting Trees for Fuel

With the exception of setting out trees for shelter and ornament practically nothing has been done in the way of tree-planting on the prairies of Canada for producing wood material. The question of economic tree culture has not yet received sufficient attention to furnish enough absolutely reliable data upon which to base reliable conclusions. There seems to be little doubt, however, that tree-planting would pay in many cases. There are on almost any farm certain portions of land which are not utilized for grain-growing, and which, if pastured, do not really give the returns they should do. Low spots difficult to drain, rough, stony places, steep banks of coulees, and odd corners cut off from the large fields by water holes or creeks, are left idle, as they are too small to make it profitable to
