WRESTLING AT A BOARDING HOUSE

More than ordinary excitement was created in a Church street boarding house yeaterday morning. In the house there is a motley crowd of boarders, consisting of weterinary students, newspaper men, telegraph operators, etc., besides several of fair sex. One of the veterinarians, a real lar Hercules, proposed to wrestle with a dapper little man full of conscious worth, the company of overers. LABOR AND WAGES. General Move in Toronto for More Wages-The

It is evident that the workingmen Toronto think they are entitled to an advance in wages, and they are moving to bring the thing to an issue. The various unions have nearly all re-organized and been got in shape. One of the most important labor organizations is that of the printers, and at their meeting on Saturday night they resolved to demand an increase of from thirty cents per thousand ems to thirty-three and a third cents, an advance of a little over ten per cent. An increase on evening papers of three cents is also asked and an addition of one dollar per week for week hands. Yesterd y the men in the Globe, Mail and World offices in formed the managers of the decision of the union and that they would ing rates and they think the suite should follow in their case too. The total number of conductors and brakesmen employed on that division is about 250.

THE CARPENTERS' CASE.

TO THE WORLD:—I perceive by paper that the carpenters are about to de-mand an increase of wages to the amount journal conducted with so much talent that it is entitled to the greatest deference, to answer our esteemed contemporary the World. The Telegram says: think that to good mechanics that pay is not unreasonable. Annexed I send you list of tools absolutely necessary for a complete kit, with their prices :

Set bench planes.

Brace and bitts $6 to $10.
Set hollows and rounds
Set bead planes.
Set rabbit planes.
Squares, pannel bench, trying and framing.

Compasses

$10, besides a number of other tools. You may put down a good ordinary kit at least $100. Then, in case of men working outside of the shop at building, you have losses equal from 10 to 15 per cent ;or say an annual cost of, including interest on first cost, loss, wear and tear, of say $25 per annum. If we take the average of say ten months' work or 260 days in the year and I think that will be a large average at $2 per day, the present rate, we have $520, less $25, or $495 net for a skilled m chanic and his family to live upon ; and I think that to good workmen the advance of 50c is only right. I have had fifteen years' experience as builder in Toronto, and one of the greatest difficulties to contend with is to cause our patrons to see it in the same light as the workmen. The bosses are not opposed to an increase only inso-much that with the additional allowance much that with the additional allowance for their profit people will squirm considerably under the greater pressure, for it is often hard to get the present rates, let alone the increase, and while I am on the subject of wages there is one feature that is very objection-able, which is that all men able, which is that all men cailing themselves carpenters and joiners, demand highest wages, and their fellow workmen support-them in that demand, I cannot see how this is to be regulated, for time is no criterion to go by, for some men are better criterion to go by, for some men are better mechanics at three or four years service than others are at twenty. Though good mechanics are careful of themselves and the larger the pay and better the times the more careful they become, and some who are not good or even passable mechanics, will they also become saving of their muscle and brains and receive an additional amount of tongue foreign to them in less prosperous times. I think, Mr. Editor, that considering the prices of everything that $2.50 a day is little enough for a good, honest, energetic carpenter. It is a great that $2.50 a day is little enough for a good, honest, energetic carpenter. It is a great deal too much for many in this city who are only able to use a hammer and saw, and where a boss should be the sole judge of the value of a man to him, the men themselves wou'd assist their own case by placing the jacknife carpenter where they ought to be, under much less pay than skilled mechanics.
