PLIGHT OF A DOCTOR
(New York Herald)

Dr. Zippert, of No. 351 East Fourth street, weighs 307 pounds, and is not very tall and as much of his weight is amidsides he finds it very uncomfortable to squeeze into narrow telephone booths.

He was at the Midnight Students' Club, of Burgess College, No. 20 avenue C, late yesterday morning, when he was called to the telephone. He received a hurry-up call to attend to a patient. He said he would start at once and made an honest effort to start, but he didn't budge an inch.

He tugged and strained until he was blue in the face, but he could not move being in the booth, and seeing that he would be delayed, he called up the home of the patient, and said he had been detained. Then he called for assistance. Dr. David Bader heard and answered his cry. Doctor Bader got hold of one of Doctor Zippert's arms and pulled until it appeared that either the arm or the booth must give way, but both held fast. Then Doctor Bader called for volunteers. As more than a score of physicians were dining at the club there was no lack of talent.

Several of the physicians found a chain and tried to drag Doctor Zippert out of the booth, but they could not. While the physicians went into consultation on the case, Doctor Zippert was reporting progress over the telephone to the family of the patient. The consultation resulted in a decision to resort to the law, and Henry Stein, an officer of the Madison street court, was summoned.

Mr. Stein took careful measurements of Doctor Zippert and of the telephone booth. He did not know how Doctor Zippert got into the booth unless he got in before the booth was erected, and then had the booth erected around him. His mathematical calculations, however, convinced him that there was only one thing to do, and that was to tear down the booth.

Doctor Zippert agreed with Mr. Stein and the structure was raised. After having been imprisoned for twenty-five minutes the physician was liberated and jumped into an automobile and hurried off to see his patient. After administering first aid to the stricken man, Doctor Zippert collapsed from his exertions, but soon recovered.

R. S. Scarborough, representing the New York Telephone Company, said last night that the company erects booths of a size to accommodate any ordinary sized man and that the company receives few complaints. He said the size of the booths had been reduced recently, as stores and offices did not want to devote much space to them. The interior of the new booths, he said, is almost thirty inches by thirty inches, and he thinks that is sufficient space for almost any man.

FERTILIZER FROM THE AIR
New Aluminum Process Said to Have Solved a Problem

It is sixty years since St. Clair Deville first showed how aluminum could be extracted at a cost of $120 a pound. But he declared his belief that new and cheaper methods would be developed, and there would come a day when aluminum factories would produce fertilizers.

The first step in the production has already come true; the price has fallen from $6 a pound in 1880 to twenty cents today. The other step seems to have been made true by an Austrian chemist named Serpek.

The commonest source of aluminum is bauxite, a red earth of which the most important deposits are in France, though it is found elsewhere. By the Serpek method the bauxite is heated to something like 2,700 degrees in the presence of carbon, when it combines with the nitrogen of the air to form salts that can be easily reduced to metallic aluminum and ammonium sulphate.

And ammonium sulphate is the foundation of valuable fertilizers, for it supplies the nitrogen so hard to obtain for plant food.

Incidentally, this process is said to make it possible to produce aluminum for ten cents a pound. But as it is covered by patents that may not help the consumer.

Handsome Drug STORE NOW COMPLETE

Wasson's Building in King Street Presents Fine Appearance

After having been in the hands of carpenter, masons, painter, etc., for the last three months, the building occupied by Wasson's Drug store on King street, is now ready. The entire premises have been made over to meet the needs of this growing business, and St. John has at last a modern drug store with a properly equipped plant.

Six Prosperous Years

It is just six years since Mr. Wasson purchased, from the late C. P. Clark, his business at 100 King street. Mr. Wasson learned the business in this store, and, being well acquainted with the trade, he was in a position to make it a success. Business at this stand steadily grew, until at last it was found necessary to departmentalize the store in order to serve the public properly. Lack of space and equipment proved a great handicap, as many who have patronized this store know. Much to the regret of the proprietor the public was not able to receive the attention he desired them to receive, but everything possible was done to overcome the cramped condition of things. At last arrangements were made with the owners of the building to remodel it along lines suited to the modern drug store, with the result that about 600 square feet were added to the main store, and a modern all glass front replaced the old style one. These improvements, together with new soda fountain and show cases, make Wasson's the largest and one of the finest drug stores in the provinces.

Upon entering the store one is struck immediately by the soda fountain, this apparatus is constructed entirely of marble and slate, with a magnificent back of mahogany. An immense French plate mirror sets the whole outfit off to fine advantage. It has all the modern features for keeping syrups, fruit, ice cream, etc., chilled to the proper temperature, also sinks with hot and cold water, where all glasses and dishes are thoroughly cleaned. J. J. McLaughlin, Limited, Toronto, installed the fountain, and it is indeed a credit to Canadian manufacturers. J. Murphy, of Cambridge, Mass., is in charge of the fountain. He came to St. John from the Liggitt store in Boston, where he has had a wide experience in soda water business.

Opposite the fountain is the candy department, where are stocked Huyler's, Liggitt's, Mott's, Nelson's, Willards and many other popular lines of high class confectionery. Your sweet tooth will be well taken care of here, if the attractive display in counter and cases means anything. Next to the candy department is the toilet goods counter, where you may peruse, balance and buy the Violet Dulce and Harmony lines are features in this department. Photographic goods of the Eastman make are displayed next. Brownie Cameras and Kodaks to suit young and old. This department also takes care of film, plates, and Stationery which is now found in every up-to-date drug store is featured alongside the cameras. Being agents for the United Stationery Co., and this store the advantage of many exclusive lines and also of buying in conjunction with 2000 other dealers in America. The values offered in writing materials indicate that this is a real advantage.

Remedy, medicine, infant foods, patent medicines and package drugs, take up a large portion of the shelves. The modern way is to have everything in this line put up as far possible ready and ready to use. This insures quicker and easier handling of drugs.

The show case and fixture at the end of the store are given up entirely to surgical dressings, plasters, etc., rubber goods of every description, and sick-room supplies. A lady clerk in this department attends to the needs of lady customers. The prescription room in this store is unique. Instead of having the bottles spread over the entire store, Wasson's drug room is very compact, cabinets, shelves and drawers are used to the very best advantage and one is amazed to learn that upwards of 8,000 different packages of powders, liquids, pills, tablets, ointments, etc., are taken care of in such a compact manner. Three graduate pharmacists or registered druggists look after the prescription end of this business, an indication in itself that the public and medical men have perfect confidence in this dispensing department.

The basement is given over to drug and candy stock. A new ice cream manufacturing plant is now turning out a very fine product here. Upstairs over the store is the office and manufacturing room. The stock of medicines and sundries for all Wasson's five stores is carried here.

Twenty Employees, Short Hours

Twenty persons are employed in this store alone. The old system of long hours is not known. The staff is divided into two shifts, one beginning at 8 in the morning and working until 6, the other coming in at 1 p. m. until 11 p. m. Each week the staff changes.

Mr. Wasson with his first lieutenant, C. J. Hay, together with the other salesmen extend to the public a cordial invitation to visit the store and be convinced that Wasson's is the best place to buy drug store goods.

Announcement will appear in this paper tomorrow of a big anniversary, an opening to be held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week there will be features of interest to everyone.

HAD ITCHING PILES FOR 27 YEARS

Often Laid Up For Days at a Time—A Wonderful Tribute to Dr. Chase's Ointment

Few people were ever more enthusiastic in praising Dr. Chase's Ointment than the writer of this letter. When you read the description of his case you will not wonder why.

Mr. John Johnson, Coleman, Alta., writes: "Three years ago I was cured of blind, itching piles of 27 years' standing by using Dr. Chase's Ointment. I used to think that death would be the only relief I would ever get from the terrible misery of this time. I was laid up for three days at a time, and at other times worked when I should have been in bed."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is worth sixty dollars a box instead of sixty cents. I am a different man since using it. I am farming all the time, and never miss a day. Words fail to express my gratitude for the cure this ointment made for me. I cannot tell half as much about it as it deserves. Anyone doubting this can write direct to me."
