Poetry.

THE MODERN BELLE.

The daughter sits in the parlor,
And rocks in her easy chair;
She's clad in her silks and satins,
And jewels are in her hair—
She winks and giggles and simpers,
And simpers and giggles and winks,
And though she talks but little,
'Tis vastly more than she thinks.

Her father goes clad in russet,
And ragged and seedy at that—
His coats are all out at the elbow,
And he wears a shocking bad hat.
He's hoarding and shving his shillings,
So carefully night and day,
While she on her beaux and poodles
Is throwing them all away.

She lies a-bed in the morning
Till near the hour of noon,
Then comes down snapping and snarling,
Because she was called so soon;
Her hair is still in the papers,
Her cheeks still dabbled with paint,—
Remains of her last night's blushes,
Before she intended to faint.

She dotes upon men unshaven,
And mad with the "flowing hair,"
She's eloquent on moustaches,
They give such a foreign air:
She talks of Italian music,
And falls in love with the moon,
And if but a mouse should meet her,
She falls away in a swoon.

Her feet are so very little,
Her hands are so very white,
Her jewels are so very heavy,
And her head so very light:
Her colour is made of cosmetics,
Though this she never will own,
Her body's made mostly of cotton,
Her heart is made mostly of stone.

She falls in love with a fellow,
Who swells with a foreign air,
He marries her for her money,
She marries him for his hair:
One of the very best matches—
Both are well mated in life;
She's got a fool for her husband,—
He's got a fool for his wife.

LIVING UPON OTHERS.

Job Greenfield was one of those who make it a point to live upon others to the extent of their ingenuity, and that in Job's case was by no means inconsiderable.

Among Job's tastes he had a great liking for cigars. But he never bought any. Not he! Nobody knew better that they were an expensive luxury, and the thought of how much they cost would have destroyed any gratification which they might afford him. When, however, he could sponge one out of some one else, no one smoked with greater zest.

Just opposite Job, on the other side of the way, lived Lawyer Pettibone. The Squire liked cigars as well as Job, and always kept them on hand. One morning when Job chanced to call into the office, he offered him one. This was enough for Job. Henceforth he made it a practice to call on Squire Pettibone once a day, just after dinner, when the Lawyer usually smoked, and thus secured an invitation to join him.

Lawyers are proverbially sharp, and it was not long before Squire Pettibone saw Job's drift. Resolved to foil him, he procured a fire-cracker, and making a slit in a cigar, neatly inserted it, and then closed the aperture.

The next time Job presented himself, the cigar was tendered him; the Squire had finished his.

"These are mighty nice cigars of your'n," said Job, for the fortieth time, having fairly commenced proceedings.

Fiz—fiz—whiz—bang! went the cracker, battering the cigar to pieces, and literally strewing its contents over Job's face.

"What—what's that!" gasped Job, in terror.

"Oh," said the Squire, coolly, "I forgot to tell you. Its a new kind of cigar. They call it the explosive cigar. I like it for my part, and shan't use any other henceforth."

Job Greenfield's visits to Squire Pettibone's office suddenly terminated. He don't see for his part how the Squire can like "them 'tarnal cigars, that fly in a fellow's face so."

The Renowned Remedy!

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

A MOST ASTONISHING CURE OF SCROFULOUS ULCERS.—A CASE CERTIFIED BY THE MAYOR OF BOSTON.

Copy of a Letter from J. Noble, Esq., Mayor of Boston, Lincolnshire.

To Professor Holloway,

Dear Sir,—Mrs. Sarah Dixon, of Liquorpond-st., Boston, has this day deposed before me that for a considerable period she was severely afflicted with Scrofulous Sores and Ulcers in her arms, feet, legs, and other parts of her body; and although the first of medical advice was obtained, at the cost of a large sum of money, she obtained no abatement of suffering, but gradually grew worse.

Being recommended by a friend to try your Ointment, she procured a small pot, and a box of the Pills, and before that was all used, symptoms of amendment appeared. By persevering with the medicines for a short time longer, according to the directions, and strictly adhering to your rules as to diet, &c., she was perfectly cured, and now enjoys the beast of health.

I remain, Dear Sir, yours truly,
August 12th, 1852. (Signed) J. NOBLE.

AN EXTRAORDINARY AND RAPID CURE OF ELYSIPELAS IN THE LEG, AFTER MEDICAL AID HAD FAILED.

Copy of a Letter from Mrs. Elizabeth Yeates, of the Post Office, Aldwick Road, near Bognor, Sussex, dated Jan. 12th, 1853.

To Professor Holloway.

Sir,—I suffered for a considerable period from a severe attack of Erysipelas, which at length settled in my leg, and resisted all medical treatment. My sufferings were very great, and I quite despaired of any permanent amendment, when I was advised to have recourse to your Ointment and Pills. I did so without delay, and am happy to say, the result was eminently successful, for they effected a radical cure of my leg, and restored me to the enjoyment of health. I shall ever speak with the utmost confidence of your medicines, and have recommended them to others in this neighbourhood similarly afflicted, who derived equal benefit.

I am, Sir, your obliged and faithful servant,
(Signed) ELIZABETH YEATES.

A DREADFULLY DISEASED ANCLE CURED AFTER BEING GIVEN UP BY THE FACULTY AT MALTA AND PORTSMOUTH HOSPITALS.

The following important communication has been forwarded to Professor Holloway for publication, by Mr. B. Dixon, Chemist, King-st., Norwich.

Copy of a Letter from Captain Smith of Great Yarmouth, dated January 19th, 1853.

To Mr. Dixon.

Dear Sir,—I send you the particulars of a cure effected by Professor Holloway's invaluable medicines: Mr. John Walton, late in Her Majesty's Service, in the British Fleet at Malta, had a very bad ulcerated ancle, and after having been in the Malta Hospital for six months, was sent to England as an invalid to Portsmouth Hospital, where he remained an inmate four months, there, as at Malta, refusing to have the limb amputated, he was turned out incurable. He then came to Yarmouth, and was under a medical gentleman for about three months, but his ancle became so much worse, that all hope was lost. At this period, by my advice, he tried Holloway's Ointment and Pills, which by unremitted application, healed all the ulcers, and restored him to perfect health and strength.

I remain, Dear Sir, yours very truly,
(Signed) JOHN SMITH.

Albert Hotel, Great Yarmouth.

SURPRISING CURE OF A BAD BREAST, NERVOUS DEBILITY, AND GENERAL ILL-HEALTH.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. T. F. Ker, Chemist, &c. Lower Moss-Lane, Manchester, dated February 12th, 1853.

To Professor Holloway.

Dear Sir,—I have great pleasure in forwarding to you the particulars of a very extraordinary cure of a bad breast, effected solely by the use of your celebrated Ointment and Pills. Mrs. Martha Bell, of Pitt-street, in this town, had been for a considerable time labouring under nervous debility, loss of appetite, and general ill health, occasioned by ulcerated wounds in the breast. She had had much experience in the use of all the known remedies for the cure of ulcers, but without any beneficial result, in fact she had nearly lost all faith and hope of a cure being effected. In this distressing and painful condition of body and mind, she was persuaded to have recourse to your invaluable Ointment and Pills, which she immediately did, and in the course of a very short time the effect produced was most astonishing; her appetite was speedily improved, the sores and ulcers in the breast gradually healed, and the nervous excitement of her system was wholly removed.

I remain, Dear Sir, yours faithfully,
T. FORSTER KER.
