NO SEDITION TALK ALLOWED

Vancouver, Dec. 31.—Mayor Gale did not mince words in discussing the unemployment situation with six members of the unemployed committee of twelve at a session in his office this morning. Representatives of the Dominion and Provincial governments were present and the city council.

Summarized, the Mayor's attitude is one of helpfulness to the unemployed men, but he wishes to be assured that the citizens are not imposed on in so far as the actions of certain leaders of the men are concerned. This he made plain in objecting to the phraseology of a letter to him from the committee, which he construed as a virtual demand that the city force General Ross to throw open the drill hall for mass meetings.

He flatly declined to take such action, and followed this statement with the assertion that it had been found that at least one member of the committee of twelve had gone direct from meetings of the men to the headquarters of a secret organization where the "red flag waved." This organization was hopeful that serious trouble might be started in Vancouver, using the present state of unrest and idleness as a means to that end.

The authorities, the Mayor added, were not idle, and had been "scout ing around."

"I can see no good reason for continuing these mass meetings two or three times each week, although I grant it is quite proper for you to discuss your matters among yourselves," he said. "But when at these meetings the speakers take the platform to discuss the 'rottenness of the social system' and the 'splendid condition of Russia,' I say these discussions have no bearing upon Vancouver's unemployment solution, and they do not help in the least."

"In view of these facts, further meetings of this kind must not be held. I am asking you of this committee to continue the co-operation we have had from you, and see that such meetings are eliminated."

"If such things go on we will know what to do," concluded His Worship, "and we will do it."

The 13th Commandment.

Stories about young married life are always interesting. Rupert Hughes' "Thirteenth Commandment" created quite a stir when it ran serially in a popular magazine and later as a novel. Now it has been adapted to the screen and will be shown with Ethel Clayton in the leading role at the Orpheum Theatre on Friday and Saturday.

The heroine is the pampered daughter of a middle western merchant. She has always had all she wanted and, when she becomes engaged to a young New Yorker, supposes him to be rich because he spends lots of money on her. But a trip to the metropolis shows her that he is really poor and is making tremendous sacrifices in order to satisfy her whims. Other dramatic developments convince her of the injustice of the attitude of the pretty woman who demands a heavy financial tribute from her husband for simply being idle and extravagant.

She pursues an independent career and when he fiance is ready to wed her, goes to him on a "fifty-fifty" basis. Miss Clayton is supported by a fine cast, which includes Anna Q. Nilsson, Monte Blue, Charles Meredith and Irving Cummings. It is a Paramount-Artcraft picture directed by Robert G. Vignola.

MINERS WANT COLD SNAP

(Lethbridge Herald)
Coal miners of Southern Alberta are not wishing anybody any hard luck but they would like to see some real winter weather set in on the prairies. The California brand being served out to date has resulted in a glut of coal in the hands of the dealers with the result that mines all along the Crow are beginning to take half time. One of the local mines is working on half time today and others will be in the same boat within a week. The Taber mines are only running part time while some of the steam coal mines in the Pass are having idle days though the Pass mines have a somewhat better market owing to the fact that the railway companies are beginning now to build up their reserve dumps as protection against a possible shut-down during the summer.

The outlook for a summer run is not any better at present than it has been and idle times in the mines are feared unless something is done to bring down the price. Just now the miners all over the district are getting a cost of living bonus of 117 cents per day, which amounts to about $30 a month. Were this taken off, and the operators are beginning to argue that it should be wiped out owing to the decreasing cost of living, the cost of coal at the pit mouth would be reduced about 70 cents from the government price of $7.26 per ton. A reduction of 770 cents a ton would help matters in inducing dealers on the prairies to stock up during the summer, and it would also help, it is argued, in helping to meet the competition of American coal.
