Trooper P. A. Bauslaugh In Hospital With Fractured Shoulder

TROUBLE WITH HYDRO Limb of Tree Connected Two Circuits of Different Voltage

OTHER SIMCOE NEWS Good Roads For Norfolk County Designated By Committee

THE DOINGS AT DOVER Board of Education Purchased Fuel For Winter Months

Simcoe, June 30.—From Our Own Correspondent.—Mrs. D. Bauslaugh received on Thursday a letter from her son, Trooper R. A. Bauslaugh, stating that he had suffered a fractured shoulder and other shaking up and at the time of writing, June 6, was in the Roche General Hospital. A card from a nurse there came yesterday stating in part that the shoulder is broken. The remainder of the remarks are illegible.

From letters received by his family here, during late May and early June, Bauslaugh appears to have crossed to France about April 25th. He paid a notary in England $5.50 for taking an affidavit (local notaries please do not note) which later proved useless. The cavalry, it appears went into the trenches except enough, of course, to take the horses back to the rear.

He spoke of dishes made from Simcoe brand corn, in an old store recovered from ruins and of seeing Massey-Harris, McCormick and Frost and Wood binders under fallen apple trees.

He speaks of going over to see "Bob" Hunter, but Bob, too, was up the line at the time.

"You have got to cut out the worrying. If a shell or bullet has any name and address on it, it will find me at home. If not, I am just as safe as if in Simcoe."

Speaking of boys wanting dainties and getting spoiled, Bauslaugh mentions a Tommy who disinclined to patronize a Y. M. C. A. refreshment booth unless the waitresses were from the aristocracy, and who getting into one of the right kind, vowed he was not going to put up with the service of those paid waitresses.

Trooper Bauslaugh Robbed in England.

But the most interesting story in all his letters home, must be told in his own words. The action of the affair was made till all was over.

"I met a fellow 'R. H. A.' in Y. M. C. A. London and spent a day with him. He got up early the next morning and robbed me of everything, pass, money, Ry. Ticket, riding crops etc. Well—I went to the police, then to Provost Marshall, of Can., who gave me a letter for which I went and drew. Then I resolved to go after him. I saw three plain clothes military police, went to Scotland Yard and spent three days on the hunt with the result that Sergeant Detective Pitchley nabbed him. He has been looking for him for two months on over thirty charges. Was a deserter for three months and was wearing a D. C. Medal, French Legion of Honor, three good conduct stripes and two gold wound stripes which were all a fraud.

We found on him articles bearing names of which Scotland Yard knew nothing. To make a long story short, he received seven years at Old Bailey and I got back most of my money. The O. C. has sent my 'Crop' to Mrs. Small. As for me I had a 'joke' time, hob-nobbing with secret service officials. The chief took me to his own home for dinner after the capture and it was an experience worth while."

A Strange Coincidence in Names.

"But there is a funny part. This guy gave me his name as 'A. B.' and it turned out to be 'K. C.' (The letters are substitutes, but the comparatively speaking, 'A. B. C.' as used above stand for the name of the relative after which the writer was named.)

His wife here has received word that Thos. Nichols, who went over with Sgt. Winters, in the autumn of 1914, has landed at Halifax.

Old Ends of News.

The Hydro trouble mentioned yesterday was caused by a limb of a tree getting in touch with the 4,400 volt and 2,200 volt circuits at the same time. The high voltage current got into the weaker circuit and burned out about 30 three-dollar lamps and many of the smaller ones. The total damage will not exceed $150.

The Norfolk Milling Co., has installed a new purifier of the most modern type.

Several Simcoe families are moving down to their cottages for the summer.

The strawberries are coming in plentifully.

Thursday night's downpour was the worst yet here.

Miss Madden's music pupils will give another of their series of popular musicals this afternoon. An examination from Toronto will conduct examinations for Miss Madden's candidates, particulars of which will appear later.

Good Roads Designated.

So far as the committee is concerned, the county good roads are designated, and a special meeting of the County Council is called for July 11th—it came very near being on July 12th, the date first mentioned, but as some of the members wanted to go to Dover on that day, the date was advanced. As the committee's finding was arrived at without a dissenting voice, it is quite probable that the council will be able to adopt the report in a one-day session.

Wednesday's session closed with 330 miles designated. Good roads were wanted everywhere. Geo. Hogarth, Chief Engineer of the Prov. Highway Dept., was called up and by Thursday evening this had been cut down to 212 miles. When the question was up before the proposed system had 181 miles. The chief alteration in the former plan so far as it affects this locality, is the cancelling of the line out west street, as this is too much in parallel with the Talbot road, which must be included to link up Simcoe with Woodstock.

DOINGS AT DOVER

Port Dover, June 30.—(From our own correspondent.)—In our items of June 20th, we attempted to state that this young soldier had sent home photos "which show 'no' evidence of scarcity of rations." The item came back, "which show 'in' evidence of scarcity of rations." This was bad enough. But this week's Maple Leaf goes on to say that the young man sends home photos "which show that rations are none too plentiful." It is the old case of attempts at copying are sure to be successful in the matter of faults and eccentricities. We had promised the young man's father, that we would make no more mention of the incident, but the appearance of this paragraph in the Maple Leaf made it appear as a duty to the young man, that matters should be cleared up. The photos were of the young man himself, hale, hearty, and bigger than ever. Let us hope that the unfortunate case no longer be a cause for worry to parents or other boys who may have seen the misleading paragraphs quoted above.

Coal for Winter, Purchased and Iivered.

The Board of Education met at 5 o'clock last evening. Teachers' salaries and accommodation are the vital questions. A car load of coal has been put in to prevent a recurrence of last winter's inconvenience through fuel shortage in cold weather.

S. B. McCready, B.S.A., was in the village yesterday afternoon with a view to having a Production Club organized to prepare for the 1918 campaign, when the food shortage is going to be more pronounced. We learned that Waterford organized on Friday with the following committee in charge: Chairman, Dr. Duncombe; Secretary, Geo. Lauderay; Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Sanderson, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Hill, Mrs. (Dr.) Teeter. Mr. McCready addressed the Board of Education at 7.30 yesterday evening.

Investigation of Accident

Which Caused Death of

Earl Etherington

Paris, June 30.—(From our own correspondent.)—At the adjourned inquest last evening (Friday) touching the death of the lad, Earl Etherington, who was killed in the explosion which wrecked the Salvation Army Barracks here on the evening of June 4th, five witnesses were heard, but little or no new light seemed to be thrown on the subject.

Lieut. Miss Hill stated that the explosion came from below the flooring, because she fell below into the basement as the flooring heaved up.

Knew of no trace of leak, and a gas plate had been burning in the building for an hour before explosion. She was badly burnt on face, arms and one limb. Was in hospital two weeks.

Geo. Lee, local manager of Dominion Gas Company, gave evidence as to how pipes were connected to building, and also produced a piece of gas pipe which had been found in basement. It had been broken off at elbow in cellar and the piece in question came through floor and supplied the stove originally with gas. It looked like an old break, as end was worn, but the corresponding piece of pipe in elbow was not worn, and was in possession of Mr. Harley of Brantford. His theory was that gas had accumulated in cellar and that the opening and shutting of doors had caused a draft that set the gas in motion and same had finally reached the flame of gas plates.

W. H. Kinney, foreman for local company, deposed to finding pipe in question, and corroborated Geo. Lee's theory as to cause.

Dr. Danton gave evidence as to cause of death of Earl Etherington, stating same was due to shock of explosion and concussion of brain.

It transpired that Mr. Minnes, plumber of Brantford, had removed from the elbow under the building, the piece of broken threaded pipe that corresponded with that in evidence for Mr. Minnes to be present.

It could not be shown under whose authority the small piece of broken threaded pipe was removed, and accordingly the inquest was adjourned till Thursday evening, July 5th, at 7.30.
