ST. ANDREWS

St. Andrews, Aug. 20.—Fred S. McLaughlin, Grand Manan's biggest and most enterprising business man, was a visitor in town yesterday, where he came to look after some business interests. Mr. McLaughlin is a member and large stock holder in a newly formed company which has become incorporated for the building and operating of wooden ships at Grand Manan. He says the company already has one three-masted schooner well under way for which there is a ready and profitable market just as soon as the vessel is ready for sea. The company will build a large number of vessels of different size and rig, so long as a demand for them keeps up. Mr. McLaughlin reports the fishing business at Grand Manan, thus far this season, very dull. At North Head, the line fishermen are getting a few hake, but other line fish and herring are very scarce. Last year was a bumper year, for fishermen, on Grand Manan but indications point to an opposite result for this season. St. Andrews was visited on Thursday last, by a very large and select crowd of excursionists from Calais, Me., under the management and patronage of the Merchants of Calais. The "St. Andrews" brought the party here and it was accompanied by the Calais City Band. The ladies of St. Andrews R. C. Club furnished delicious meals to the excursionists in the "Andros" Hall, when their Annual Sale and Fair was being held that day.

Dr. A. P. Crockett and Mrs. Crockett, Mr. and Mrs. Barbour and Mr. and Mrs. Foster of St. John motored from there this week and spent a short time in St. Andrews.

Officers and men of the 9th Siege Battery, under command of Major Wilmers and Capt. Bennett who are now under canvas at New River, marched from that point to the town of St. George, a distance of 17 miles, on Thursday last. It was the first time in thirty years, that a company of soldiers had been seen in St. George and the people in town and the surrounding country showed a keen interest in their military guests. It was learned in advance that the company would arrive about noon and the ladies of St. George, true to their reputation for great bighearted genuine hospitality, got busy and when the men in uniform reached the granite town they were escorted to the vestry of St. Mark's Episcopal church where a very delicious and substantial dinner had been prepared and was served to them. That act of thoughtful kindness was very highly appreciated by the officers and men, who figured on refreshing themselves, after their long hot march with sandwiches and cold water, by their appreciation in very emphatic fashion. In the afternoon the soldiers were guests of the manager at a moving picture show, and the St. George Band turned out and led in the military parade which Major Wilmers conducted for the entertainment of the citizens. The company returned to New River by the N. B. South-east train at 4 o'clock.

Lord Shaftesbury and Mr. C. R. Hosmer came from Montreal on Friday last to spend the week end with their families in St. Andrews by the Sea.

Summer traffic at the Algonquin Hotel continues very brisk and the house is crowded to its limit with guests who are more enthusiastic than ever before over the elegance of the hotel and the perfection of service and management.

GYMKANA AT ROTHESAY

BY LOYALIST CHAPTER

WAS A GRAND SUCCESS

Large Attendance on Grounds of Brigadier Gen. McLean

Yesterday—Extensive Programme Proved Delightful

—One of the Best Entertainments of the Season.

A gymkana is sometimes described as "A go-as-you-please entertainment" but the affair held on the grounds of Brigadier General McLean yesterday afternoon had nothing of this nature, but was a well planned and thoroughly well organized garden party from start to finish. In fact it was noted by many of the guests to be one of the very finest entertainments held this summer. The lovely grounds of the McLeans were the scene of the delightful programme carried out, all combined to make it an occasion to be remembered.

The dances were given on the lawn, the spectators sitting on the bank facing the river, and it would be very difficult to find a lovelier place. Miss Grace Kahring instructed the performers and she was widely congratulated as to the success of the entertainment. Miss Kahring's own grace and skill were the subject of much comment.

First on the programme came "Nursery Rhymes," illustrated by sixteen little girls who entered thoroughly into the spirit of the well-known poems, and went through their dances with ease and evident enjoyment.

The marching tactics by graduates of Haverhill College were carried out with the manner of seasoned soldiers, and the military men present were loud in their appreciation. The young ladies wore white middle costumes for this.

A novel feature was the exhibition of fencing and singlestick exercises given by Miss Kahring and Miss Audrey McLeod. The various stunts of fencing, the lunge and engage, disengage, cut over and hunge, were all done skillfully and well.
