The address of the Rev. Geo. Cross, M. A., D.D., on "Value of Religious Instruction and who should give it" was listened to with much interest. After emphasizing the value of such instruction, said, that while he placed a high estimate on Sunday school teaching in general, yet the parents were not free from the responsibility of giving religious instruction to their own children. Buth parents and teachers should give it, and a leither case there should be exemplified the unsullied excellence of the Christian life.

After devotional exercises at the evening session the nominating committee recommended the re-election of the old officers of the association—R. H. Lindsay, president; Frank Leeson, vice president; and Geo. Lemon, see'y-treas. On motion the recommendation was adopted. Mr. W. S. Lemon then gave a very thoughtful address of the Rev. Geo. Cross, M. and down my bick. It was thought these were due to liver and kidney trouble, but whatever the cause, they kept me in terrible agony. The pains were not confined to the back, but would shift to other parts of the body.

As a result, I could get little rest; my appetite was much impaired, and I was really a sick man. I tried many different remedies, without effect, and which disgusted me with medicine. A friend suggested that I try Dr Williams Pink Pills. I was not easily persuaded, for I had given up the use of medicine, as nothing had helped me, but as he insisted, I finally concluded to give them a trial. I purchased one box, and was astunished to find that heters it was the substant of the did not a strongly emphasized was christian character is everything. It is these turned into solid reality, and shining like cloth of gold through the continuons effort of the faithful and successful will.

Mr. J. W. Hutchinson, in the absence of the Rev. J. W. J. Andrew, spoke on missions in the S. S. He showed the importance of giving S. S. scholars a true conception of missionary needs, and urged that purnets a key greater interest in their children. The convention then adjourned to meet next year at Springfield. I purchased one box, and was astonished to find that before it was entirely used, I was quite a bit relieved, and after using six more, was fully restored to my former good health. I take great pleasure in recommending this valuable remedy, that others may profit by my experience, and not suffer the tortures that I did.

Neilson was called by Mr. Monk, and said that on Feb. 15, 1899, he wrote to Henri Hatch, asking for samples of his food. He received an answer from Mr. Devlin, enclosing samples. This answer had disappeared. The witness had no samples of the bread witness had no samples of the bread witness had no samples of the bread and powder used at Kingston. But all had disappeared except an envelope containing half-strength powder Col. Pineault was the next wit-ness. He did not know where Hatch's letter had gone. He had inquired for it in the civil branch of Militia Department, but could get no trace of it.

What Lawyer McGee Says

A new witness appeared now in person of Fred McGee, barrister at Ottawa. On March 24 last, he received a fetter from H. Hatch of the cerved a fetter from H. Haten of the Hatch Protos Company, asking him to make a formal protest to the Government. He saw Col. Pineault, and told him H. Hatch was taking and told him H. Hatch was taking legal proceedings against Dr. 1Devlin and John T. Lyons for interfering with the rights of Hatch. He asked for information, but the Deputy-Minister did not show a disposition to give information. The witness said he saw a tin of vitaline on Col. Pineault's desk, and the Col. said that that tin, was the only sample of Dr. Devlin's food in the department. partment. The witness identified an exhibited tin, but it was not the one Col. Pineault swore accompanied the Devlin tender.

Not a Concentrated Food. Anthony McGill, chief assistant of he Inland Department, said that here was a standard for natural milk, butter, salt, cheese, mustard, etc. He judged from the labels on Dr. Devlin's food that it contained s food that it contained a large percentage of proteids. But it was not a concentrated food, for many natural foods contained more proteids than Devlin's food.

Mr. Monk here said that, with the exception of the girl who put on the labels at Lyon's store, he had no other witness to call. This shows the case of the Opposition about the test in Kingston of Hatch's protos. Hatch was enthusiastic about the results. The witness asked him the percentage of reputation in the the percentage of proteids in the food used at Kingston. He said about 15 per cent. The witness was sur-prised, because in previous conversa-tions 60 per cent. had been spoken of. Hatch explained that high perof that the explained that high per-centages were used only in cases of disease. Hatch said that his secret was to make the food assimilative, not to put a large percentage of pro-teids into it.

Capt. Benoit, by this time, had arrived and by means of a cane and a friend was able to take the witness stand. He saw the emergency food after it had arrived in Halifax. For his own satisfaction he got two ties of the food from one of the boxes ready for shipment. The witness brought one of the tins to Col. Pineault and suggested that an anal-yses should be made of this and sample of the tendered sample. All the witness had to do with the transaction was to write Dr. Pevlin on Jan. 4, 1900, that his tender had been accepted and to notify him that the goods would have to be delivered at Halifax within a certain time.

"Why did you secure the sample?" asked Mr. Monk: "Only for my personal satisfac-ion," was the reply.

He wished to speak on his own behalf and was ready to be questioned regarding his share in the transaction. He said he took Dr. Devlin's food for six weeks last year and had every confidence in Dr. Devlin, because of the good it had done him.

He was an "after taking" example of the food. He never approached the Government for an order of free entry. He was never a partner free entry. He was never a partner to Dr. Devlin. He knew nothing of the composition of the food. The powder came from New York. When it arrived at the station, the witne went to R. S. White, for Dr. Devlin said it would come in free. He had the powder brought to his store afthe powder brought to his softe al-ter being ground, and it was packed there. He delivered the stuff to Hal-ifax, going with it on board ship. The first part of the food, that which went with the first ship, had no wording about soldiers having lived on it for 20 days, etc. The second part was delivered by Dr. Devlin.
