

Secret of Mysterious Power Revealed at Last

How Prominent People Have Gained Wealth and Popularity.

Famous Hypnotist Perfects Simple Method That Enables Anyone to Control Thoughts and Acts of Others, Cure Disease and Habits Without Drugs, and Read the Secret Desires of People Through Thousands of Miles Away.

Wonderful Book Describing This Strange Force and a Character Delineation Post Free to All Who Write at Once.

The National Institute of Sciences has appropriated $250,000 toward a fund for the development of Prof. Knowles' new book, "The Key to the Development of the Inner Forces." This book lays bare many astounding facts concerning the practices of Eastern light and explains a wonderful system for the development of personal magnetism, hypnotic and telepathic powers, and the curing of disease and habits without drugs. The subject is practical, character reading is also extensively dealt with, and the author describes a simple method of accurately reading the secret thoughts and desires of others through thousands of miles away. The most endless stream of letters requesting copies of the book and character delineation is indicative of the universal interest in the psychological and occult sciences.

"Rich and poor alike benefit by the teachings of this new system," says Prof. Knowles, "and the person who wishes to achieve greater success has but to apply the simple rules laid down." That many wealthy and prominent people owe their success to the power of personal influence there is not the slightest doubt, but the great mass of people have remained in utter ignorance of these phenomena. The National Institute of Sciences has therefore undertaken the somewhat arduous task of distributing broadsheet, without regard for class or creed, the information heretofore possessed by the few. In addition to supplying the books free, each person who writes at once will also receive a character delineation of from 400 to 500 words as prepared by Prof. Knowles' book and a copy of Prof. Knowles' book and a Character Delineation, simply copy the following form in your own handwriting:

"I want power of mind, Force and strength in my work, Please send me your letter to—"

Also send your full name and address (state whether Mr., Mrs., or Miss), write plainly and address your letter to—
National Institute of Sciences, Dept. 1513, No. 258 Westminster Bridge-road, London S.W. Eng. If you wish you may enclose stamps of your own country to pay postage.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The regular monthly meeting of the Grand View-Terrace Hill Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Easscott, Grand View, on Wednesday, 18th inst., when a large company of ladies gathered to enjoy a well-prepared program, the chair being occupied by the president, Mrs. W. F. Bayless. The meeting opened by all joining in singing the doxology, then repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison, this form of opening being the one used by the pioneer W. I. A beautiful solo was then rendered by Miss Cornelius, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," in her usual sweet voice, and much enjoyed.

Mrs. G. F. Wood then gave a talk, her theme being "Florence Nightingale," fully describing the life-work of the first nurse in a public sphere, showing her to be, as she was called by many suffering ones that she ministered to, "the Angel of Light," passing along so softly on her mission of mercy and true womanliness, who surely went about doing good. All present felt heartily thankful to Mrs. Wood for her beautiful portrayal of this never-to-be-forgotten life.

A solo was then given by Miss Cornelius, "Rock of Ages," and was heartily received.

Mrs. James Arnold gave a talk on "Canning and Preserving Fruit," bringing forward many valuable suggestions and rules, which was followed by some discussion, as these topics always appeal to the thrifty housewife, who is ever ready to give and receive any new points that will tend to lessen labor and improve methods.

The motto of the branch was then read by all, as follows: "To inculcate the spirit of true and loyal friendship; to be kind and helpful and not critical of others' faults; to make our daily life worth while to the other person, and to practice as well as preach our motto."

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. James McEwan, 146 Terrace Hill.

The second meeting of this new branch closed with all joining heartily in singing the national anthem.

Live it Down.
"Has your life a bitter sorrow? Live it down.
Think about a bright to-morrow, Live it down,
You will find it never pays Just to sit, wet-eyed and gaze On the grave of vanished days, Live it down."

Is disgrace your galling burden Live it down.
You can win a brave heart's guerdon, Live it down.

Make your life so free of blame, That the best of your fame Shall hide all the olden shame, Live it down.

Has your heart a secret trouble? Live it down.
Useless griefs will make it double, Live it down.

Do not water it with tears, Do not feed it with your fears, Do not nurse it through the years, Live it down.

Have you made some awful error? Live it down.
Do not hide your face in terror, Live it down.

Look the world square in the eyes, Go ahead as one who tries To be honored ere he dies, Live it down.

An event of much interest in England is the official part the Prince of Wales will take this summer for the first time in English society. This is regarded as the most important social consideration of the season, as it is more than half a century since a bachelor Prince of Wales was the centre figure in a society. The Prince will appear at a majority of the important functions with his parents, and will attend a few dances. Later on he will pay a few country house visits, and race King Edward's old yacht, Britannia, in friendly competition with the King of Spain. The Britannia will then be the Prince's own yacht and will be manned by a picked crew of naval reservists. The Prince strongly desires that the navy life shall not be entirely discontinued.

A Galt despatch says: Yesterday was the fifty-sixth birthday anniversary of Hon. Adam Beck, Galt's community has special pride in noting the natal day of the distinguished public man, who is claimed as virtually an old Galt boy who has played an equally important part in industrial affairs.

Dr. A. B. Cutcliffe and Mr. M. E. Cutcliffe, have received word of the death of their uncle Major William H. P. G. Bluet at Paignton, S. Devon, Eng., in his 85th year. Major Bluet was one of the last survivors of the second Sikh war and served in the 10th, now Lincoln regiment, at the capture of Mooltan and the crowning victory of Ghyerat, also engaged during great part of the meeting, taking part in the Juddespor operations and the relief of Azenjurr.

George Ham of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is pretty well known over the continent. He is accompanying a train of members of the Women's Press Clubs through the North-West. As the train approaches Winnipeg Saturday, the hotel department receive a wire signed George Ham, reading, "Have two barrels of lemonade ready for No. 1." After studying the message carefully the old stock-keeper remarked reflectively, "Wonder if George really means lemonade?"

At the passing time war is leaving its mark upon fashion. Bulgarian, Montenegrin and Serbian styles come into favor, and not without merit, for the blousing coats, the kilts and the short jackets worn over thin bodies are truly charming. The mode of the close-fitting hat and the tendency towards barbaric splendor in the evening dress of to-day, come also from those dashing little countries. Going back into history, when Robespierre came to France the fashions of the Terror, wide bright stripes, cockades and innovations which marked the Napoleonic spectacular conquest of Egypt.

Crowless roosters and cackles hens will be the next reform perpetuated by the democratic administration, at Washington, if experiments now underway in the Department of Agriculture are a success. Experiments indicate that if the vocal cords of roosters are removed the crowing ceases.

This information came from a farmer who wrote that the operation is easy and painless. Under the present scheme scientists think the crows and cackles easily may be supplanted by musical tones. This they think is possible by placing a whistle in the severed end of the cord.

An Ottawa despatch says: Among the successful candidates at the recent competitive examinations for admission as cadets to the Royal Military College, Kingston, who will be admitted in the order in which they passed up to the number for which vacancies are available (probably forty-one) appears the name of Harry Taylor Genet of the Brantford Collegiate Institute, who secured 5,227 marks and is ninth in the list, the highest candidate receiving 6,007 marks. Jas. Howard Scott of the St. Catharines Collegiate Institute, is 40th on the list with 3,880 marks and A. J. Casul of the same school, is 49th with 2,913.

Quality in tea may mean to you flavor or strength or fragrant richness. Red Rose Tea is blended with such nicety that it is the combination of all three points of merit. Will you try a package.

Miss Verna Smith of Winona, whose marriage to Mr. Gordon Conant, of Oshawa, will take place on June 25th has recently been the guest of honor at several pleasant social affairs. Miss Julia Carpenter, who is to be one of the bridesmaids, gave a charming luncheon for her on June 3rd. The color scheme was in mauve, which will be that for the wedding. Miss Mabel Van Duzer, another prospective bridesmaid, gave a Saturday tea, which was largely attended, many guests motoring from Toronto and Hamilton. Mrs. Bell also gave a tea for this popular bride-elect. On June 16th Mr. Hugh Donald of Toronto, who is to be one of the ushers, gave a dinner at the Rosedale Golf Club in honor of Miss Smith, and the bridesmaids to be, and on June 17th, Miss Marguerite Cotton, of Toronto, gave a tea in honor of the bride-elect, Saturday Night.

FROM BRANTFORD TO PACIFIC WITH THE WOMEN'S PRESS CLUB

"To the end of the steel by the G.T.P."—I don't think any of us realized what that really meant until we had taken the journey. Three hundred miles up into the mountains—speeding across the newly-laid roadbed, through gigantic walls recently blasted out of the solid rock—tearing over bridges, and all the way the Fraser river rushing along beside us. Falls bursting in exuberance from the mountain sides and the snow-capped peaks of the glorious Rockies all about us—so our little "special" made her way pausing at many points so that her passengers might alight and explore at closer range. We passed many gangs of workers along both sides of the river, for the tracks of the C.N.R. are quickly following and the camps of both railways dotted here and there along the line, but only the G.T.P. enters Tete Jaune Cache as yet, and in the very near future hope to have traffic extended through to Prince Rupert, and completing their transcontinental route. For this trip we were the absolute guests of the aforesaid G.T.P.—transportation, Pullman, meals, all free gratis. Souvenir menus printed especially for the occasion and "sweets"—by the wholesale evidently—on board. We were gone from 9.30 Tuesday evening until 8 on Thursday morning, and two nights and a day's trip. On returning, we found that a motor trip had been planned by our Edmonton friends in our absence—to start from our old meeting place, the Lansbury church, at 10 o'clock. Ald. Landy (an early settler and former Goldphite) took our particular party in his car. We had loved our Edmonton hostesses as we knew them in their homes—now all succumbed to the beauty of the city itself. Forty-six miles of river drives—800 acres devoted to park purposes—155 acres along the banks of the Saskatchewan, where the golf course as well as several cricket grounds and baseball diamonds are laid out and in use. A residence portion and ravine much like Rosedale in Toronto, spanned by high bridges—broad, paved streets and good business section—this was the city we were to find. That afternoon we were the guests of the Woman's Canadian Club for afternoon tea and reception, and at 11.45 boarded the C.P.R. train again for our extension trip to Calgary.

Calgary we reached early next morning—and we were once more met by a delegation of the local branch of the C.W.P.C. and distributed to the Prince George and the Royal Alexandra Hotels, where accommodation had been booked for us. The program for the day included a motor drive around the city—a luncheon, afternoon reception and afternoon tea. Colonel Walker took possession of the party and motoring away over the plains to the Sarcee Indian Reservation, one of the most interesting places along the line, and in the evening we were again fortunate in being motored out to the Lacombe house—meeting Father Lacombe himself, a dear old priest, 86 years of age, who has done such wonderful work amongst the Indians in the 40 years since his ordination, when as a young man he made the trip on foot from Quebec to Alberta, devoting his life to missionary work. He gave the three of us photographs of himself and also small ones of the institution before leaving. Katherine Hughes' book, "Father Lacombe," a recent publication, gives his most interesting life history.

Leaving Calgary at 7.45 Saturday morning, our numbers reinforced by twelve members of the National Council of Women, the members of the Calgary C.W.P.C. and several press men and railway officials, we headed for Banff—that beauty spot in the heart of the Canadian Rockies—arriving about 12 o'clock noon. We are now guests at the beautiful C.P.R. Hotel—more like a castle than a hotel—nestling in the midst of rocky elevations—and in a few moments start off to explore its many wonders. To-night the new hall room is to be from the beginning of our trip it has opened in our honor—week-end guests coming from all surrounding points. Dr. and Mrs. Harry Yates, from Montreal, with their son and daughter, are also guests at this hotel, returning from their delightful trip around the world—gradually working their way eastward and to their summer home at "Cacuma."

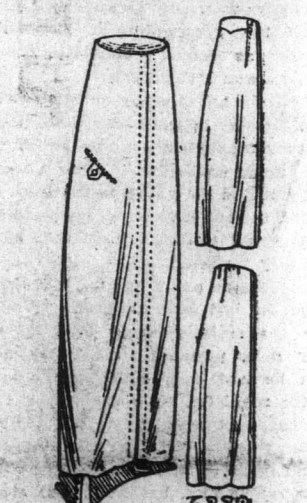

Twelve of our party return to Ontario to-morrow—the balance of us complete the trip to the coast, taking in the places of interest en route. C.P.R. has heretofore stood to us simply for Canadian Pacific Railway—but from the beginning of our trip it has truly meant Comfort Personified—the route ideal and the accommodation luxurious.

DEAD FACES.

How they come and go, sweet faces, that we loved so long ago; you see them float in cloudland, but when evening shadows come, they seem to peep from crannies deep, or where birds at evening call. You see them down beside the sea, when sun is nearly set; beside the rocks where once they sat, watching the tide come in. Some have gone across the river to the place where angels meet. But they come from out their dream-land, faces bright and faces sweet. How vivid is the picture, painted on mind's highway, of the forms that come so near us then vanish far away. Some day the gate wide opened, will show the faces near, as they come to us and greet us, and will never float away.

DAILY FASHION HINT.

Two Piece Walking Skirt.

This serviceable design is cut with two pieces. It is closed in front and has a few gathers in the back; these may be omitted. There is also a small slit with an inset pocket, and this need not be used unless desired.

This will make a good style for serge, cheviot, whipcord, linen and heavy weight slingham.

The skirt pattern, No. 6229, is cut in sizes 22 to 30 inches waist measure. Medium size requires 2 1/2 yards of 36 inch material. Width of skirt at lower edge, 2 yards.

This pattern can be obtained by sending 10 cents to the office of this paper.

Eight days must be allowed for receipt of pattern.

Double-Headers in All the Tecumseh Park Dren Only One Game Poss Enjoys Better Year Than

(Free Press.)

In the absence of the "hazy" weather man substituted a dance of the substance which floods, and at every ball park of Canadian League circuit the "No Game" given a bargain price, the ever-willing fans and joy, so-called ball players.

With postponed games the day the program to-day, and the thereby are given a bargain price, getting two battles for the admission.

Manager Deneau stated last returning from Tecumseh park there would not be a double-header to-day, as the grounds were der water, and that they would lucky to play one game, especially it looked like rain during night.

In all probability the date at fin will bring the Saints and Dutchmen into a double clash to Heck Pitches To-day.

The many fans in this city have not seen Bobby Heck pitch given an opportunity to see great southpaw work today, as will be Deneau's selection to the Brantford club, and manager Wagner stated last night that Smith in all probability will do duty for them. The game short great one, since it will be a bat southpaws.

Conditions in the League.

At the present time the teams presenting the various cities in circuit are all better than ever in history of the league, and many expected victories and reverses be unlooked.
