69,000 SEAMEN INSURED.
Those Serving in U. S. Merchant Marine Carry War Risk Policies.
Washington, May 28.—The extent to which officers and men in the merchant marine have enjoyed the benefits of war risk insurance is indicated by figures of his line of business carried by the government during the last year.
More than 69,000 officers and men serving on merchant ships have been insured since last June. These risks have been mainly for men whose service took them into and through the war zone. This insurance is handled by the War Risk Insurance Division of the War Risk Bureau, where, during the year, policies to the aggregate amount of $15,000,000 have been written. In the year claims to the amount of $180,000 have been paid.
This feature of government insurance or seamen, which is now compulsory on all vessels passing through the war

NEW DISEASE MAY SPREAD TO CANADA

Comes From Eating Foods Poorly Canned at Home
Dr. E. Dickson Tells About it in Medical Congress in Hamilton—Society Decides to Have Section on Social Hygiene
Hamilton, Ont., May 28.—A new disease has appeared in the United States and in England, and may spread into Canada. It is called botulism, and is a form of poisonous poisoning, got from eating home canned fruits or vegetables where the methods used in sterilizing are insufficient.
California, in particular, is a sufferer. Captain E. Dickson, M. D., of the army medical corps, who has seen its effects there, told the medical congress here about it yesterday. He said that botulism was the recurrence of the "sausage disease" prevalent in southern Germany 100 years ago.
It was then and for many years afterwards thought to be due to meat eating, but it has been found that people eating home canned vegetables and fruit contract it. The food is poisoned before it is eaten. The toxin is destroyed by heating. If all home canning is cooked, no cases develop.
Captain Dickson made it clear that he was not discouraging the use of home medical vegetables and fruit. He was, in fact, in use observable in California, where many resolutions were adopted at the annual meeting of the Canadian Public Health Association yesterday afternoon. This society decided definitely on organization of a section devoted to social hygiene. It also appointed a committee on organization of a Canadian national committee for combating venereal diseases.
A permanent advisory committee on public health laws, composed of a federal director of public health and the chief health officers of the provinces, was approved.
PARNELL'S SISTER.
A despatch the other day reported the death of Mrs. Emily Ricketts, sister of the late Charles Stewart Parnell, the famous Irish patriot. She died in a Dublin workhouse hospital.
Mrs. Ricketts, who was formerly Mrs. Emily Dickinson, was admitted to the hospital early last week. The authorities say that she then gave her name as Mrs. Roberts. She was nearly eighty years of age. It was some time before the authorities learned of her identity.
The authorities communicated with Mrs. Ricketts' brother, John Parnell, who said that he was at a loss to understand the reasons which prompted her to take refuge in a charitable institution, as she possessed ample means to enable her to live comfortably. One of the newspapers says:
"It is supposed that her mind was deranged and that she was not responsible for her actions at the time."
Mrs. Ricketts was a writer of considerable ability. In a recent article containing reminiscences of her famous brother, she wrote:
"It has been said that ours is the most tragic family in Ireland. This, I think, is true."

Trustees Will Keep On Smoking

Cigarettes a Burning Issue at Toronto School Board Meeting—Bad Example for Pupils
(Toronto Telegram.)
The trustees had an "off night" at last night's meeting of the board of education. Without much comment it was decided to proceed with the investigation into the building department, and the question of Miss Held's salary was dealt with in a few words. Consequently they had time to enter into a bit of humor upon the pros and cons of cigarette smoking at the expense of Dr. Hunter, who had moved for its prohibition on the part of trustees and officials of the board.
Bad Example to Pupils.
"I do ask the trustees of this board to give up smoking. It's none of my business," declared Trustee Hunter in discussing his motion. "I do ask, though, that they refrain from the habit when in the presence of school children." Then he told of a boy who upon being reproved by his father, said that the school doctor smoked, throwing away his cigarette only as he entered the school and resuming when he left the building. Even the trustees smoked when they came to the schools and began again as soon as they left.
"We owe it as officials of this board and as examples to the young not to give the parents unnecessary worry, but to at least refrain from smoking on school grounds," continued the mover.
Trustee McTaggart, in a brief but brilliant bit of satire, said that when Trustee Hunter had at first seconded the motion he thought it must have been in fun, but when he did it a second time, it must be in earnest.
"As Trustee Hunter is the only member around this board who knows the joys of smoking, I think we should hear what he has to say, as the 'horrible example' and 'second of this motion.'"
Send Them Overseas.
Trustee Hunter rose amid the claps and laughs of the others, and said that in the good advice he had received from the evils of smoking free from Dr. Hunter, he had learned many things, but though they were all right, he would not like to have to use them as arguments before the lads fighting in France.
"As far as I'm concerned, if I have any spare money it will be used to send smokes to those boys over there," he declared.
Trustee Noble then pointed out that the evil and danger lay in person inhaling the fumes rather than the tobacco itself, and said that cigarettes for their very mildness and apparent harmlessness were all the more dangerous as boys could take so many of them without feeling any ill effects. "For women to smoke is abominable," he said during his discourse.

Trustee Boland—"This whole motion is a piece of impudence and made simply for the sake of talk and newspaper notoriety! It is an insult to us as grown human beings to ask us to consider it. For children to be trained in their morals is all right, but we have grown beyond that stage. I think the motion a good many of our trustees should adopt to 'mind your own business.' More people die from over-eating than from over-smoking. This whole thing is a joke and should be treated as such."
Too Much Levity.
Trustee McLeod—"I am really surprised that this board has treated this motion with the levity it has. I would be ashamed to have the public think that we, as a public body, should treat such a motion with lightness. It is a shame to see women smoke, but can you blame boys or girls or women smoking when men do? The only good thing the Toronto street railway ever did was to prohibit smoking on the cars, and I agree with Trustee Hunter that twenty-five years from now it will be considered just as much a disgrace to find a man smoking as to find him reeling along drunk, and that smoking in the streets will be prohibited. The boys in the trenches are leading an abnormal life and we send them smokes to comfort that. Persons here who can't do without smoking in the same way may be regarded as abnormal. I agree with Trustee Boland that the motion is worded in an unfortunate way, but the idea in the back of Dr. Hunter's mind is one I thoroughly agree with."
Other trustees expressed their opinions, but Chairman Steele called that the vote taken on the motion. It was lost by 10-4.

RAILWAY MEN WIN TUG OF WAR CONTEST
Almost 2,000 people crowded into St. Andrew's rink last evening to witness the class exhibition of the Y. M. C. I., which was conducted under the direction of the physical director, Joseph McNamara. The various drills and exercises won hearty applause and commendation of all. A feature on the programme was a tug-of-war between two teams, one representing the police force and the other representing the motemen and conductors of the street railway. The latter team won after a grueling contest.
The tug-of-war teams were: Police—McLees, anchor man, Minty, Journey, Quinn, McGinnis, and Dr. Hunter; Railway—Campbell, anchor man, Percy Moore, R. Ferris, B. McLean, L. Armstrong and T. Mitchell made up the street railway team.
A pleasing incident took place at the opening of the exercises when the girls' class of the Institute presented to Mr. McNamara a travelling bag. The presentation was made by John T. Power.
The candy sale, under the direction of Miss Alice Dillon, which was held during the exhibition, proved a great success.

GERMAN WOMEN IN U.S. REQUIRED TO REGISTER.
German women in the United States are required to register with chiefs of police, or postmasters between June 17 and 26, under regulations issued by the department of justice.
In cities of 5,000 or more population by the 1910 census the registration is to be conducted by police and in smaller communities and country districts by postmasters, under the same rules as governed the registration of males three months ago.
It is estimated about 400,000 German women, classed as enemy aliens, live in the United States. This number includes many women born in the United States but married to Germans who never were naturalized. Since women assume the nationality of their husbands, these women will have to be considered subject to registration. Women whose husbands or fathers have been naturalized or who have become naturalized in their own names are not included in the class required to enroll.
The women will be asked to give full information concerning their family relationships, their ages, places of residence and occupation. After registering they will not be permitted to move from one locality to another without notifying the registration officer and obtaining his approval. On going to another place of residence, they will be required to report at once to the registering officer there.
