

Where industries show a cost advantage, it is more often related to lower material costs than to labour costs. Many industries show high and rising labour costs relative to U.S. industries.