'President' Ban Johnson

"BAN" JOHNSON.

The boss of the American League, who is happy over the victory of the Red Sox, in winning the 1916 World's Championship.

Boston, Oct. 12.—The Boston Americans firmly clamped the championship laurels of the baseball universe upon their brows here this afternoon when they defeated the Brooklyn Nationals by a score of 4 to 1, in the fifth and final game of the world's series of 1916. The greatest gathering in the history of the American national sport witnessed the victory, 42,620 fans departing after the contest, convinced that the Red Sox were the baseball machine par excellence of recent years. As a result of the four-games-to-one conquest over the standard bearers of the National League, Boston is tonight celebrating its fifth victory in the world's series since 1903, and there is added joy in the fact that never in its history has a Boston team been forced to bow to the superior prowess of a rival in such combat.

Clean Cut Victory.

The victory over the Superbas in the final meeting of the teams was so clean cut and decisive that there was left no ground for argument. That the better team won the championship, despite the determined battles put up by Brooklyn in the earlier games of the series, was obvious. Before the speed and curves of Ernest Shore the Superbas were well nigh helpless, while Jeff Preffer, the last hope of Brooklyn, proved unequal to the task of holding the Red Sox in check.

Although the National League champions were first to score, their advantage was short lived, and once the Bostonians unlimbered their heavy batting artillery any doubt regarding the outcome of the game was dissipated, so closely did Shore hold the Brooklyn clan in the mystery of his deceptive delivery. The invaders were able to score but three hits for a similar total of bases and the solitary run scored was unearned. It was the result of a pass, a sacrifice, an out and a passed ball. Boston, on the other hand, collected ten bases on seven hits, and two of its four runs were earned.

Few Spectacular Plays.
Although the contest was played before a record throng of fans, there was only a moderate amount of enthusiasm, the chilling weather and the ease with which the Sox disposed of their opponents, dulling the edge of shoutbursts as sprang from grandstands and bleachers at the more thrilling points of the game.

Aside from Shore's clever cold weather hurling and a sensational running shoe-top catch by Wheat off Shore in the fifth, and his mate by Lewis in the eighth, when he robbed Merkle, batting for Preffer, of an apparently sure double, the game was devoid of feature plays. Immediately after codd had clinched the championship by gobbling Mowrey's short fly for the final out of the game, the younger element among the spectators rushed upon the field and fell to behind the royal rotors and their band for a parade. On the first circuit of the diamond they captured President J. J. Lannin, of the Boston club, and then crossed the field after President C. H. Ebbets of Brooklyn. Amid the cheers of the fans, the rival club executives joined arms and led the march. Many of the fans shook hands with the Red Sox players and with Manager Carrigan, who said again that he had retired from professional baseball with today's game.

The Game in Detail.

As was the case in last year's game, Brooklyn was the first to score. Its only, and unearned, tally came in its second session, when Shore issued his only pass of the day, sending Cutshaw to first. Mowrey sacrificed him to second, from which point he moved to third on Olson's infield out and scored when the runner uncovered the plate with a passed ball. Boston immediately tied the score in their half of the same inning, when Lewis tripled to left and came home as Wheat threw the ball recovered from Gardner's high fly wide of the plate in an effort to get him out at the plate. The Red Sox added two more in the next inning. Cady hit a bouncer over Daubert's head. Hooper walked, and Cady scored when Olson threw Janvrin's grounder into center field in an attempted double play.

Record Gate Receipts.

The attendance and receipts for today's game established a new record in this department of world's series history, supplanting the figures made in the same park October 11, a year ago, when the amounts were a few hundred less. The attendance for the five games this season aggregated 162,359, and the receipts $385,590.50. Of this sum the players receive $162,927.45; each club $92,052.02, and the National Commission $88,559.05. The Boston club, as winners, divided $97,758.47 on a basis of twenty-five shares which the players are understood to have agreed upon as the method of apportionment. This would allow $3,910.26 a share. The twenty-three Brooklyn players, as losers, divide $65,170.95 into equal shares of $2,834.82 each. Owing to the fact that there are more players to share in the winners' money this year, the individual share is not a record.

LOCAL DOGS DID WELL AT BENCH SHOW

Annual Exhibition of N. B. Kennel Club Closed Last Evening—Was Most Successful in Every Way.

The eighth annual bench show of the N. B. Kennel Club closed last night after what was generally considered the most successful exhibition yet held under the club's auspices. The feature of the whole show was the fine showing made by local dogs, they proving in their respective classes their ability to cope with the best specimens brought here from Montreal and other centres. The prize for the best dog in the show was, however, won by a Toronto dog, an Airleide terrier, Polam Maxim, owned by Norman Mackenzie, a wire fox terrier, Dusky Bounce, owned by A. Lepine of Montreal won second prize. A local dog, a pointer, owned by Miss Winifred Ross, won over all outside dogs in her classes, while in terriers the showing of the locals was especially good. In Scottish terriers Thomas Dickson's Jock Scott won the honors, securing the winners and four class prizes. A six month old puppy, Jock, bred by McGinley and Neve, and owned by H. F. Puddington, won four first prizes, while Col. Blaine's dog secured one.

The judge before leaving expressed himself as well pleased with the class of animals exhibited and laid stress upon the fact that the local dogs on the bench showed excellent form. The general sentiment among those in attendance was that the show was the best ever conducted in the city. Many favorable expressions eulogized the judge, Stedman Thomas, for his patience in judging.

The result of yesterday's judging was as follows:

OVER 200,000 AUTOS EACH.
There are 508,577 more cars in use today than there were on January 1, 1916, according to statistics gathered by The Automobile, which says: There are over 3,000,000 automobiles in use in the United States today, including both passenger cars and trucks. Between January 1 and June 30, 1916, the increase which had taken place was not far short of the total increase for the whole year of 1915. There are now three States having over 200,000 cars apiece, New York, Ohio and Illinois, whereas on January 1 of this year only New York had as many as this. Eleven States have over 100,000 machines each, Minnesota, Massachusetts, Indiana and Texas as having passed into this class since January 1.
