Over 3,000 Students Trained for Business

The "FEDERAL" Business College has now entered upon its eleventh year of practical educational work. Its graduates are to be found in all the large centers of Canada, where they command the best situations. The school year just entered upon promises to be the most successful in our history. The splendid success of our students in the past is a sure guarantee for the future. Young people who intend taking a course of study in business subjects should at once communicate with the management, as from present indications it may be impossible to gain admission at a little later date. Several new teachers of lengthy experience will be added to the "FEDERAL" staff.

Our Special Home Study Course is prepared for those who cannot attend college, instruction being given through correspondence, and by teachers who will visit the various centers in the interests of Home Study Students.

TIRED OF SUCH LIFE

Cripple Takes Life at Moose Jaw Station—Had Money on His Person But Was Tired of Living.

John J. Kenny, alias J. Spillman, a cripple, with but one leg, and 38 years of age, shot himself through the heart last night, about 150 feet east of the C.P.R. platform.

A number of people were nearby when the shot was fired, but were too late to be of any assistance as his aim had been true, and the bullet had found its mark. He lived about twenty minutes after committing the desperate act. Bystanders tried to ease him in his last moments, and questioned him as to why he did it.

"I'm sick and tired of life," he said. "I've been up against it for a long time, and just ended it." Kenny had evidently come from the western United States coast cities, for papers on his person showed that he had been travelling through Montana, Oregon, Washington, and had come up north to the Canadian coast cities, working eastward begging for money, presumably to purchase a wooden leg. The cards he carried read: "Please notice I lost my leg just recently. I am trying to get money to buy an artificial limb, and take this means of asking for help. Please give something."

The revolver was bought yesterday at Latham's store. It was a fine .38 calibre weapon. He gave his name as Spillman when purchasing the weapon, and registered at Von's hotel under the same name.

Search of his person revealed miscellaneous articles. There was a pass book of the Post Office savings bank issued at Calgary. In it were entries made at Calgary, Edmonton, and Macleod, amounting to $33. Besides this he had $18.50 in cash, so that the act could not have been committed in desperation caused by poverty.

The unfortunate fellow was simply tired of it all. Lonely, friendless, not in good health, on crutches, travel weary, a stranger among strangers, in a fit of despondency he determined upon suicide as the one way to end his misery. On his person written in a little pocket ledger were lines on "Hope" penned by himself, but apparently taken from the poem of Theodore Roberts on the same subject. These lines are as follows:

No house is mine in the north or south;
No lands in the land of my sires.
Rootless, the careless winds have spent
The smoke of my vagrant fires.

No name have I in the clanging town;
No seat with the grave and wise.
The snows and dusts of the trails forget
They have blinded my foolish eyes.

But safe and warm and steadfast true
(God! How was the wonder done?)
The heart of a woman shelters me.
From the lonely winds and the sun.

Coroner Knight was called shortly after the tragedy occurred. He decided that no inquest was necessary as the case was one of deliberate self-destruction.

No trace could be found of the relatives of the unfortunate man. An express receipt showed that he had sent money to Wm. Kenny, but the destination of the remittance was not stated.—Moose Jaw News.

The Wheat Situation

The week in the wheat markets has been quiet, but firm and fairly steady. It would almost seem as if everyone in the trade in America and Europe was waiting for the movement of the North-West spring wheat crop, especially the Canadian portion of it. The trade has worked itself into a state of apprehension that something dreadful may happen in the way of a decline in prices, when the western wheat begins to move along the Canadian railways at the rate of four to five hundred cars a day as it will probably soon do if the weather continues favorable for threshing and movement. The trade forgets, that although western Canada is going to have a third more wheat this year than it did last, the bulk of which must go for export, the world at large is not likely to raise more wheat this year than it did last, and the old stocks which were so large a year ago are all used up. The world visible stock is figured at 21,000,000 bushels less than last year, and 255,000,000 bushels less than the year before, and the visible and invisible supply is figured at 120,000,000 bushels less than last year. If we remember rightly, this same decline in the prices was predicted to take place when the U.S. new winter wheat would begin to move. All along in April, May and June bear influences held September wheat in the Chicago market well below 90 cents, part of the time it was as low as 83c, and when the crop would move it was 90c and under. By the middle of July, however, it was over 90c and has never been below that since, and for the last ten days the price has been hovering pretty near the dollar mark. We don't expect that an exactly analogous happening will develop in the spring wheat markets, because our Canadian crop with its large surplus this year is more under the influence of export conditions than the United States crop, and with the fall of the year gradually drawing lake navigation to a close, advancing freight rates affects the inland price considerably, and all the more so owing to the large surplus which will be seeking freight facilities. But we do not believe that even with the largest possible movement, we will see this year's fine one northern go down to 90c, or below, as some have said is likely. By today the handsome premium that has been going for cash 1 Northern, over the price of September future, owing to the scarcity of old wheat, has come down 2c in our Winnipeg market, and is about 2 1/2 to 3 cents in Minneapolis. It should be stated however, that Sept. 1 northern in Minneapolis closed today at 100 1/2, while Winnipeg is only 97 1/2.—Commercial.

The recent outgiving of the American fleet from Hampton Roads has spurred Spangler to issue his bulletin for 1909, in which he predicts greater evils to befall the nations of the earth. Among them will be:

The destruction of the world which will occur during the latter part of December, 1909. The exact time he does not stipulate.

There will be great troubles with the nations.

There will be many famines and earthquakes.

Mountains will crumble.

Islands will sink, and many cities on the Atlantic slope will be destroyed.

He predicts the destruction of Boston and burning of New York.

There will be a great falling off in crops and the once boasted prosperity of the farmer will come to an end.

He alleges that the money stringency will be greater than ever, and that the treasury of the United States will go broke, and that President Roosevelt will have his pile taken away with the skill of a magician.

The lack of confidence, he says, will cause the people to establish pocked banks and carry their money around with them. This will provide robberies and great enmity among the people.

He predicts the visitation of the plagues mentioned in the Bible, and that the stinging of the locust will mean death. Towards the last of the year, he says, the sun will turn black, and the moon will throw out a bloody appearance, the heavens will be shaken and the stars will drop. Then will be the end, and the God of the nations will select his own to be with him in the air.

Duck Lake, Sept. 10.—A serious stabbing affair occurred at the Queens hotel last night. Two Galicians, George Worobetz and John Sarczuk, quarrelled with the bartender, Pat Gardip, and refused to pay for some drinks they had ordered. In the mix-up that followed Gardip knocked down Worobetz. It is alleged that while this was going on Sarczuk pulled a pocket knife and stabbed Gardip. One knife cut was aimed just below Gardip's heart, but the weapon struck a pocket book and saved the man's life. Gardip received a knife cut nearly an inch deep, the knife cutting into the lowest rib. He also received a nasty knife gash five inches long in the small of the back. Fortunately neither of the wounds are dangerous.

END OF THE WORLD

Lee J. Spangler Predicts That it Will Come Towards the Close of 1909—Many Other Calamities Predicted.

Lee J. Spangler, who has been prophesying for the past few years and who for the past eleven years has been issuing bulletins, has announced his prophecies for 1909.

When Spangler first began to prophesy his statements were discredited and rather inclined to be scoffed at by the incredulous, but for the past few years the fulfillment of many things which he seemingly foretold has caused his statements to be looked forward to with much interest and anxiety. Spangler has predicted many horrors, among them the Baltimore fire and the San Francisco earthquake, and last year he predicted great money stringency.

The recent outgiving of the American fleet from Hampton Roads has spurred Spangler to issue his bulletin for 1909, in which he predicts greater evils to befall the nations of the earth. Among them will be:

Election Offences.

The Dominion government has caused a summary of the new law relating to elections to be published. Some of the principal provisions are the following:

"It is made a criminal offence punishable by a heavy fine, to take down, mutilate or deface any proclamation, notice, voters' lists or other document required to be posted up under the provisions of the act.

"No person can make any contribution on behalf of any candidate except through the agent of such candidate.

"The bribery provisions in the act are made more severe.
"Canvassing by persons residing outside of Canada is made an indictable offence.
"Printing offices are required to give the address of the printer and publisher on every class of printed matter used in connection with an election.
"The rendering of a false statement with regard to the personal character of a candidate renders the person making it liable to a fine of not less than $100.
"Contributions for political purposes by any company or association are made an indictable offence."
