

your talents & capacities, but individual egoism. down, honest work & self-sacrifice. You have progressed ahead of them naturally, but success is largely due to your fine character & principles that have carried you through, & me, many a hard time. I am glad that, in some ways, I know you so well, for it helps an hour upon myself to count you as a friend. I wish very much I could have seen you at the movement - to see Howard doing you know would have been a I'd rather like to think you did, as once before, but don't believe you had time for it.

Of course I felt sure you'd win your Harvard Ph.D. just as you have climbed to the top of the political ladder - but I do congratulate you most warmly. I can't repeat, that I've said before, that all your many very remarkable successes are more than merited since, with you, they each & one not only represent Heaven
