CRITICAL NOTICES OF THE LEADING JOURNALS ON THE 1st. VOL.

(ASIA.)

'Mr. Martin possesses eminent qualifications for the task he has undertaken,—he has not merely a taste but a passion for statistics; a sheet of figures is to him as delightful as a landscape of Claude's to a virtuoso, and he forms tables with as much facility as if Babbage's calculating engine formed part of his mental machinery. Connected for many years with the colonies, he has acquired a thorough knowledge of colonial and commercial policy—an economist of no mean order, he has arranged and digested that knowledge so as to afford information and guidance for the future. Above all, imbued with the purest principles of philanthropy, his aim, in all his publications, has been to point out the best means for increasing the amount of human happiness.—Athenæum.

'A work of extraordinary industry and great utility. Mr. Martin exhibits a very rare talent for grasping extensive subjects, for seizing with rapidity upon their distinguishing features, and for collecting evidences and illustrations to strengthen and illuminate his work.—Atlas.

'This is a work of great research, well and ably written, clear and lucid in its arrangement, and correct in the statements which it embodies. To a great extent, too, it may be considered a desideratum, filling up as it does a blank in the literature of the country. It contains a vast fund of information, and if extended in the same spirit and style to the other Colonies, the whole series will form an admirable library work of reference.—Globe.

'An elaborate work, full of tables of every description calculated to illustrate the wealth, produce, military resources, and trade of these extensive and important possessions, and systematically and lucidly arranged so as to give at once a complete view of our colonies; whoever wants to get information on our Asiatic possessions will make Mr. Martin's work their Manual.—Courier.

'One of the most important works that has of late years issued from the press.—Naval and Military Gazette.
