performed on Monday morning, and in the rourse of the weok cicatrization was completed. I saw the pationt argin in November, 1870. There is now quite an alteration in her porsonal appearance. Sho is able to bold her hend erect, fave the light of tho sun, candlo or firo as well as ever There is nu hachrymatoon or pam. The vision in of conme int, and the eyoball is somewhat smatler than tho otion one, but the toformity is acarcely pensoptiblo without close inepection

Denbigi, Ont., January, 1871.

PECULIAR CASE OF POST PARTUM IINMORRHAGE.

dy J. M, HESWARDEN, B.D., Fisoal, DNT.

On tho 15 th of May last 1 was called to see Mrs, -, who was threatoned with abortion, which afer great dificulty I sueceeded in stopping. On enquiry I found sho attributed it to $n$ fall, soon after which tho symptoms appoared. About six months from that trme I attended hor during her confinement, found her health good, the labor natural and progrossing so very favorably that I was not required to do more than support tho perinaum at the propertuoc. After the birth of the child, pressure tras mado over tho womb by an experionced nurse, and in a fer ininutes tho placenta was expelled by soveral vigorous pains, with the loss of a moderato amount of blood only A ight bandage was immedrately put on, and sho oxpressed hersolf as feching very comfortble. At the expiration of some time, thinking of leaving, 1 examined her pulso and found it 115 per minute. Fearing hemorrhago, I propared a largo tose of ergot, and as I may about to admanster it, sho oxclaimed, "I am flowing frughtully!" I gave the ergoh. Countonance smon heeame blanched and pulse rery rapid. In a fow momonts she began to gawa and then fainted, rallied, agan fainted rallied and fanted agam and agam. Palso disappeared and was impercoptible for nearly an hour. Pupil much dilated. Daring all this time the loss of blood was excossive. and apparently littlo less during attacks of bycupe than :n the intermediato times In additon to large doses of orgot and phambi ncetas. I elevated the pelsis, lowored tho head, opened tho windows, lessened the coveringo, unpinned

