A MAN without good physical health is but a partial man and cannot expect to succeed in the competition amid which he is placed. He is on the weak end of the life curve. Two men, however, may enter life together; A with a fine physique, B a puny individual. A may spend his energy so lavishly that he may be bankrupt (dead) before he is thirty years old. B may husband his so carefully and continually add to it that at thirty he is comparatively a robust man.

One man may develop the brain at the expense of the body and at a critical moment breaks down. Another develop the body without a corresponding development of the brain and is crowded out in the competition. Another may develop both brain and body, but spends his energy with too lavish a hand. All are at the weak end of the life curve. These are some of the reasons why one man succeeds where another fails. Man cannot neglect his body at the expense of the mind, nor neglect his mind at the expense of the body. He must be completely sound, with the weaker part as strong as the rest, like the "Deacon's One Hoss Shay;" otherwise at a critical moment in the race an organ gives way and the race is lost.—The Tech.

"At Zurich any text-book whatever may be taken into an examination. The theory is that in future work a student will have these books at his command, and that a knowledge of their proper use is of greater advantages than the memorizing of methods and formulae."—The Tech.
