BYRAN PRIESTMAN MEMORIAL LECTURSHIP TO BE INAUGURATED AT U. N. B. SOMETIME IN JANUARY

On Nov. 11, 1945, Dr. Bryan Priestman, professor of physics at the University of New Brunswick, was drowned while trying to save the life of a small boy who had fallen into the Saint John River at Fredericton. It has been announced that a lecture series to be known as the Bryan Priestman Memorial Lectures will be inaugurated at the university sometime next January in memory of the heroic professor.

The first lectures will be delivered by an outstanding American scientist, Dr. Harlow Shapley, director of the Harvard Observatory and Paine Professor of Astronomy at Harvard University.

In making these announcements, Dr. Trueman recalled that the idea of a memorial lectureship had been adopted soon after the tragedy, and that a fund had been started out of which the 1952 lectures will be financed.

In accordance with the original plan Dr. Shapley will give three formal lectures, the first an illustrated public address in Teachers' College Auditorium, the second a general lecture to all students and faculty of the university in Memorial Hall, and the third a scholarly discussion for students and faculty in subjects allied to his own field.

It is hoped that the lectures can be made an annual event.
