

FLIGHTLESS BIRDS IN CARGO FOR ZOO

Members of Expedition to Galapagos Island Return with Rare Specimens.

New York, May 22.—Unique specimens of flightless birds, giant land and marine lizards, rare songbirds and huge tortoises, many of them representatives of special almost extinct, made up the precious cargo of the yacht Noma, which docked at the Seventy-ninth street, North River, pier after a two months' expedition to the Galapagos Islands, 800 miles off the coast of Ecuador.

The expedition, financed by Harrison Williams at a cost of approximately $100,000, was in charge of William Beebe, Curator of Birds of the New York Zoological Society. It left New York on March 1 of this year and proceeded by way of Panama to the Galapagos Islands, 800 miles off the coast of Ecuador.

"The expedition was entirely successful," said Prof. Beebe. "While the specimens we brought back are unique and of the utmost value to our collection, the observations we made of animal life are really the outstanding achievement of the expedition. Here is a remote group of islands, far from the mainland, which for ages has been uninhabited by man. Where did the animal and bird life represented there originate? The solution of that question was the main purpose of our expedition, and I am completely satisfied with the results of our investigations. I have already arrived at some theories regarding the mysterious origin of these birds, which perched up in those tiny islands through the ages, have forgotten how to fly, but until I have gone through the mass of data we have collected I must defer any announcement of these conclusions."

"I shall probably deliver fifteen or more lectures in New York and elsewhere during the coming year. We have between 15,000 and 20,000 feet of motion picture film taken by our photographer, Mr. Tee Van, showing the animal life on the islands, besides more than 400 photographs."

Professor Beebe said that the tameness of the animals and reptiles was a never-ending source of wonder to the members of the expedition. The sea lions especially seemed to have a strong bump of curiosity, according to Miss Cooper, a member of the party, who told of their coming to within two or three feet of her while she was sketching on the shore. "One huge old fellow in particular," she said, "suddenly floundered up to where I was sitting and sniffed at me like a big Newfoundland dog. I think I was more startled than he was."

"This tameness of the animals made as rather careless," said Gilbert Brooking, another member of the party. "When we captured the first of the giant land lizards, we handled them rather nonchalantly, until one of them, held by the tail by one of the crew, suddenly snapped at the calf of my leg. But for the heavy leather puttees the man wearing the reptile would have got away with a sizable piece of his leg, for their jaws are very powerful, and they never let go."

In the cargo are giant marine and land lizards, a giant tortoise, one of the last of an ancient race, which died after a few days on the boat; flightless cormorants, tropical penguins, and many other specimens of animal life. In addition there were many specimens of cactus and a complete botanical collection.

The personnel of the expedition is as follows: William Beebe, director; Harrison Williams and James Curtis, New York, both of whom returned to New York from Panama; William Merriam, John Tee Van, photographer; Harry Hoffman, marine artist; Dr. James Mitchell, Washington, D. C.; Robert McKay, William M. Wheeler, Dean of

$500 VERDICT FOR MAN'S DEATH CALLED TRAVESTY

U. S. Judge Censures Jury for Small Award to Auto Victim's Widow; Sets It Aside

Federal Judge Bodine has censured a jury in the Newark court for a verdict which he termed a "travesty on justice." The twelve men had awarded $500 to Mrs. Florence Wolfe, widow of Arnold Wolfe, of 175 Simpson street, the Bronx, for the automobile accident in which her husband lost his life.

"If a man's life is worth anything at all, it is worth more than $500," the judge declared. "I will not accept such a verdict in this court. If the jury wanted to find for the defendant that would have been satisfactory. But since it was in favor of the plaintiff it was nothing less than a travesty on justice."

Wolfe was killed in an accident between Liberty and Monticello on June 6, 1920. The suit for damages brought against Herman H. Springer, of New York, driver of the machine which caused Wolfe's death.

HYMNS IN JAZZ HELP TO CONVERT HEATHEN

Singing of Modern Tunes Appeals to Minds of Uncivilized People

Ragtime and "jazz" may be working to the detriment of Young America but their syncopated strains are winning converts to Christian ideals in Timbuctoo, Tibet and Tahiti, according to Paul Rader, evangelist and president of the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

"American jazz music is used by our more than 100 missionaries to attract the attention of and ensemble the most savage people to our fields of evangelistic service," Mr. Rader said. "Our missionaries carry no arms but through musical instruments and their voices raised in song and prayer, ply their work of converting the heathen. Sacred words are put to modern jazz songs, noble thoughts to popular tunes, and then sung with a spirit that attracts the black, yellow and brown faces."

All sorts of hymns are sung, but we find that the rhythm of ragtime tunes delights the simple mind of the savage, appeals to his ton-ton trained mind, and the first thing the missionary knows the wild man is singing Christian works, learning while religious theology and presently is converted."

FAILS TO STUN VICTIM

Robert H. Smith of West Hoboken, was crossing the street at Summit avenue and Violet street, West Hoboken, when an automobile struck him and knocked him down.

He jumped to his feet, ran toward the car, which had halted, and yelled: "If you hadn't been driving recklessly you wouldn't have hit me!"

The driver answered by hitting Smith with a blackjack. The car moved leisurely away and Smith was taken home in an ambulance.

Old Sea Captain Relieved His Own Rupture After Doctors Said "Operate or Death."

His Remedy and Book Sent Free. Captain Collings sailed the seas for many years; then he sustained a bad double rupture that soon forced him to not only remain ashore, but kept him bedridden for years. Anyone can use the same method; it's simple, easy, safe and inexpensive. Every ruptured person in the world should have the Captain Collings book, telling all about how he relieved himself, and how anyone may follow the same treatment in their own home without any trouble. BRIQUETTING OF PEAT.
Cost Prohibitive, Investigating Committee Is Told.

Ottawa, May 22.—The prohibitive cost of reducing peat to briquette form was emphasized before the Commons committee on mines and minerals recently by B. F. Haswell, chief of fuel testing division of the Department of Mines. He claimed that the process of manufacture had been found to use more in fuel than the value of the briquettes produced. A sample briquette he submitted for the committee's examination would, he claimed, cost as high as $20 a ton to manufacture. His conclusion was that the sun-drying process was the only one which was commercially feasible for the use of peat.
