

THE QUEBEC TRANSCRIPT.

FOR PUBLIC CONSIDERATION.

IN no instance has prevalent infestation been productive of more deplorable consequences, than the blind concession that the members of the medical profession alone are competent to administer remedies for disease. The general consequence which is given to this preposterous pretension of an interested class, is one of the most prolific sources of disease, suffering, and early death. How many thousands of persons there are, at the moment surrendering their constitutions to the insidious attacks of almost every variety of human malady, from their reluctance to incur the expense of consulting a physician, and from their silly prejudice against the most simple medicines, unless sanctioned by the mystic authority of a pretentiously learned prescription! If they could see that prescription in plain English, they would find, or at least surmise, that it would do nothing in the world but to bludgeon or scald, or poison, or blister, or bleed, or give away their strength, and a simple exhortation like this is retroactively efficacious. But the druggist keeps the prescription, and when the patient gets ill again he has recourse to consult the physician, instead of procuring for himself, at a mere fraction of the original expense, the wonderful remedy which he had refused to buy. It is that a majority of the population of every civilized country suffer disease to work its insidious way into their systems, because the relief they derive from medical aid is at once expensive, temporary, and liable to relapse, and thus to exasperate the insidiousness of an eminent physician, that "Prescriptions in the Roman language have indirectly killed more than all the Roman armies." As a disease so compound as this will clear the elementary canal of all its venereal accumulations and impurities, give a new and vigorous action to all the vessels that contribute their agency to the digestive functions, and by promoting the insensate perspiration, relieve the whole system of febrile and inflammatory symptoms, must necessarily prove a great blessing to mankind, if rendered at a price which places it within the reach of all classes. If it has an extensive sale, it cannot fail to reach more cures, and to do far more general good, than all the members of the medical profession combined can possibly accomplish within the comparatively narrow limits of their private practice. Such a medicine the public buy in MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS and PHOENIX BITTERS, the efficacy of which are established throughout the United States, and voluntarily testified by thousands of individuals whom they have relieved and cured. It is to be seen that the interested promoters of popular medicines, and to exclude those in their insidious and oppressive facts both figures and are more stubborn even than pygmies. Until the most eminent and successful physician that ever lived, collect so many testimonies of curable cures, and of so extensive alleviation of suffering under an almost endless variety of human diseases, have been spontaneously presented to the proprietor of the LIFE PILLS and PHOENIX BITTERS during the last two years. He believes, and would be happy to put the question to the test.

The pre-eminence reputation of these medicines being firmly established upon the basis of innumerable facts, it only remains necessary to inform persons who are unacquainted with them, of some among the multitude of maladies in which they have repeatedly proved successful, and in which, therefore, it may confidently be presumed they will succeed hereafter: 1. Dyspepsia, both chronic and casual, under the worst symptoms of restlessness and pain, flatulency, head-ache, nausea, loss of appetite, heart-burn, costiveness, bilious sallowness, general debility and wasting away of the body. 2. Dysuria, whether frequent, mucous, serous, large, ferrous, bilious, or tubular. 3. Jaundice, both biliary and spasmodic, hepatic, infantile, and of the dark green variety. 4. Helminthia, or worms, both alive and anal, and of every variety, from the large tape and joint worms to the minute larvae of the stomach and rectum. 5. Piles, of the blind, the bleeding, the white and the caruncular varieties. 6. Costiveness, whether arising from constipation or obstruction, and of bowstring long standing. 7. Colic, the diarr. the painters', and the constipated, the constructive, and flatulent. 8. Coughs, the common or humid cough, and the dry and the whooping cough. 9. Asthma, the nervous or dry and common or humid. 10. The Breast pain, acute and chronic; and also Pleuritis, or chronic pain in the side. 11. The Daily Fever, whether of the mild, the acute, or the sweating variety. 12. Fever and Ague. 13. Influenza, in any stage. 14. Dysentery, acute and chronic. 15. Rheumatism, acute and chronic, together with podagra, or gout. 16. Marasmus, whether as general atrophy or loss of flesh, or pulmonary decline and consumption, if taken before cavities have been formed in the lungs. 17. Scrophula—singularly and rapidly efficacious even in the worst cases. 18. Scoury. 19. Hypochondriasis, and all other nervous affections. 20. Spasmodic Palpitation of the heart and of the arteries. 21. Head-ache.

It is evident, therefore, that these medicines are compounded of ingredients which act upon the system universally, and give mere aliole preparations. They act without causing pain, or producing any prostration of nervous energy, but on the contrary, strengthen, invigorate and enliven, from the first day's experience of their operation, the period of convalescence. Directions sufficient accompany them.

All post paid letters will receive immediate attention.

Wholesale and retail by WM. B. MOFFAT, 367 Broadway, N. Y. A liberal deduction made to those who purchase to sell again.

THE HUMAN HAIR.

WHERE the hair is observed to be growing thin, nothing can be more preposterous than the use of oils, grease or any fatty matters. Their application can only be recommended through the grossest ignorance, as they hasten the fall of the hair, by increasing the relaxation of the skin. When there is a harsh, dry, or contracted skin, and here the small blood vessels which carry nourishment to the bulb are obstructed, then the oils, &c. may be good, as they tend to relax the skin; but alone they are of no avail. There must be a stimulus to rouse the vessels from their torpor, and quicken the current of the blood.—Extract from Cirrhough's Treatise on the Hair.
THE HAIR OF COLUMBIA is the only preparation that can have that effect, being entirely free from any oily substance.

A CASE IN POINT.
I had unfortunately lost nearly all the hair from the top of my head, when I commenced the use of the Hair of Columbia, and have, by the use of two bottles and my head covered with a fine growth of Hair.—There can be no mistake in the matter, as any of my friends can see by calling on me. I had also become quite gray, but had the gray hairs plucked out, and it has grown in as the Hair of Columbia of the natural colour. If any body doubts these facts, let them call upon me and see. I bought the Hair of Columbia of C. & Co., Fitchburg Street.
