

tenance, see, I pray you, that you neglect not the mission of your Church; suffer not the wretched pittance of the poor missionary to be reduced. Oh! by your hearty response to his pastoral, and by your united action as a Church, gladden the heart and declining days of your aged Bishop. May I not say, "Oh, pray for the peace of Jerusalem; they shall prosper that love thee." The gallant Colonel, upon concluding, was warmly applauded.

The Evening Hymn having been sung by the choir, and after a vote of thanks passed to the right reverend Bishop Coxe for his presence there that evening, the Bishop pronounced the benediction, and the assemblage dispersed.

[The remainder of the page contains extremely faint and illegible text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. A horizontal line is visible in the lower middle section.]