

mic anomalies. The need at present is for other leaders, with something of his enthusiasm and unselfishness, to work out adaptations of the co-operative principle which will meet the varied conditions of all our agricultural and industrial communities.