

PACIFIC AND IRISH PACTS AS REVIEWED

Former Guarantee of Security—Latter Settlement Along Lines of Pure Democracy.

Edinburgh, Jan. 31.—Prof. Sarolea recently addressed the American Club connected with the University of Edinburgh on the subject of the treaty signed in London and Washington. The two agreements, the American Four-Power Treaty, which organized peace in the Pacific, and the Irish settlement, which ended an age-long feud, would be, he said, for ever memorable in the pages of history.

The Washington event, Professor Sarolea said, was the logical consequence of the friendship of the British-Irish reconciliation. To America, as much as to Great Britain, the Irish question was a burning domestic question. The Irish settlement affected more than 10,000,000 Irish-Americans, and it removed one of the most disturbing and one of the most demoralizing factors of internal politics. But the American people had an even more compelling moral reason for congratulation. The Irish settlement was a triumph of the American democratic thought and policy. It was a triumph of those political ideals which had made America what she is.

America and Reconciliation. In the first place, the professor said, the American Commonwealth stood for that reconciliation of racial and religious conflict which was the essence of the Irish settlement. In the second place, the American Commonwealth stood for those rights of small states which were now granted to the Irish people. And in the third place, the whole of the settlement was one long venture of faith; it was a heroic acceptance of those risks which were implied in the practice of free government and which were equally implied in the establishment of the Irish Free State.

The vital moral and political doctrine of the equality of the small state with the big state was settled once and for all in the Convention of Philadelphia of 1787, perhaps the most august assembly, the most constructive congress in modern history. That same juridical equality of the small state was realized in the very structure, and was established in the very foundations of the American Constitution. The American Senate was the most original and most daring creation of the American political genius. For the American Senate was a literal sense a gathering of ambassadors of self-governing communities, in which every one, great and small, rich and poor, enjoyed equal rights.

Equal Voice For All States. The master builders of the Convention of Philadelphia, Professor Sarolea said, had realized 100 years before European statesmen did, where it was a question of defining and adjusting right and justice in a contest between free communities, the small and weak states were as much concerned and ought to have the same voice as the big states. Why should they have made their League of Nations into a mere alliance for the big powers? To give a preponderance to the Big Four, or to the Big Five, was not to strengthen the League of Nations, rather was it bound to weaken it, because the force of a League of Nations was mainly moral, because the League of Nations was only strong in so far as it was based on the ideas of equal rights and equal justice.

The Irish settlement, Professor Sarolea said, was a new and daring experiment involving many risks. It was possible it might fail, but they hoped that it might succeed. They were entering on a venture of faith, in the spirit of men starting for uncharted seas. Even such a spirit was the spirit of America. The history of America was an unending succession of similar ventures of faith and similar experiments. Realists argued that a loose federation of free communities could not hold together and was bound to fall to pieces. But the United States had not fallen to pieces. The United States had not become the Disunited States.

Irish Settlement Analyzed. It was argued that the Irish settlement was bound to create a dangerous precedent, for it was the peace break-

New Light Thrown On Tragedy of Raoul Delorme

Officials Contradict Statement Recently Issued by Rev. Father Delorme.

Montreal, Feb. 2.—What may turn out to be a new light on the tragedy in which the body of Raoul Delorme, half brother of Father Delorme, was found lying in the snow in the outskirts of this city on January 7, is provided by the statement of a ship chandler named Barry, who keeps a store on Commissioners' street, near the river in the downtown section. He declares that on the morning when the murder occurred, he was returning to his business premises about 2.30 or 3 a.m. when he saw a motor car acting in a suspicious manner near his store. The car contained two young men, who stopped the machine and commenced to unload a long and large parcel, one end of which appeared to be wrapped in white linen. When they found themselves observed, they thrust the parcel back in the car and made off.

Story Corroborated. Another witness declares that he saw a car touring along St. Catherine's street at two in the morning, at a great speed, and sounding the horn continuously. There were two occupants. One, who sat at the back, seemed to have his head covered with a grey vest, and his whole body seemed to be limp. This witness thought that an accident had occurred, and that the victim was being rushed to a hospital.

Replying to statements made by Father Delorme, today, that no and no is being made, or has been made of the books covering the Delorme estate, Chief Lorraine, of the Provincial Detective Bureau, made the following statement this afternoon:

"The authorities are at this moment busy looking up the estate of Delorme in connection with the death of Raoul Delorme. These investigations are not being made by Father Delorme's home, although the auditors spent one whole day there upon an investigation. I think that Father Delorme is mistaken in his remarks."

Arbuckle Jury Still Considering Comedian's Fate

San Francisco, Feb. 2.—The jury in the second trial of a manslaughter charge against Roscoe C. Arbuckle was locked up for the night at 9.30, on account of a slight attack of illness suffered by Juror Lee Dolson. The jury has been out nearly 36 hours. It will return to court at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

Some courtroom gossip said that the alignment stood eight to four in favor of the defendant, but, in the absence of any talking of information from the jurymen, this was only a speculation, no more weight than the latest speculation.

Milton T. Cohen, of the defense counsel, said that the jury would sit upon a third trial in the event of a disagreement. The District Attorney would make no comment.

The jury deliberation was proving to be somewhat of an endurance contest, but the defendant and spectators appeared jovial and carefree throughout the day.

Others that had won the battle in Ireland. As long as the Irish people appealed to reason and asked little they received nothing. When they appealed to force and asked for more they received everything. Reason did not pay Mr. Redmond; violence did pay Mr. Redmond. The objection must be frankly admitted and so frankly faced. But he believed that it rested on a fallacy. The argument might be valid against blundering politicians who resorted to force, it was certainly not a valid argument against those who believed in peace.

All the might and majesty of the British Government did not help it, when it was fighting its way to impose unjust terms. And all the physical force of the Sinn Féiners would not have helped them, if their cause had been unjust, if they had not had the moral force behind them. And all the physical force of the Sinn Féiners would not help them if the moral forces which were working for them yesterday were working against them tomorrow, in the event of their refusing to accept the just and fair and generous terms of peace which were now offered to them.

G.W.V.A. OFFICERS CONFER WITH PREMIER KING

Ask for Board to Receive Evidence Relating to Needs of Ex-Servicemen.

Ottawa, Feb. 2.—(Canadian Press)—Recommendation of a Board to receive evidence relating to the needs of ex-servicemen in Canada, preparatory to a parliamentary inquiry into the subject, and the inauguration of an expert investigation to determine what steps may safely be undertaken to effect improvement in methods of credit control with a view to restoring normal business conditions, were made to Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King here this afternoon by R. B. Maxwell, President of the Great War Veterans' Association, and C. G. MacNeil, Dominion Secretary-Treasurer. The representatives of the ex-servicemen also submitted suggestions for the relief of unemployment through the widening of the scope of the Government departments dealing with the problem. Mr. King received the suggestions with sympathy, and promised immediate consideration.

Mr. Maxwell and MacNeil advanced the argument that the present serious unemployment was an aggravated recurrence of a condition which had distressed the country for three successive winters. They admitted that should now be the only possible remedial measure applicable to the situation at present, but urged that steps be taken to discover and correct the underlying causes.

Mr. MacNeil said that experience in relief work among ex-servicemen and their dependents revealed that the evil had reached a stage where it seriously impaired the national vitality. Thousands of people were released from useful productivity and subjected to "degrading poverty, with grievous consequences to the nation and to the state. At the conclusion of the third winter of unemployment relief measures, the public would have spent a sum approximating $60,000,000 by means of doles from public funds and voluntary contributions, Mr. MacNeil said.

He believed that continued reliance on temporary remedies would intensify the evil and the cost. He urged that the government should now be devised to check "this cumulative and surreptitious drain on the public purse by an investment in employment that will ultimately prove costly, both materially and morally."

Ottawa, Feb. 2.—The Canadian Committee of the Save the Children Fund for Russian relief has been organized with Colonel Herbert J. Mackie, of Embro, Ont., as president. The Prime Minister, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, has endorsed the committee by consenting to act as honorary president.

That the humane movement for emergency relief to the millions of famine sufferers in Russia has the approval of representative leaders of all parties and classes in Canada is evidenced by the names of the patrons associated with the Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Hon. T. A. C. Crerar and Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux are honorary vice-presidents. Sir Louis Davies is honorary secretary, and Hon. W. S. Fielding, honorary treasurer. Sir Geo. Burn is undertaking the responsibility of executive treasurer, and all money contributions to the fund should be made payable to Sir George Burn, treasurer, Canadian Committee of the Save the Children Fund, Ottawa.

A national advisory committee is being formed, to include representative citizens of the provinces and cities throughout Canada. Children Cry for Fletcher's CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

Spinal Twists, Mar Half U. of P. Co-eds

Philadelphia, Feb. 2.—More than 50 per cent of the 200 freshmen co-eds at the University of Pennsylvania are suffering from some kind of curvature of the spine, according to Miss Margaret Major, physical director of the university women.

"Most of the girls have developed curvatures through sitting and standing carelessly," said Miss Major. "They are accustomed to carrying their books in their right hand. Then when they stop they rest on the right foot. That raises the right hip and lowers the right shoulder, and soon without daily countering exercises, they have developed a curvature. Also many of the co-eds sit with their right leg crossed over their left. That likewise tends to raise the right hip and lower the shoulder."

Comb Sage Tea In Hair To Darken It

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Keep Her Locks Dark, Glossy, Beautiful.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular, because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten the comb or a soft brush with it, and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray has disappeared, but what delights the ladies with Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, beside beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft luster and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

PUTTING GENOA IN TRIM FOR CONFERENCE

Italy Going Ahead With Preparations for World Economic Conference.

Rome, Feb. 2.—The Italian Government is continuing its preparations for the organization of the Genoa Economic Conference as it all the countries that have been invited, including the United States and France, had unqualifiedly announced their intention to be represented.

Prefect Ricci of Genoa came to Rome and conferred with Marquis Della Torretta, the minister of foreign affairs; Angelo Mauri, minister of agriculture, and Eugenio Bergamano, minister of the navy, who have been commissioned to arrange the preliminary details in connection with the conference. The prefect has requested the royal palace of the ancient Doges for the sittings of the conference. The Hotel Bristol, the Grand Hotel, the Excelsior and the leading hostleries of the city, have been notified by the prefect that they must be ready to receive the various delegations as soon as they have made known their plans.

It is reported that the Russian delegation, headed by Nikolai Lenin, will be accompanied by thirty servants and five cooks. The Russians have elected to stay at the Hotel Germania. Thus far no reservations have been made for the newspapers. The Associated Press correspondent was informed by the minister of foreign affairs that there probably would be no hotel available for the journalists, and that an obsolete trans-Atlantic liner, moored at one of the piers, would be the home of the writers during the conference.

Signor Ricci has instructed the telephone and telegraph administration virtually to rewire the city, in order

Women And Girls Want Rosy Cheeks

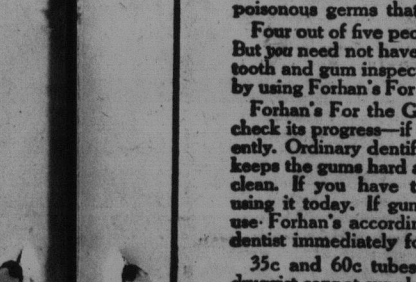

They Can Be Had by Keeping the Blood Rich and Pure.

Every woman—every girl—wants rosy cheeks. They mean not only beauty but good health. When a woman's blood is scanty or anaemic, her color fades, she looks debilitated, short of breath and her heart palpates after slight exertion. Sometimes this trouble is accompanied by severe headaches, or pains in the head or sides. This condition is entirely due to weak, watery blood, and only be cured by making the blood rich, red and pure. For this purpose try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which act directly upon the blood, and in way bring new health and strength, weak, ailing people. Mrs. Isaac Howell, Peabody, N. B., tells what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for her, as follows:—"For some time I had not been feeling well. I had been gradually growing weaker, and so I constantly growing weaker, and so I was very pale, and had frequent headaches. I consulted a doctor and took his medicine for some time, but it did me no good. I felt myself growing weaker, and taking faint and dizzy spells. A friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and although I had nearly lost faith in all medicine, I got a supply and began their use. After a time found they were helping me, and I gladly continued taking them, and ultimately found that the troubles I had afflicted me had vanished. I am giving this statement in the hope my experience will be of benefit to others."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or mail at 60 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50. From The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
