

The Month's Bright Sayings

THE MONTH'S BRIGHT SAYINGS.
Agnes Deans Cameron: A home is a house with a heart.

Lord Rosebery: Great minds as well as small minds are often influenced by the most impossible theories.

Rudyard Kipling: People seldom look so nice in real life as they do in a photograph.

Charles Dana Gibson: People never know their observation is defective until they begin to try to draw.

Mrs. Humphry Ward: No vice is more difficult to overcome than that of idleness and untidiness.

Elbert Hubbard: The man who can talk glibly has more professions open to him than anyone else.

Principal McIntyre: No man can teach without enthusiasm; both teacher and pupil must be enthusiastic.

William H. Taft: Lincoln always said that he was doing the best he could all the time. In this sense every man can be a Lincoln, if he will.

Governor Hughes: It should be just as easy to send a man to prison who loots a railroad of ten million, or fifty million dollars, as it is the man who burglarizes a bank or robs a post office.

Rev. R. J. Campbell: There can be nothing more pernicious in its effects than the training of the young in the doctrine that religion and business are things apart.

Theodore Roosevelt: To Lincoln was given this supreme vision. He did not hate the man from whom he differed. Weakness was as foreign as wickedness to his strong, gentle nature.

Lord Grey: We need no longer read the "Arabian Nights" to our children in order to entertain them; we have simply to tell them the story of what is happening in the world about them.

Ellen Terry: I think there can be no doubt that the majority of girls who go on the stage fail to obtain more than a bare living, and a great many not even so much.

Winston Churchill: Chance counts for much in human affairs, and what is called human greatness is due as often to combinations of circumstances as to masterful intellectual and moral qualities in the great man.

Rev. Robert E. Knowles: It is doubtful if history ever produced a more mysterious personality than that which was incarnate in the long, gaunt, uncouth form of Abraham Lincoln. He is one of the greatest products of the Anglo-Saxon race. He is one of the few marvellous births of our common humanity.

Thomson Hardy: In a famous poem Lowell has named Lincoln "the first American." Justly so, in the sense in which Lowell meant it. But, as an Englishman, I take pride in the thought that Lincoln came of exclusively English stock. The Anglo-Saxon race has never produced a greater man.

Mr. R. L. Borden: Every Canadian can say to himself with just pride that there is no better land under the sun than this broad Dominion of ours.

Mr. J. Pierpo Morgan: Western Canada is unquestionably destined to take an important part in the future development and history of this continent.

Lord Minto: Thrift is the surest and strongest foundation of an empire, so sure, so strong, and necessary that no great empire can long exist that disregards it.

Marion Crawford: How much of their lives do people think out for themselves? Most of the things they do are done in custom and convention.

YOUR LAST CHANCE

Competition Closes March 31st, 1908.

Last Call—This is the last time this unusual opportunity will be presented in the pages of this magazine. It is seldom that $1.00 opens the way to such prizes as these—to say nothing of the certain value of such a journal as The Nor'-West Farmer.

The serial story we are now running "Sowing Seeds in Danny," alone would cost you $1.00 at the bookstores. Yet this is only a little bit of what your dollar buys when you invest it in The Nor'-West Farmer.

Then there are these prizes, $4,773.40 worth of them—the best of their kind. We give them thus with no restrictions, that The Nor'-West Farmer may be brought impressively to the attention of every person in Western Canada. They are for YOU, or for whoever will get busy and win them.

Don't stay in the "Might Have Been" class. Say now "It Will Be"—be a "Right Now" subscriber. Seize Opportunity before she passes. You know the conditions: "We have selected five pounds of No. 1 Northern Wheat from the office of the Chief Grain Inspector, David Horn. It has been weighed and sealed by the Dominion Inspector of Weights and Measures, and will remain deposited in the vaults of the National Trust Co., until the competition closes, at 12 o'clock noon, March 31, 1909. Three judges, in no way connected with our office, will count the kernels and award the prizes as soon as the competition closes. No one directly or indirectly connected with the The Nor'-West Farmer shall participate or take a prize. No person shall take more than one prize.

One year's subscription at $1.00 gives you one estimate. $1.25 for the Nor'-West Farmer and Western Home Monthly gives you one.

See in an article elsewhere in this Magazine how you may select the judges who make the Decision.

Address: THE NOR'-WEST FARMER, Winnipeg, Man.
