

I. How Much is Enough?

II

OWNERSHIP

Continued from page 10. The first question is whether the property is owned by the individual or the partnership. The answer depends on the facts and circumstances. If the property is owned by the individual, the partnership is not liable for the debt. If the property is owned by the partnership, the partnership is liable for the debt.

Secondly, the partnership must be a partnership. If the partnership is not a partnership, the partnership is not liable for the debt. The partnership must be a partnership under the law of the state where the property is located.

Thirdly, the partnership must be a partnership at the time the debt was incurred. If the partnership is not a partnership at the time the debt was incurred, the partnership is not liable for the debt.

Finally, the partnership must be a partnership at the time the debt was paid. If the partnership is not a partnership at the time the debt was paid, the partnership is not liable for the debt.

In summary, the partnership is liable for the debt if the property is owned by the partnership, the partnership is a partnership, and the partnership is a partnership at the time the debt was incurred and paid.