FAVORS CITY TAKING OVER DISTRIBUTION OF HYDRO POWER

At the annual meeting of the Board of Trade last evening, R. S. Emerson, the retiring president, was in the chair and after the reading and approval of the minutes of the last annual meeting, the retiring president reviewed the year's work in which he told of the action of the board of trade regarding increased harbor facilities, C. N. R. trackage and C. N. R. terminals, and urged upon the new executive to follow up in this important work. The items of Naple & Wigmore, McLean, Kennedy & Co., and Barnhill, Sanford and Harrison, were elected members of the board. A vote of thanks to Mr. Emerson for his services moved by J. Hunter White, seconded by H. W. Frink, was unanimously carried. W. S. Allison gave notice of motion of an amendment to the constitution for a nominating committee to confer with members who are to be nominated for office, this amendment not to interfere with nominations from the floor. The annual report was submitted by the secretary, R. E. Armstrong.

Hydro-Electric Power. Frank B. Ellis took up the question of the handling of hydro-electric power by the city and asked that the matter be discussed.

H. T. Hayes thought that the subject was of great interest to the citizens. He considered the premier's announcement, a very important one. He said that the lack of cheap power had failed to attract industries as the price now was practically prohibitory. If power were cheap, the speaker said, it would make living more comfortable for everybody. As the matter now stands the city is at the mercy of the N. B. Power Company. If the city had control of the power it should be able to dictate to any company with whom it might purchase power, the terms of the purchase. He felt that the citizens would stand by the municipal council in anything it did to get the power.

H. W. Frink wanted to know about the distribution of the power and if the present system would have to be duplicated.

F. R. Ellis said the premier would meet the city authorities soon and would see a private corporation get control of it.

George Waring thought that the city should take control, otherwise the price would be higher. If the city did not take control, he said, it would be in the hands of the Power company and would cost nearly as much as it did today. The question must be handled quickly and he advocated public meetings of citizens to press the matter.

W. F. Burditt thought the power would cost more if the distribution system had to be duplicated, and he thought that rates should be in control of the city. The cheap power, he said, might tend to reduce car-fares. The city probably would have to bargain with the N. B. Power Company rather than duplicate the system.

Hunter White wanted to know why the government could not make an agreement direct with the company, protecting the rights of the citizens.

A. H. Wetmore said that when the city had the opportunity to control the power they should get it into their own hands. The speaker said that it was hard for the city, as compared with corporations, to get justice at the hands of the legislature. The premier's offer was a fine one and every effort should be made to see that the city got control.

G. M. Robertson spoke of the cost of duplicating the distribution system.

It is not out of the question that if the city had the opportunity they should control the power and then deal with the Power company and come to some agreement and in time possibly the city could take over the N. B. Power Company.

A. Neil McLean and J. H. Kimball also spoke on the subject and advocated city control.

W. F. Burditt then moved the following motion which was seconded by F. B. Ellis and carried: "Resolved, That this board, having learned with satisfaction that the city of St. John in its corporate capacity is to be offered the opportunity to control the supply and distribution of power to be developed by the hydro-electric commission on the Musquash river, expresses the hope that the city will take such action as will effectively safeguard the interests of the community so that power will be available to all who need it at the lowest possible cost."

Mr. Connors thought it would be a good idea to communicate with other cities that used hydro-electric power and find out how they arranged the change from one source to the other.

New Officers. The scrutineers, at this stage, returned and results of the election were announced as follows: The president and vice-president were elected by acclamation: President, W. F. Burditt; vice-president, W. S. Allison; for representation on council, M. E. Agar, G. E. Barbour, R. B. Emerson, J. S. Gregory, D. W. Ledingham, H. W. Rising, H. G. Schofield, L. W. Simms, George L. Warwick and A. H. Wetmore.

Some prominent men in the potato

Large quantities of potatoes from Denmark are being received at New York. He says, the United States growers are refusing to sell at the price at which the Danish potatoes are being offered. The result of the situation is that large quantities of potatoes are being held by the American farmers and dealers and fears are expressed that later on these will be thrown upon the market and the situation will thus be further aggravated.
