

NS

941.054

S

INTRODUCTION.

---

IN presenting this brief account of the experience of the Halifax Battalion in the North-West, I trust my readers will not harshly criticise this my first attempt. True, in most cases I have not given dates, simply because it is written from memory and not from diary. I feel satisfied that all who accompanied the Battalion will admit that it is penned from experience and not from hearsay.

Respectfully yours,

ROBERT A. SHERLOCK.

2851