CITY AND COUNTY ACCOUNTS.

The Administration of Justice Committee submitted the report on settlement of account of administration between the city and county. The report stated that committees of both bodies met together on Jan. 19th. and found the accounts for the year ending 31st October 1884, as well as that ending 31st Oct. 1885, unsettled.

The accounts were adjusted as follows:—

1884.

Total amount expended by county....$2,475.85
Proportion of above payable by city.. 825.25

1885.

Total amount expended by county...$2190.85
Proportion of above payable by city.. 730.28

The city had advanced to county during past year $800 on account of 1884 leaving $25.25 still due in that year, which, with amount due in 1885, amounted in all to $755.53 due the county. The committee recommended a cheque to be issued in favor of the Secretary-Treasurer of the county of the amount due, and also that the City Council committee be granted full powers to finally settle any and all matters of dispute provided that the committee of the County Council be granted the same power.

On motion the report was received and adopted, and a cheque for the amount, $755.53, ordered to be issued.

APPOINTMENTS AND SALARIES OF ASSESSORS.

Ald McPherson moved that the appointment of assessors be referred to a special meeting of the Council.

Ald Richey's amendment that the appointments be made at once was carried.

Ald Richey, seconded by Ald Thomas, moved that the salary of the principal assessor be $250.

Ald McPherson, seconded by Ald Parker, moved as an amendment that the salary be $200.

Ald Parker, in seconding the amendment, said that the duties devolved upon the assistant assessors were nearly as great as that of the principal assessor, and he thought the amount paid should be more equally distributed.

The amendment was put and lost

The original motion carried: Yeas, Richey, Thomas, Sharkey, Edgecombe, Wiley and Davis. Nays, McPherson. Parker and Hazen.

Ald Parker, seconded by Ald Hazen, moved that the salaries of the assistant assessors be raised from $50 to $75.

Ald Thomas, seconded by Ald Wiley, moved that the salary be the same as last year.

The amendment carried, Alds McPherson, Parker, and Hazen voting nay.

Ald Richey moved, seconded by Ald Davis, that James Farrel be reappointed principal assessor. Carried.

On motion of Ald Edgecombe, Geo A Cliff was re-appointed assistant assessor.

On motion of Ald Davis, David B Barker was appointed assistant assessor.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The City Clerk read a presentment of the Grand Jury at the Nisi Prius sittings of the Supreme Court about the county jail and the city Alms House. The presentment, which is the same as that read before the County Council, referred particularly to the repairs needed about the jail.

On motion, the presentment was received and placed on file.

A communication was read from Mr A L Belyea in which he agreed to finally settle the matter of assessment made upon him. Referred to assessment appeal committee.

The Alms House Commissioner's report was read, recommending the payment of $500 for expenses in connection with the institution.

On motion, the report was received and adopted and a cheque ordered to be issued for the amount.

A communication was read from Mr. Woodbridge, Superintendent of the Fredericton Deaf and Dumb Institution, asking that the institution be relieved from taxes assessed upon it.

The petition was ruled out of order inasmuch as the appeal should have first been made to the assessors.

Ald Hazen presented a petition from Harry Robinson praying for relief from taxes.

A petition from Levi Pond, and another from Thos Moffit were read asking for relief from taxes. On motion, the petitions were received and placed on file.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS.

Ald. Richey said that the Superintendent of Water Works had informed him that some heating apparatus was necessary for the thawing out of hydrants He said that other cities where the water works were in operation had made such provisions. On motion made by him, the water committee were authorized to procure a small boiler and apparatus for such purpose.

On motion of Ald Hazen, Wm Rosborough was re-appointed constable.

A bill committee, at the suggestion of the City Clerk, was appointed composed of the whole council.

Ald Hazen, at the Mayor's suggestion, referred to the piles of snow along King Street, which had not been removed by the property owners.

Ald Davis drew attention to the fact that occupants of corner buildings along Queen street should clear the snow from both streets.

THE PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION.

Ald Sharkey in his maiden speech at the Board opened up the matter of a new exhibition palace at Fredericton. He read a petition from Mr John H Reid requesting the appointment of a committee of council to take the matter into consideration. The petition set forth the necessity of erecting a building at once for holding an exhibition this year and suggested that $4,000 be granted by the council for that purpose. Ald Sharkey explained that in presenting the petition he did not commit himself to its contents. So far from deciding to recommend any additional issue of debentures he was in favor of retrenchment.

The subject, however, he said, was of vital interest to Fredericton and on that account it was entitled to careful consideration. He stated that the matter had been brought up before the County Council, and that there was a fair prospect of the Government granting $6000 towards the object. The proposal made by Mr. Reid, might be a little too large, but, if between city and county we could see our way clear to raise $4000, we might have a building erected to meet all requirements.

Ald. Parker said he thought there was no need of a committee now. If necessary, a special meeting could be called to consider Mr. Reid's petition.

Ald. Hazen, did not believe that the matter should pass without action. He moved that a committee of five, one member from each ward be appointed to hear Mr. Reid and report at a subsequent meeting. Carried.

Alds. Hazen, Sharkey, Davis, Thomas and McPherson were appointed such committee.

On motion council adjourned.

THE SUNNY SOUTH.

Rev. Jos. McLeod's Lecture in the Free Baptist Church Last Night.

There was a good audience in the Free Baptist church last night to hear the Rev Jos McLeod lecture on the South. His discourse consisted of racy and interesting sketches of scenes in the south, and was attentively listened to by all present. Mr Jas A Vanwart acted as chairman for the occasion. On the pulpit stand stood a large and handsome bouquet presented by Mrs. John A Morrison.

The lecturer began his interesting discourse by saying that everything had a bright side. Among the several good things that came of his sickness was his visit to the south. He had often thought of the sunny regions, but did not particularly care to go when the time came. The descriptions and glowing accounts of the south would lead any one to believe that it was a paradise. But while he found many things to please, there were many things that were not pleasing. Even some of those most attractive things as described by some particularly by the authors of the country's guide-books, were to him the most unattractive. Everybody had heard that it was a most delightsome land. He had looked and looked in vain for green fields and well kept farms, etc. The orange grove had been described as a most delightsome spot where the wearied traveller could recline amid the most beautiful surroundings upon a velvety surface of grass and foliage. He had found the orange groves but he had to confess they looked much better in a picture. As for reclining in the groves, there was nothing but sand to lie upon, and most everyone who did recline most generally got up a good deal quicker than he sat down. Insects reigned supreme in the southern sands. The climate he had found to be all that he had heard it was and was most delightful. There was a good deal in the yankee's remark, "The climate could speak for itself, but the soil was too weak," and "the climate was worth $15,000 an acre, but the soil was not worth 15 cents." He gave interesting sketch of the old town of Richmond where he sojourned two months. He made particular mention of a large colored Baptist Educational Institution at this town because the Rev. Dr. Corey, a New Brunswicker, was principal of it. The town, like Jacksonville and Savannah, and other places in the South, was thronged with visitors in the winter season by persons either in search of health or pleasure. It had often been remarked that the winters of the South are becoming more wintry, which was probably due to the introduction of Northern ideas. The Florida "Crackers" next came under his notice and his description of them was most amusing.

Of the negro he was everywhere in the South. He belonged in the South and no inconsiderable portion of the South belonged to him. To see the colored man of the north one had a very little idea of the darkey down south. They were, in their way, the most care-free and happy people he had ever seen, a-happy-go-lucky class. One of the charges made against the negro was that they were given to pilfering, and that they hadn't the remotest idea of being consistent. It was charged—very unjustly, he thought—that when the darkies are having the most excited religious meetings, was the time to be most particular about the hen roosts. It was not strange that they had come to think there was no harm in stealing, when until within twenty years ago, they had no moral teaching and about all they received more than a hard living they had to steal. The darkey was nothing, if not religious. He had attended their religious meetings, and found as much difference between colored congregations as between congregations of whites. Certain of the preachers, the "old school preachers" thoroughly believed in and encouraged the old way. They appealed strongly to the feelings, and colored people were great in their feelings. There is never any lack of preachers. Everyone who has, or thinks he has, a little more than the average fluency of speech is at once ambitious to preach. It is among the "old school" chiefly that the traditional black orator was found. They loved long words, and whenever they heard one they remembered it—or something like it—and the way they slung them about when they got warmed up was always amusing except to their immediate followers.

He referred at length in an interesting sketch to John Jasper, the colored preacher of Richmond, who had probably the largest Baptist Church in the world. He had gained a wonderful notoriety on the subject, "De Sun do move." It is his star sermon, and he often preaches it by request for the benefit of strangers. The description of funeral services and sermons as preached by "Dr" Jasper and some scraps of a sermon preached by "Fadder Yak" were most interesting as related by the lecturer. He concluded his sketch of the negroes by stating that his close observations of them had given him a different and far better opinion of them, than he had before going South.

Mr. McLeod concluded his remarks by giving in brief his impressions of Washington. It was less disappointing than any city he had ever visited. It was all and more than his fancy had painted it. There were miles and miles of drives under shade trees, and in this Washington was without a rival anywhere. The whole city was very like a park. The one exception to Washington's grandeur was the White House, and it seemed a place unsuited as a residence of the Chief Magistrate of 50,000,000 people.

Fire in the Gibson Cotton Mill.

Yesterday morning a fire occurred in the picker room of the Gibson Cotton Mill. It originated about one of the pickers. Two lines of hose were immediately attached to one of the hydrants in the building, a good force of water put on, and in an incredibly short time the fire extinguished. The damage was trifling—about 50 pounds of cotton, perhaps were destroyed. Mr. Gibson was in the building at the time, and with his characteristic coolness looked on as if he merely wanted to see "what kind of a fist" his employees would make in handling the fire. The hose which were attached to the hydrant had only been purchased by Mr. Gibson a couple of weeks ago. The facilities now for extinguishing a fire at these mills are equal to any emergency. With the force of water from the hydrants and from the automatic sprinklers, it is impossible for a fire to make much headway. During the fire yesterday morning operations went on in the mill as if nothing unusual had happened.

DISEASES OF THE SKIN.—Most diseases of the skin arise from bad blood and lack of cleanliness, except when caused by grubs or insects. Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Tetter, Pimples and all Humors of the Blood are curable by Burdock Blood Bitters, which purifies the blood.

CURLING IN ST JOHN.

The Fredericton Curlers Defeated by the St Andrews and Thistle Clubs.

Four rinks of the curling club of this city went to St John yesterday to compete with the St. John curlers in their annual matches. Owing to a number of the men selected, being unable to go, the Fredericton club was not as strongly represented as on former occasions. The match with St. Andrew's was begun at 2.30 yesterday afternoon, skips Allen and Grieves playing against skips White and Deforest, Loggie and Rutter contending against Hartt and Skinner. The playing of skip E H Allen is highly spoken of by the morning papers. Many difficult shots were made by him, and he only missed one during the whole match.

Skips Rutter and Skinner fought hard for victory and the scores from the first ran along pretty evenly. Skip Loggie had apparently uphill work in his contest with skip Hartt. C S Everett was congratulated for his good playing, and was more than once cheered by the spectators.

At the close of the game the St. Andrew's was declared the winner by a majority of 15 the score standing 88 to 73. The scores were as follows:—

There was a fair attendance, including portions of Maugerville choir, Cathedral choir, and all of Christ Church (St. Ann's) as well as the choir of St. Peter's Church, Kingsclear. The object of such a service was the improvement of the choirs and encouragement of congregational singing in churches. The musical programme included the Processional Hymn, "O Saviour, Precious Saviour;" chanting of psalms in unison from Dr. Elvey's Psalter, Psalms 8, 9 and 29; the Magnificat; Nunc Dimittis; an anthem, "Sing a Song of Praise" John Stainer; then the hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesu's Name," followed by a sermon preached by Coadjutor Kingdon, text, Job 38th chap., 7th verse. After the sermon the Offertory hymn, "Thy life was given for me" was sung, during which the collection was taken up. The services were brought to a close by the choir rendering the hymn "The saints of God, their conflict past." The service was intoned by the Rev. Mr. Alexander. The first lesson was read by Rev. Mr. Roberts, and the second lesson by the Co-adjutor.

Previous to the service and after the service the choirs were entertained to a sumptuous repast by Mr. Sidney and the Misses Murray at their residence.

DROWNED AT DOUGLASTOWN.

Three Little Children Drowned at the Miramichi.

One of the saddest drowning accidents ever known on the Miramichi, occurred at Douglastown on Monday evening. Harrie, the second son of Earnest Hutchison, Esq. aged about nine years, and two others still younger, a boy and a girl, children of John Ranney, engineer of Mr. Hutchinson's mill, were coasting in the vicinity of the slip near the mill. The tide being high it is supposed the children coasted down this slip, ran into the water and being unable to extricate themselves, were drowned. Harry had not come home at the usual hour, and a member of the household started out in search of him. They failed to find him at two houses. Hearing that he had been coasting at the mill, with the two Ranney children, enquiries were made there. It was ascertained that Mr. Ranney's children were not at home, and fearing that they had been drowned, the water was dragged, in the neighborhood of where the children had last been seen. Soon the dead bodies of the three little ones were brought to the surface. It would seem as if the little girl had first coasted into the river. Her little playmates ran to her assistance and all three were dragged into the water and perished. The sad accident has awakened the deepest sympathy of all for the bereaved parents.

Pokiok Notes.

POKIOK, Feb. 2.—Miss Martha Finnemore, daughter of Mr. James Finnemore, formerly of Fredericton, died on Friday week and her remains were interred on the following day. Funeral services were conducted by Rev Alf Trafton.

Mr. Wellington Moores is suffering severely from acute rheumatism.

The late storm has greatly interfered with lumbering operations. Hauling is very hard, not more than one-eighth of the usual load can be hauled at a time. Travelling is nearly suspended. The storm of hail is without precedent in these parts.

Mr. C W Moores made, considering the state of the roads, very good time on a trip to your city the other day with a pair of horses. The journey of 40 miles was made in 6 hours and 40 minutes.

The superior condition powders which have lately been introduced here by Mr. C W Moores are found to give the very best satisfaction. These condition powders are put up by Mr. D J Stockford of your city. In a short time they will, no doubt, be extensively used by the farmers in this section of the country.

THE BROOM BRIGADE.

Song Composed for the Broom Brigade by Sergt. John Shea, R. S. C.

Oh! our brooms are good and true
As we go our houses through,
Helping mother as the maidens did of yore!
And our work shall never cease
Till from dust we have peace:
For we're soldiers of the broom brigade.

Chorus.

Tramp, tramp, tramp the girls are marching;
Cheer up comrades on we come
To drive away all dust
From the hearts we love and trust,
And to banish all the cobwebs from our homes.

And our hearts are light and gay
As we sing upon the way,
Sweeping the dust from off the floor;
And the boys must all agree
That we win a victory
As soldiers of the broom brigade.

Chorus.

For beneath the flag of peace
We from work will never cease,
Till no dust remains upon the floor;
And to fathers we would say,
Never from your homes do stay,
While your daughters are in the broom brigade.

Chorus.

In a letter to the president of the Dominion Safety Fund Life Association of this city, Mr. Wm. T Standen, the eminent insurance expert, says: "Having examined your system fully and carefully, and finding it deserves entire approval; and having searched for weak spots in it, and finding none, I heartily recommend it to those who seek indemnity against premature death, at the least possible cost, consistent with the greatest degree of security and safety."
