

DOMINION DAY SPORTS FINISHED AT CAMP BORDEN

"B" Co. in Tug of War Finals with "C" Co., and Won Out.

CONSTRUCTION OF DRAINS.

List of Those Under Way in Various Parts of Norfolk.

Simcoe, July 18.—Up till to-day, the pea crop for the canning factory has been ripening so fast that it has been impossible to get men or teams to get the peas in quickly enough. One teamster made $9 yesterday at the business, and unless the weather turns cool, some of the crop will be too ripe for canning. There is little evidence of damage by aphids or other pests this year.

Financing Recruiting. Maj. C. E. Innes is home this evening from Borden Camp, to attend a meeting of the recruiting committee. Capt. Paulin and his detail of 20 men have signed up about a dozen men already since the 133rd left for camp. It is to make some arrangement for financing the work that the evening's meeting has been called.

Sports at Camp. Word has been received from camp of the competition of the sports at camp. All the events not pulled off at home on July 1st have been contested. In the tug of war, "B" and "C" companies were in for the final, and B. company won, pulling C. over twice in succession. The winning team was composed of Major Burch, Lt. W. S. McCall, Lieut. Alward and Privates Meyers, Christie, Watts, Sebring, J. Hocking, W. Hocking and PETERS. The 133rd baseball team whipped the 125th. Score, 3-5.

Hurt in Arm. While engaged in the process of bottling works today, Operator Coates had an artery in his arm severed by a splinter from a faulty bottle which burst in the filling.

Constructing Drains. Guy Marston, county engineer, has profited by the wet weather. He has the following drains under construction or maintenance, some of which are new, others passing from control under the Ditches and Water-Course Act to the Municipal Drainage Act. In Houghton, the Garnham drain near Gaysborough, and the Richard Wilson drain. In Middleton, the South Creek drain.

In Windham, the John Murray and in South Norwich, a short one and a half mile course. The plans are not yet to hand for the new schools, nor have the sewer extensions got to the "open for tender" stage.

Hon. Robt. Rogers Coming. Preparations are being made for the visit of Hon. Robt. Rogers to Port Dover, to inspect the harbor on August 10th.

Rye and fall wheat cutting are in progress in the west of the county, and in some sections near town.

WOMAN FALLS DOWN STAIRS AND CHILD BREAKS COLLARBONE.

Aylmer, July 19.—Mrs. James Lees had the misfortune to fall down the cellar stairs of her home just before noon on Monday, and as a result was badly bruised and shaken up, but fortunately no bones were broken.

Charlotte McKinley, little daughter of Ed. McKinley, fell over a hammock on Saturday afternoon and fractured her collarbone.

On Friday evening last a number of the young ladies of the village gave Miss Agnes Robinson (who is soon to be married) a miscellaneous shower on the lawn of Mr. Robert Snowball's residence. Miss Robinson was a very much surprised and pleased young lady. Among the gifts she received were centre pieces, scarfs, towels, guest towels, serving tray, mirror, pie knife, cake dishes, etc. A very enjoyable evening was spent with songs, music from the phonograph, and recitations by Ethel Paterson. Then cake and ice cream were served.

BRITAIN STILL LEADS WORLD IN HEAD OF THEM ALL IN BUILDING MERCHANTMEN FOR THE SEAS.

Washington, July 19.—Great Britain, although hampered by the drain of war and a big naval construction program still leads the world in building merchantmen, according to a statement issued yesterday by the United States bureau of navigation. Her shipyards have under actual construction now 423 steel merchant ships of 1,429,335 tonnage, and would have more but for the fact that private yards are engaged in building war vessels.

The entire world in 1915 launched 743 merchant ships of 1,201,638 tonnage. Of these eighty four of 177,460 tonnage were launched in the United States.

HEALTH OF THE CAMP DISCUSSED

Conference of Brigadiers Called at Camp Borden to Talk Training Methods.

Camp Borden, July 19.—The health of the new camp was discussed at an extended conference of the staff officers of the A. M. C. this afternoon. Lieut.-Col. F. W. Marlow, A. M. S. C., paid his first visit here and presided.

The matter of water for the troops was the chief topic. It was decided to recommend that the whole water question be put under military orders. It was pointed out that in Egypt and Africa the army regulations provided for the water each man used while on the march. Each man was supplied with one quart of water for each 15 miles. Col. Marlow thought the whole matter could be arranged by the platoon commanders.

The camp doctors will try to arrange treatment for poison ivy, as it does not seem possible to eliminate the weed from the camp area.

The establishment of emergency tents for treatment of the men who become exhausted was also suggested.

Lieut.-Col. Lennox, M.P.P., left tonight for Jackson Point and took with him the bugle and brass bands of the 208th Irish-Canadian who will attend the annual picnic of the North York local member to-morrow.

The complete parade slate for to-day compiled last night, to include 28,555. There are 2,094 men on leave and 1,601 absent illegally. The total strength of the camp is 32,150. The brigade figures are as follows:

First, 242; 2nd, 48; 3rd, 150; 4th, 173; 5th, 254; 6th, 127; 7th, 115; 8th, 229; 9th, (London), 190.

Col. Bickford has called a further conference of brigadiers and commanders, to-morrow afternoon to discuss methods of training.

Disease More Fatal and More Prevalent

Number of Deaths and Number of Cases Took Jump To-day.

New York, July 19.—Both deaths and new cases in the infantile paralysis epidemic took another jump today. During the 24 hours ending at 10 a.m. to-day, the disease killed 30 children and attacked 142 others in the five boroughs of New York City. This is an increase of 150 per cent in both the mortality rate and development of the plague in the last 48 hours.

Since the inception of the disease on June 26, there have been 2,327 children stricken, of whom 456 died.

THE ROMANCE OF WIRELESS

Canada Has Longest Chain of Wireless Stations in the World.

WAR'S EFFECT ON INVENTION.

To-day the Whole World's a Vast Whispering Gallery.

(By J. H. Laver.)

"A popular fallacy is that there is no sentiment in business. To a certain extent that may be true, but it is at best a debatable point. Sentiment and romance are closely related, and no one will deny that the stories of modern business methods are romantic as well as dramatic. The same may be said of many inventions which have been commercialized. Take for instance our great modern public utilities—principally those of transportation and communication. The story of the development of any of these makes thrilling reading. In fact, in recent years, the romance of 'big business' has become a by-word. Steam, the telegraph, the telephone, and lastly the science which is the subject of this article—wireless telegraphy. We all remember reading of ... Scotchman, James Watt, who sat in his kitchen watching the queer antics of the teakettle above, when the spout through which the steam was permitted to escape became partially blocked. From this simple phenomenon came the romance of steam, which which revolutionized industrial and transportation problems. Next in order came the telegraph. Imagine Morse's painstaking and persistent efforts, ridiculed at first, but afterwards crowned with success—the telephone, the product of the gifted inventor Bell, and lastly wireless telegraphy, which has reached out and claimed the world as its field.

In Canada we complementarily accept the fact that we possess the longest chain of intercommunicating wireless stations in the world, extending from Port Arthur at the head of Lake Superior down through the Great Lakes along the River and Gulf of St. Lawrence, to far off Labrador. Along the Atlantic coast of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland, stations are located, and, prior to the war, one of the busiest stations in the entire group was located at St. John's, in the graveyard of the Atlantic, about 200 miles out from Halifax.

Volumes might be written of the Romance of Wireless as applied to Canada. It is related that when one of the earlier French explorers ascended the Gulf of St. Lawrence on his first voyage, the rugged age-old cliffs of Gaspé arrested his attention. He turned to a companion and pointing to the cliffs, remarked that these were in reality the gateway to a new world. "What sights they must have witnessed," and what scenes they will witness when this and many other generations will have passed away."

Legend has it that a large cross was erected at the top of the highest point as a signal for incoming voyagers. This probably was the very first signal ever employed for marine purposes in Canada. How true the explorer's words were has been demonstrated by the march of events since then. The small land slow sailing vessels have given way to huge, speedy, luxuriously fitted liners, and the cross on the cliffs of Gaspé has been superseded by a wireless station a few miles further up the river. At Quebec a wireless station is located on the historic citadel, and on that part of the island of Montreal named after its founder, Maisonneuve, is located another wireless station. Further on up the river, and so on through the Great Lakes, the canoes and smoke signals of the Indians and wireless telegraph stations. Today the ether throbs with whippers from thousands of wireless stations from ships in all the seven seas are fitted with wireless and the Arctic and Antarctic are no longer the isolated places they once were. While it is true that war is a great destroyer, it also stimulates inventiveness, and the present war is "par excellence" a war of science. Aeroplanes, submarines, motor cars, battleships, cruisers, hospital ships, and in fact craft of all descriptions are fitted with wireless. The whole world has become a vast whispering gallery.

It should be remembered, however, that wireless telegraphy is, first of all, a savior of life, and in modern warfare is only an adjunct to death-dealing devices. Wireless has never yet failed in an emergency, and thousands of lives have been saved through its medium. This is as its inventor would have it. There is ample evidence that the same spirit pervades the thousands of wireless operators scattered all over the earth. Although the service is comparatively young, it already has its traditions, and in reading of instances where wireless has brought succor to those in distress, it is invariably remarked of the wireless operator that he ably maintained the traditions of the service.

Are You For "Preparedness"?

The best preparedness for man or woman is the preparedness that comes from living in harmony with law. In Summer cut out the heavy foods that tax bodily strength and vigor. Eat Shredded Wheat Biscuit, the food that contains all the body-building material in the whole wheat grain in a digestible form. For breakfast or luncheon with berries or other fruits.

THE WIND'S REBELLION

"I've told you how the Wind refused to carry the autumn leaves. That was only the beginning of his crossness. Next he refused to carry the snow-flakes."

"Why should I work always without pay?" was the burden of his grumbling. "Why? I'll use my wind-wings to roam around the world, but leaves and dust and rain and snow and hail and seeds and pollen, I'll carry no more and there's an end to it!"

Well, well, there was a time! Nobody quite knew what to do, for the Wind was such a powerful fellow that you couldn't make him work if he didn't want to. You simply couldn't.

The autumn leaves drifted to the ground by their own weight alone and lay there, whispering. "The flowers awoke and by and by one-moonlight night the world of leaves and trees, and snow and rain and flowers sent, each a fairy to solve the dreadful problem of the wind's rebellion.

"What does he want?" cried the rain fairy. "What sort of pay?"

"Send for the Wind," cried a snowflake fairy, "and make him tell us what he wants."

The Wind came blustering and sulken. I think in the wind-heart of him he was a little ashamed. He should have been.

"If you don't carry the seeds and pollen," cried the fairies, "what will the flowers do? If you won't carry the rain—"

"I'll do it all for pay," said the

RELICS OF BURNS DISPOSED OF

Prospectus of Kilmarnock Edition of His Poems Brought $1,375.

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, July 19.—(New York Sun Cable)—The only known copy of the prospectus issued by Robert Burns with a view to obtaining subscriptions for a proposed volume of poems—the now world famous Kilmarnock edition, published in 1773—was sold yesterday at Sotheby for $275 ($1,375).

Many autograph letters and other relics of the Scotch poet were disposed of. The trustees of the Burns cottage purchased for $98 ($490) an autograph letter to John McMurdo chamberlain to the Duke of Queensberry.

Among the other Burns relics were an autograph poem "Sketch for $98 ($490), an autograph letter to George S. Sutherland, playwright, for $200 ($1,000); the first draft of an "Election ballad" for $220 ($1,100), and an autograph letter to "Dr. Moore, London," for $100 ($500).

A first edition of "The Vicar Wakefield," by Goldsmith brought $80 ($400) at the sale. A first edition of "Waverley" or "The Vicar" by Sir Walter Scott, three volumes, sold for $150 ($750) and a collection of other first editions of his novels brought $1,000 ($5,000).
