UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE ACT, 1971

MEASURE TO ADD NEW CLASS OF INSURABLE EMPLOYMENT

The House resumed, from Wednesday, December 17, 1975, consideration of Bill C-69, to amend the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971, as reported (with amendments) from the Standing Committee on Labour, Manpower and Immigration, and of motion No. 16 of the hon. member for Timiskaming (Mr. Peters).

Mr. Charles Eugène Dionne (Kamouraska): Mr. Speaker, when we adjourned yesterday, we were discussing the hardships experienced by the unemployed because of complexities in the act regarding unavailability as well as periods of disqualification and nonpayment.

And on that occasion, I recall that I mentioned there were three classes of civil servants: one that works well, another that works at delayed action and the third that does not work at all.

Yesterday evening, while looking over my heavy mail dealing with unemployment problems, I found a fourth class, the one that works backwards. And I shall prove to you how this can happen.

Mr. Beaudoin: Those who work backwards are always the highest paid!
